3 MORE STATES ADDED TO LIST VOTING REPEAL

Dry Iowa Upsets Predictions by Polling Big Wet Majority.

(Asociated Press.)

Two more States—Connecticut and New Hampshire—today were joined in the repeal march while almost complete returns from the hitherto dry-voting State of Iowa showed the antiprohibitionists so far ahead as to indicate almost certain victory.

Placed in the doubtful column at the start of yesterday's balloting, Iowa emerged early today with a substantial majority in favor of sweeping the eighteenth amendment from the Constitution.

With most of the State's precincts heard from, the repealists were leading by 364,473 to 239,858. Since those opposed to prohibition had gained steadily with each new return, there appeared little possibility that this lead of nearly 125,000 could be overturned.

14 States in Line.

Should the final official vote carry out this lead, the 14 States to vote thus far would stand in a straight line for abolishing prohibition.

There was no doubt from the outset as to the result in the other two States which recorded themselves yesterday. Connecticut, in landslide fashion, rolled up a 6-to-1 majority for repeal, virtually assuring a convention on July 11 at which 50 antiprohibition delegates will sit unopposed.

In New Hampshire, with only a few scattered towns still to be heard from, the opponents of prohibition had swept the State by more than 2-to-1 majority, rolling up a vote of 75,969 to 30,337.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 20 (A.P.).—Iowa apparently turned on dry traditions of nearly two decades today to become the fourteenth State to register its vote against retention of the eighteenth amendment.

Vote Shows Wet Victory.

By a surprising majority of 124,000 on the basis of votes from 2,271 of its 2,435 precincts, the Hawkeye State stepped toward the repeal column. In the 2,271 precincts the vote was:

For repeal 364,473.

Against repeal 239,856.

Heavy support from urban and river communities of both eastern and western borders of the State, brought the repeal total up.

Polk County, of which Des Moines, the capital and largest city of the State, is seat, accorded a consistent 2-to-1 vote against the prohibition amendment. The Mississippi River cities and Woodbury County (Sioux City), on the Missouri, met repealist expectations with hearty support for their cause. Scott County, on the Mississippi in early returns gave an 8-to-1 advantage for repeal.

While the rural interior counties generally stayed within the prohibition camp, the late agricultural season and hot weather contributed to

Navy Airmen Searching For Mattern Are Silent

Seattle, June 20 (A.P.).—No word was available late today as to whether two Navy airmen on the old troop ship Argonne in the Pribilof Islands had been able to take off to search for Jimmie Mattern, globe-girdling flier missing six day on a projected hop from Khabarovsk, Siberia, to Nome.

The fliers are Ensign William A. Moffett, jr., and Lieut. John West. Weather reports indicated fog and clouds in the vicinity of the Argonne. Naval radio at the Puget Sound Navy Yard had received no information from the Argonne.

Boy Admits Mailing Roosevelt Bombs

Torn Railway Folder Is Clew Leading to Arrest of Watertown, N. Y., Youth.

An exhaustive investigation by postal authorities and United States Government agents into a mysterious attempt on the life of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, revealed exclusively in The Washington Post on February 22, was believed ended last night with the arrest of a 20-year-old youth in Watertown, N. Y.

Discovered amid incoming mail at the city postoffice, a bomb, crudely constructed and wrapped in plain brown paper, was the subject of close scrutiny by Washington postal inspector the night of February 21, when suspicion was aroused by the outer address.

In heavy, dark pencil, the package was designated to "Franklin D. Roosevelt," then President-elect. The only direct address was Washington, D. C." When the contents were revealed to be several shotgun shells, closely wired together so as to explode, authorities were summoned and an immediate investigation begun.

As the mailing address on the package was given as "Watertown, N. Y.," first efforts for apprehension of the sender were centered in the section. For nearly four months the search has continued. On two other occasions similar packages were mailed to President Roosevelt. Both were intercepted.

A never-ceasing investigation resulted yesterday in the arrest of Joseph Doldo, 20-year-old Watertown, N. Y., youth. He was taken into custody by E. J. Curtin, a Watertown detective, in the lobby of the Jefferson County National Bank.

In a style that rivals detective fic-

D. C. RECOVERY ACT ROAD FUND IS CUT $82,000

$1,918,000 in Paving Is Being Mapped; School Hopes Gaining.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Washington will get only $1,918,000 of the $400,000,000 laid aside Monday by the National Industrial Recovery Administration for direct grants to States for road construction, tentative estimates by the Bureau of Public Roads disclosed yesterday.

The local allotment was shaved $82,000 under the preliminary $2,000,000 figure arrived at before House and Senate conferees changed the formula for distributing the huge highway fund, it was explained.

Shaping their plans to conform with the reduced figure, District officials have under consideration a program contemplating paving of Constitution avenue from Fourteenth street to Pennsylvania avenue, widening of Fourteenth from Water street to Constitution avenue and extension of E street westward from Fifteenth to the Zero milestone.

Calvert Street Bridge.

One or two additional items, including new Conduit road construction, may be included before the program finally is ratified by the Commissioners.

Meanwhile District officials estimate there is approximately $4,000,000 in authorized local construction on which advances could be obtained from another fund set up under the public works section of the recovery act. Only a portion of this total actually has been appropriated.

The projects on which National Recovery Administration advances might be obtained include the $1,250,000 Calvert street bridge item, the Logan elementary school and the $1,100,000 Woodrow Wilson High School, all authorized and partially provided for in the 1934 District appropriations bill.

Library of Congress Annex.

Projects previously authorized which might be the basis for further advances include the $600,000 contagious ward to Gallinger Municipal Hospital, the $455,000 Anacostia Junior High School and the $500,000 Jefferson Junior High School project.

District officials are known to be preparing a list of additional local public construction projects as desirable improvements under the re-

Ohio House Kills Sales Tax by Vote of 88-37

Columbus, Ohio, June 20 (A.P.).—The Ohio House of Representatives late today defeated Gov. White's proposed 2 per cent retail sales tax by a vote of 88 to 37.

Nazis Riot

In Austria in Protest to New Cabinet Decree Outlawing Party.

Vienna, Austria, June 20 (U.P.).—Serious rioting and a renewed outbreak of bomb outrages marked the first day under the cabinet's decree outlawing the Nazi party through Austria.

At Innsbruck, capital of the Austrian Tyrol, 30 persons were injured and 15 arrested when police and gendarmerie repeatedly charged mobs, gathered in protest gainst the government's dissolution of the Nazis.

Police rushed the mobs, swinging their batons freely when the men and women refused to disperse.

The crowds sang the Nazi anthem, "Horst Wessel," and marched in processions through the principal streets of Innsbruck. For a time, about 9 p. m., the situation was so serious that the main street of the city, Maria Theresastrasse, and the neighborhood, was closed, and heavily guarded by police and gendarmes.

WOMEN CHARGE BOY, 18, KIDNAPED THEM

Youth Forced 2 Matrons to Go With Him to Cabin in Woods, Police Say.

Kane, Pa., June 20 (A.P.).—Arrested for kidnaping two young matrons and forcing them to go with him into a forest fastness, Chester M. Victory, 18, Kane High School student, told police today that two men threatened to kill him unless he took the women to a cabin.

The women—Mrs. C. G. Tomes, 26, wife of a business man, and Mrs. L. C. Paquet, 30, of Fort Meade, Md., wife of the commander of a reforestation camp in this region—were accosted by the youth on the links of the Kane Country Club.

They said he lured them into the forest on the pretense of seeing a wounded deer and then pushed and dragged them a mile into the woods.

John O'Berg, 45, caretaker at the country club, told State police he saw two strangers talking to Victory a short time before the kidnaping and that he noticed one of them flourish a gun.

Police say Victory told them that after forcing the women into the woods, he "got cold feet" and released them.

Gov. W. H. Murray Asks Drought Sufferers' Aid

Oklahoma City, June 20 (A.P.).—An emergency application for $30,000 for immediate aid to drought sufferers in the Oklahoma Panhandle was forwarded today to Harry L. Hopkins, Federal relief administrator, by Gov. W. H. Murray.

Murray declared residents of Harper, Beaver, Texas and Cimarron Counties "have been deprived of all sustenance of life," adding "there is a dire need for immediate relief."

Revolt Hits Sleeping City

Inhabitants Awake to Find Liberals at Helm of Siamese Government; Second Bloodless Revolution in Bangkok in Year.

Bangkok, Siam, June 20 (U.P.).—While King Prajadhipok was absent from the capital, Liberal leaders in Bangkok today overthrew the government in the second bloodless Siamese revolution in a year.

While Bangkok slept, and while the monarch was at his seaside palace at Huahin, soldiers and sailors were placed about government buildings and patrols were posted in the main thoroughfares.

Phya Manopakarata, president of the state council, resigned after he and two ministers had been arrested in Paruskawan Palace. The entire council resigned with him.

Arrested with Manopakarata were Phya Srivisar, minister for foreign affairs, and Phya Rajawangsan, minister of defense.

The coup, which was carried through without the firing of a single shot, was led by Col. Phya Bahol Bolabayuha, whose resignation as commander in chief of the army was accepted yesterday. Bahol was one of the leaders of the coup last June, in which King Prajadhipok consented to substitute a constitutional for an absolute monarchy.

Bahol will serve as chief executive until the king appoints a new state council.

The immediate cause of the revolt was the "freezing out" of Luang Pradit, brilliant young leader of the Liberal element, following his presentation of an economic plan which was considered far too radical by the Conservatives. Pradit, who is now in France, was one of the leaders of last year's coup.

FEDERAL HELP TO HALT ROAD FUND WAR SEEN

Georgia Official Expected to Present Petition Today for Intervention.

Atlanta, June 20 (A.P.).—Federal intervention in the feud between Gov. Eugene Talmadge and a deposed State highway board may be sought tomorrow.

This was revealed late today when J. W. Barnett, ousted as chairman of the board when Talmadge declared his department under martial law yesterday, conferred with Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood.

Barnett and two of his lawyers talked with Judge Underwood and after the meeting the jurist said the attorneys had a petition seeking Federal intervention to halt effects of Talmadge's martial law proclamation.

Petition Due Today.

Judge Underwood said the petition was not presented today, and that the attorneys left the conference with the understanding that it would be presented tomorrow.

Barnett and his lawyers refused to discuss the petition. Neither would say what steps they hoped to follow in federal jurisprudence in an effort to prevent Talmadge from carrying out his plans.

Talmadge—commander in chief of Georgia's army and navy—had established himself behind the arms of the State and was hurrying through his plans.

A deputy sheriff sought to serve a paper on the governor today. Talmadge had him arrested.

Arrange for Workers' Pay.

The new highway organization, headed by Commissioner Judson P. Wilholt, of Warrenton, made arrangements to pay more than $1,300,000 to workers of the department who have not been paid since the governor's budget dispute with the highway board began on April 1.

Meanwhile, Barnett announced that he was "still chairman," and would set up new offices for operation of the department's affairs. He said Georgia was not yet for "a Mussolini" and termed the governor's martial law proclamation "illegal and tyrannical."

From Washington came an announcement that the Bureau of Public Roads probably would not allocate

Gross Responsible In Crash Killing 4

Fort Lauderale, Fla., June 20 (A.P.).—A coroner's jury today held Christian Channing Gross, because of "culpable negligence in operating his motor car with a reckless disregard for human life," was responsible for his death and that of his mother and two children in an automobile accident here last March.

Gross, once a colorful member of the American Diplomatic Corps and a soldier and author of note, his mother, Mrs. Charles W. Gross, of Chicago, and his children, Barbara, 11, and Peter, 9, were killed when Gross' motor car ran off the road and turned over.

Charles W. Gross, father of Christian Channing Gross, was injured in the accident and still is a patient at a hospital here and was not able to testify.

Former Spanish Prince Still Hopes for Consent

Lausanne, Switzerland, June 20 (A.P.).—The former Prince of the Asturias was still hopeful tonight that he will receive a last-minute blessing from his father, former King Alfonso of Spain, before his marriage tomorrow to the Cuban beauty, Edelmira Sampedro.

Saddened by the latest message from his parents reiterating their opposition to the nuptials and possibly to protect his life in view of a threatening letter received here, the former prince went into strict seclusion.

RECOVERY HEAD ASKS INDUSTRY TO SPEED PACTS

Johnson Urges Manufacturers to Make Agreements at Once.

(Associated Press.)

A direct appeal to industries to speed their agreements for rehabilitation through increased wages and stabilized working hours, and not to increase prices, at least for the present, was made today by Hugh S. Johnson, head of the National Recovery Administration.

Business leaders were told frankly by Johnson that initiative in the program for restoring industry rests upon their enterprise and that his organization was ready to consider proposed codes of fair competition as soon as they were prepared and submitted.

At the same time he called pointed attention to the penalties in the recovery legislation that are applicable to industries that fail to come forward voluntarily with trade agreements.

Plans Straight Appeal.

A few hours later he said at his first press conference that the ten major industries of the country were rapidly putting into shape for presentation, trade agreements designed to raise the wages of millions of men and spread employment by setting a maximum hour limit. The textile industry, which has already presented its code, upon which hearings are to begin June 27, under the direction of W. L. Allen, a coordinator, was said by Johnson to have done "a beautiful job."

The administrator said he would appeal straight from the shoulder for no increase in prices that would offset the results of increased wages.

"We are going to ask for something in the nature of an armistice on increased capacity and prices until we get this thing started," he said.

"You can't go out and make any hard and fast rules or force people, but we are going to appeal very earnestly to industries not to increase their capacity by labor saving devices for a few months."

Legislation Moves Apace.

As the formulation of trade agreements stepped ahead, the companion legislation designed to stimulate purchasing power through $3,000,000,000 of public works moved apace under the direction of Col. Donald H. Sawyer, the administrator, and Secretary Ickes.

The Treasury meantime was gathering cash to start the public construction program, having amassed $1,008,099,817 in its general fund June 17.

The fund was accumulated through the sale, June 15, of $1,083,000,000 of

Kidnaping Is Laid To Beer Hijackers

Auburn, Ind., June 20 (A.P.).—Two men driving a truck load of 400 cases of Milwaukee beer to Auburn, reported to the DeKalb County sheriff late today their cargo was hijacked and they were kidnaped by five men who stopped them on a road west of here this morning.

A. H. Thornton, driver, and R. E. Moeske, accompanying him, said five men in a large sedan crowded their truck to the side of the highway between Ligonier and Kendallville, Ind., at 4:30 a. m. Flourishing guns, three of the men pushed Thornton and Moeske into the sedan while the other two hijackers drove the truck away.

Throughout the day, Thornton told the sheriff, they were driven about the vicinity in the sedan, and about 5 p. m. their truck was returned, empty, to them at a spot near North Webster, Ind.

Reserve Flier Killed In Crash Near Langley

Langley Field, Va., June 20 (A.P.).—Second Lieut. Edmund L. Jackson, 22, Reserve Army officer, of Wagoner, S. C., was killed in an airplane crash on Plum Island near the flying field here today. While engaged in gunnery practice his plane struck a ground target and damaged a wing. He continued in flight, but after reaching a height of about 100 feet crashed back to earth.

The flier is survived by his wife.

Hunted Slaying Suspect Dies From Shot Wound

Los Angeles, June 20 (A.P.).—Clifford Sherwood, 40, found shot in the head early today while police hunted for him as the slayer of Gabrielle Andrieux, French seamstress, shot to death in a Hollywood bungalow yesterday, died this afternoon at the county hospital. Officers said Sherwood apparently had committed suicide.

Adjournment Is Paris Aim as Dollar Slides; Moley Sees President

Dramatic Parley Is Held Off Cape Cod by Roosevelt.

Plane and Destroyer Used by "Liaison Officer."

En route with President Roosevelt off Cape Cod, June 20 (A.P.).—Out in the deep opposite the shores where the Pilgrims landed, President Roosevelt today dramatically outlined policies to a special envoy to the London economic conference, Raymond Moley, Assistant Secretary of State.

The hopes of Mr. Roosevelt for America and the world to emerge from the international depression through the conference were given as he carefully guided a sailing schooner even smaller than the sturdy Mayflower, which brought the Nation's fathers to these shores 300 years ago, looking then, also, for better days.

The progress of these three centuries was in evidence as Moley swept from the skies to a naval destroyer, and thence to the 45-foot Amberjack II, off Cape Cod, where he found the President eagerly steering his craft past the shoals.

Will Act as Messenger.

(The President's instructions to Moley were not made public, but at Washington it was reiterated there was a disposition to postpone monetary stabilization pending an increase in domestic prices under the recovery program.)

Stephen T. Early, a secretary to the President, issued the following statement about the conference:

"Assistant Secretary Moley is sailing tomorrow for London at the request of the President. He will act in a sense as a messenger or liaison officer, giving the American delegates firsthand information of the various developments, congressional, &c., in this country since the delegation left, and conveying the President's views of these developments on the original instructions given the delegation before they sailed.

"Secretary Moley will stay in London only about a week and will return to give the President full information on the conference, &c., up to that time.

Takes Plane for New York.

"The Secertary left Washington early today by seaplane, landing in Nantucket Harbor about 7:30 a. m. He was picked up there by the destroyer Bernadou, which contacted the Amberjack II off Pollock Light. He boarded the Amberjack II and conferred with the President for more than an hour. The President conferred as he sat at the steering wheel of his craft, navigating.

Wife, in Court, Recites Husband's Murder Story

San Francisco, June 20 (A.P.).—The statement of Mrs. Stella Coffman in municipal court today that her husband, Charles Coffman, had confessed to her he killed a man in Clarksburg, W. Va., led police to hold the man while they communicated with West Virginia authorities.

Coffman appeared in court on charges of abandoning his wife, who appeared to testify on this accusation and related the alleged confession incidentally. She also said her husband threatened to kill her.

HULL SEES LONDON PARLEY AS SUCCESS

Tells Newspaper Men Rumor of Dissension in Ranks Is Unfounded.

London, June 20 (A.P.).—American delegates to the World Economic Conference dressed up tonight and stepped out to meet the Prince of Wales after a busy day in which Secretary of State Cordell Hull took occasion to assert the absolute unity of the American group.

Mr. Hull had a 30-minute audience with King George at Buckingham Palace at the sovereign's request and also conferred at length with Prime Minister MacDonald, Chancellor of the British Exchequer Neville Chamberlain, George Bonnet, chief of the French delegation, and others on conference procedure.

Meeting news correspondents late in the day, the tall, studious chief of the American party struck out at reports of dissension in the ranks and reaffirmed his faith that the conference would achieve "a fair measure of success."

When asked whether Washington's disapproval of the tentative currency stabilization proposal indicated conflict between American domestic and international policies, Mr. Hull avoided a direct answer, but said: "Any domestic program must have an international program along with it."

A report published in London that Secretary Hull expects to return to the United States with the arrival here of Raymond Moley, Assistant Secretary of State, about a week hence, brought from Mr. Hull the remark, "that's a sample of the rumors I am constantly required to

Garners Leave Uvalde For Unannounced Point

Uvalde, Tex., June 20 (A.P.).—Vice President John N. Garner prepared today to leave early tomorrow for an unannounced destination. He said he did not know how long he would remain away.

"Politically," he said, "I am deaf, dumb and blind. I expect to be gone from Uvalde a great deal and therefore will make or accept no appointments or engagements for at least 60 days."

But U. S. Delegates at London Cheered by Wide Support.

Polish-Belgian Shaft at French Quotas Is Surprise.

London, June 20 (A.P.).—Alarmed by further depreciation of the American dollar today, high French quarters asserted tonight that a proposal for adjournment of the World Economic Conference would be presented at a meeting of the steering committee tomorrow unless prospects for currency stabilization were brighter at that time.

The French delegation, which has steadfastly insisted that stabilization is a prerequisite for success of the conference, fears that France may be forced off the gold standard if the value of the dollar continues to decline.

The American delegation, however, was much encouraged tonight by the wide support which its monetary program for the liftion of a permanent standard of ing of prices and eventual restoraexchange received today among the nations participating in the parley.

Adjournment Talk Is Revived.

The steering committee, which determines the course which the conference shall follow, consists of Prime Minister MacDonald, chairman of the international assembly; Cordell Hull, American Secretary of State; James M. Cox, of Ohio; Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, and other chief delegates of important countries.

While currency stabilization, which has disturbed the conference for several days, remained largely in abeyance today, the dollar weakened again and thus provoked the ire of France and other gold standard countries.

Talk among continental delegations of adjourning the conference pending stabilization was less prevalent today, but was revived tonight when representatives of gold countries became informed of the steady downward trend of American currency in foreign markets.

Six Countries Voice Approval.

The approval voiced today by a number of delegations for the American monetary program refuted assertions in the British press that Europe was lining up solidly against the United States, which has been handicapped hitherto in making commitments for the conference by ramifications of its own internal revival schemes.

The resolution presented yesterday by Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, suggesting steps for restoration of the monetary standard, designed to use gold as a measure of value while rehabilitating silver, received the full approval of Germany, Italy, India, China, Mexico and the Irish Free State delegations. Several others, including Great Britain, Brazil and Czechoslovakia, agreed with the broad principles enunciated in the American resolution.

Senator Pittman's resolution tended

Son Plans Trans-U. S. Hop to See Ill Mother

Buffalo, N. Y., June 20 (A.P.).—Walter J. Tucker, of San Francisco, will start a 23-hour air hop from that city tomorrow on a summons to the bedside of his mother, Mrs. Joseph Tucker, well-known Buffalo woman, who is critically ill. A plea to see her son before she dies, led Buffalo Airport authorities to notify the son and make arrangements for the transcontinental trip. Tucker will leave the coast city at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow and is scheduled to arrive here at 7:10 a. m. Thursday.

100,000 Red Exiles Freed

Horde of Political Prisoners in Siberian Lumber Camps Begins Trek Back to Homes Under Sweeping Moscow Amnesty Orders.

(Copyright, 1933, by the United Press.)

Moscow, June 20 (U.P.).—Freedom to more than 100,000 exiles and political prisoners has been granted by a sweeping order of amnesty issued by the Soviet government in Moscow, it was learned on high authority today.

The order, issued with the approval of Josef Stalin, the "strong man" of the Soviet union, will permit tens of thousands of men and women to return to their families.

The program is already under way. Exiles living in the Soviet lumber camps and mines in Siberia, or other desolate localities in the north, already have begun to drift back to their homes.

The movement has been kept quiet, so far, and the exiles have returned without the knowledge of the general public.

The Soviet authorities in recent weeks, acting on orders from the Kremlin, began this most stringent revision of prison convict camps. It is estimated that already several tens of thousands have been restored to their wives and relatives.

The mass move to return this great body of men and women to normal lives in their own surroundings was without official explanation. However, well informed observers were of the opinion that satisfactory progress in the spring sowings and other signs of economic improvement after one of the hardest winters in the history of the Soviet regime were major factors in the Kremlin's decision. Hence the order to "cleanse" the overcrowded prisons and exile camps.

DEMOCRATS UNITING TO GET G. O. P. JOBS

House Members Dissatisfied With Farley's Policy in Handling Patronage.

(Associated Press.)

Democratic House members, dissatisfied with the way Postmaster General Farley is passing out patronage, have organized a special committee to find jobs for Democrats which are now being held by Republicans.

The committee was created by the Democratic national congressional committee. Representative McClintic, of Oklahoma, was named chairman. He said yesterday that members of the House were so harassed by job seekers that, having failed to get the administration to take on Democrats, they had decided to try to find some jobs for their constituents.

The committee first turned its study to the 800 places in the Library of Congress where the pay roll amounts to $778,360 annually and salaries run from $1,200 to $6,000 a year. These employes are not under the Civil Service and may be filled by Presidential appointment.

"There are about 800 employes in the Library of Congress," McClintic said. "The best check-up we can make is that about 40 or 50 are Democrats. Most of the others are Republicans and nearly all of them have been appointed in the past 12 years. At least 50 per cent were appointed during the Hoover administration.

"We have tried to find out about these people holding these good jobs, but they won't give up all the information we want."

McClintic said a check-up showed that most of them came from Illinois, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia, and that about 50 were foreigners.

McClintic wrote a letter to his Democratic colleagues saying:

"The special committee appointed by the Congressional committee to make a study for the purpose of bringing about more efficiency has endeavored to secure all the information available concerning employes in the Congressional Library who are employed from your State.

"It has been difficult to obtain detailed information concerning the identity of each person and we are going to suggest that you call your delegation together and submit this list for identification.

"After you have done so, if you are desirous of supplementing any of the persons listed, it is our suggestion that you have the delegation present indorsements favorable to the persons you would like to have appointed and file the same with the Honorable James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, with the request that such persons as you have in mind be named to fill such vacancies.

"The committee also suggests that it would be advisable to contact the Democratic senators from your State for the purpose of finding out whether any of those on this list have the kind of status that will entitle them to retain their present position."

The committee requested that the members recommend "only such persons who are well qualified from an educational standpoint" for the positions. It added there was no desire to impair the efficiency of the institution.

"The committee further desires to say that the States are not equally represented in the present apportionment," the letter said, "and if some arrangement can be made to give additional employes to States that are not properly represented, it will be a pleasure on our part to cooperate in the best manner possible."

McClintic said many members of the House were "almost afraid to go home because they haven't been able to get any jobs for deserving Democrats in their districts."

He said there were many Republicans still on the Federal pay roll that should be replaced as quickly as possible and that his committee would cooperate with Farley in expediting the changes.

Barbara Hutton And Prince Wed

Paris, June 20 (A.P.).—Barbara Woolworth Hutton, her 5 and 10 cent store millions kept her own by the wedding contract, was married today to Prince Alexis Mdivani, of Georgian nobility.

About 50 relatives and intimate friends filled the little salon in the sixteenth arrondissement city hall, where the perfunctory civil ceremony, lasting only two minutes, was performed. A religious wedding will be held Thursday in the Russian Orthodox Church.

Barbara and her prince said "yes" in French to the accompaniment of a camera barrage, which caused Barbara's aunt, Mrs. James P. Donahue, the former Jessie Woolworth, to exclaim: "Hollywood at its best!"

D. C. HIGHWAY FUND IS TRIMMED $82,000

covery program. The public works administration also will be asked to approve these grants.

The commission in charge of building needs for the Library of Congress has decided to request the President to advance $5,000,000 of the recovery act appropriation for immediate construction of the Library of Congress Annex. The structure was authorized in prior legislation. The site of the annex has been purchased and bids will be opened next Tuesday for the work of clearing the ground.

According to Population.

Under the authorization carried in the 1934 District appropriation bill, the Commissioners are planning to file with the Director of the Budget in a few days a list of emergency local street construction to be financed under the $1,500,000 gasoline tax fund appropriated in the bill, as well as some $635,000 in water plant improvements also authorized. The Budget Director has discretionary authority to authorize the expenditure, under the local supply measure signed last week by the President.

The reduced amount allocated the District for recovery act highway expenditures, was accounted for by a last-minute change in the formula by conferees of the two houses.

Under the Federal highway act, which the Senate used as a yardstick, the District would have received a $2,000,000 minimum. It was pointed out that the revised formula gives the highway act apportionment only seven-eighths weight. The remaining one-eighth is apportioned according to population. The change cost the District $82,000.

GERARD IS FOR U.S. DYE INDEPENDENCE

Fights Foreign Domination of Chemical Industry in Allied Corporation.

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—James W. Gerard, who criticized the management of the Allied Chemical & Dye Corporation two months ago for not giving more complete reports to stockholders, said in a statement today he was "squarely behind the management in its fight against foreign domination."

Gerard said the minority stockholders' committee, seeking to elect four directors on the Allied Chemical Board, represented foreign chemical interests.

Statements from a group of industrial and labor leaders warning against possible foreign domination of the chemical industry were made public by Gerard.

Among those in the group were James B. Coombs, president Fajordo Sugar Co., of Puerto Rico; Alfred Decker, of Chicago; Ralph M. Easley, chairman executive council, National Civic Foundation; August Heckscher, Eli Mirandom, of Paterson, N. J., secretary, Silk Dyers Association of America; Joseph P. Ryan, president, International Longshoremen's Association; F. J. Senzenbrenner, president Kimberley-Clark Corporation, of Neenah, Wis.; D. E. Skinner, chairman, Alaska Pacific Salmon Corporation, Seattle; R. H. Whitehead, president, New Haven Clock Co.; Matthew Woll, vice president, American Federation of Labor.

SUGAR QUOTA PLAN STUDIED AT PARLEY

Domestic Refiners Seeking Stabilization Accord Seen by Coulter.

(Associated Press.)

Possibilities of stabilizing the sugar industry through a quota system were explored yesterday by domestic refiners at a conference with Dr. John Lee Coulter, member of the Tariff Commission, who is acting for the Agriculture Department under the farm adjustment act.

Other groups affiliated with the sugar industry also have gone into the quota question with Dr. Coulter. As a result there were indications yesterday that the various interests now are in substantial accord on the principles to be applied.

The conferences are preparatory to a general meeting of all refiners, growers, importers and others to be held next Tuesday at the Agriculture Department. Then an effort will be made to arrive at a definite quota basis for domestic sources of supply as well as those in Hawaii, Cuba, the Philippines and Puerto Rico.

Among the domestic refiners present yesterday were Ellsworth Bunker and Wayne B. Johnson, of the National Sugar Refining Co., New York, and Charles R. Crisp, former member of Congress from Georgia, who now represents the Savannah Sugar Refining Co. and the Great Western Sugar Refining Co.

Dr. Coulter said no quotas had been fixed and that none would be in advance of the conference Tuesday. He explained that at the preparatory meetings only the principles involved had been discussed.

Under the quota system, which would fix the amounts to be sold in domestic markets, Dr. Coulter said no benefits would be paid to producers and no processing tax would be levied as in the case of wheat and cotton under the Agriculture Department's farm program.

Representatives of domestic beet sugar producers and former Senator Hawes, of Missouri, representing Philippine producers, also are to meet with Dr. Coulter before Tuesday.

correct." The American leader said he had not decided when he is returning to the United States.

"We are entering the second week under as fair auspices as ordinarily attend similar conferences," the Secretary told correspondents, chosing his words carefully.

"Naturally, there is a vast range of conditions, circumstances and problems, more or less complicated, that come within the scope and functions of the conference.

"A world conference has its own peculiar procedure and its own psychology. As far as I can see there is no insuperable difficulty between us and the grappling with these difficulties in the next 30 or 40 days."

Mr. Hull mentioned the end of July as the goal for adjournment. He said that the concrete proposals promised in his opening speech are now being presented. He cited the monetary program, presented yesterday by Senator Pittman and studied in favorable spirit by the conference committee today.

"The delegates have elaborate and comprehensive instructions agreed on before we left Washington," he said. "The delegation so far as I have heard has been an absolute un'

"Economic proposals will be brought up at the most suitable time. They include an attack on tariffs and trade barriers of all descriptions.

"In a universal agreement of any kind, the domestic program—and there should be a comprehensive and sound domestic program in every country—calls for an international program at least to the extent of concerted action. If the world is capable of saving itself from conditions which exist it will require all the action the domestic program can afford and all the international program, too, can afford."

The delegation decided to meet daily after breakfast, Senator James Cousens particularly emphasizing the need for teamwork to avoid such occurrencies as the issuance and later disowning of a 10 per cent tariff cut suggestion.

James M. Cox indicated satisfaction at the progress of the monetary commission of which he is chairman.

Henry Morgenthau, sr., said today that he thought Australia, Cshada, Argentina and the United States, whose representatives are meeting daily to discuss measures for control of wheat production, would "get together in a few days" on a definite agreement.

Tonight the American delegates in full dress attended a reception given by the Marquis and Marchioness of Londonderry to meet the Prince of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of York.

WHEAT RESTRICTION ATTACKED IN LONDON

Further Opposition to U. S. Plan Expected Following French Protests.

London, June 20 (A.P.).—America's wheat restriction program underwent severe attacks from two quarters today, and opposition is expected to be strengthened when the principal producing countries meet tomorrow morning for further conference.

The first blow was struck by the French delegate, Albert Sarraut, minister of colonies, in the Economic Commission of the World Economic Conference when he presented a four-point program aiming first and primarily at approving the efforts of smaller producing nations to protect the price of their home crops.

France Offers Plan.

Secondarily, the Sarraut program approved restriction of production of wheat in exporting countries "to some degree."

The third and fourth points of the French plan dealt with measures to insure against dislocation of markets through any scheme which may finally be adopted.

Opposition to the French scheme was announced by E. N. Rhodes, Canadian minister of finance, who insisted that wheat importing countries should study means of increasing their imports and consumption.

Australia Is Willing.

Stanley Bruce, of Australia, also opposed the French plan.

Before this meeting of the commission the American wheat delegation considered that it was making progress toward the adoption of a restriction scheme, but they considered tonight that it is possible that the four principal producers of wheat may find the opposition stiffened when they meet again tomorrow.

The Australian delegates signified willingness to consider the Canadian-American plan for acreage reduction as a means of raising world prices. Should they decide to accept the plan, they indicated, they would do so with the reservation it must be temporary. Final attitude of Argentina remained obscure.

Chamberlain and Simon Visits Hinge on Parley

London, June 20 (A.P.).—The present plan of the British cabinet, it was understood tonight, is that if the World Economic Conference has concluded by the end of July, Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, and Sir John Simon, foreign minister, will go to Washington to discuss a debt settlement.

Meanwhile, it is expected that preliminary work on this question will be done with members of the American delegation, at London, and later by the British ambassador in Washington.

BOY ADMITS MAILING BOMB TO ROOSEVELT

tion, young Doldo was traced through a letter alleged to have been mailed by him to President Roosevelt on June 14. According to Watertown authorities, the sender placed in his letter a torn part of a Seaboard Air Line promotion slip.

It was learned that the Jefferson County National Bank was the only place where such folders could be obtained.

It was ordered that a close watch be kept for persons inquiring for the folders. Just before the bank closed last night Doldo walked into the lobby and over to the stand which held the Seaboard folders. He was immediately detained and police notified.

According to Police Chief Edward J. Singleton, the youth made a complete confession and in an unconcerned manner declared he did it "just for fun." Authorities say he is the author of several "crank" letters to the President and is responsible for sending the explosive packages.

The fact that two other bombs have been mailed since February 21 was disclosed for the first time last night. It also was divulged that young Doldo is alleged to have sent President Roosevelt a vial containing "nitroglycerin." Inspection after its interception, however, revealed it to be a mixture of flour, soup and water.

On June 14 Doldo is said to have mailed his fifth letter to the President. It was addressed to the Capitol Building, Washington, D. C.

An inclosed note contained a trade acceptance blank, filled out in a crudely pencilled handwriting. The blank was marked "war debt" in one corner and authorized the payment of $75,950,000 to a governmental representative. This was sent as "part payment of the British war debt." It was signed "Lieut. Paul Bryne, commander of the British forces."

The youth probably will be examined as to his sanity.

When the first bomb was discovered in the postoffice here, William Satterfield, chief postal inspector for the Washington district, was assigned to the case. The bomb was sent to New York for examination. The discovery was kept well under cover and was made public only after a Post reporter learned the facts.

False Entry Laid To Bank Director

Cleveland, June 20 (A.P.).—Adrian G. Newcomb, prominent Cleveland attorney and former common pleas judge, was indicted today on a charge of false entry in the books of the closed Standard Trust Bank, of which he was a director.

The indictment was the sixth to be returned in the investigation of the bank's failure in 1931 with liabilities of more than $2,000,000.

Newcomb, a member of the law firm of Newcomb, Newcomb & Nord, appeared voluntarily before the grand jury a week ago and told of his connections with the bank.

MEXICO CITY FEARS FOR SPANISH FLIERS

Transatlantic Airmen Are Long Overdue on Hop From Havana.

Mexico City, June 20 (U.P.).—Anxiety was expressed tonight for the safety of the two Spanish transatlantic fliers, Capt. Mariano Barberan and Lieut. Joaquin Collar, overdue here on a flight from Havana, Cuba.

The fliers were due here about 5 p. m., after an estimated 12½ hours for the 1,125-mile flight from the Cuban capital. They left Cuba early this morning.

The Spanish fliers had not been sighted since they left Cuba shortly after dawn.

A heavy rain fell at Valbuena Airport, outside the Mexican capital, drenching the field. It resembled a great, flat lake as darkness drew near without word of the airmen.

A throng of thousands packed the field dring the day, and as the downpour started they crammed into the hangar, seeking refuge from the storm.

Two military airplanes remained aloft, seeking the daring Spaniards. The crowd was estimated at 50,000 persons, including high government officials and Josephus Daniels, the United States Ambassador.

Large Spanish and Mexican flags decorated the grandstand, where a formal reception to the two airmen, on a good will flight from Spain to Mexico, were to have been received.

They landed in Cuba safely after a remarkable nonstop flight from Seville over the widest part of the Atlantic, making the 5,000-mile hop without incident 10 days ago. On the flight to Mexico, they planned to follow the Pan-American Airways course, with less than 300 miles over the Gulf of Mexico.

Accessories Makers Silent as to Code

Detroit, June 20 (A.P.).—Representatives of manufacturers of automobile parts and accessories who met here today for the purpose of outlining a tentative code designed to bring the group within the provisions of the industrial recovery act, adjourned tonight without making an announcement concerning their discussion or decisions.

It was believed that no announcement of the meeting's results would be made by Claire L. Barnes, chairman of the group and president of the Houdaille-Hershey Corporation, until the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce has held its scheduled meeting here Thursday of this week.

SHIPS NEAR CHICAGO ON INLAND CHANNEL

Gulf-to-Great-Lakes Idea of 260 Years Reaches Reality Tomorrow.

Chicago, June 20 (A.P.).—A transportation dream 260 years old approached reality today as a string of barges pushed toward Chicago from New Orleans over an inland waterway—virtually a man-made channel 96 miles long—that cost $105,000,000.

When the four sturdy barges, bearing freight 60 railroad cars could not haul, reach the Chicago River mouth Thursday, the waterway will be dedicated officially. Principal figure in the dedication will be Secretary of War George H. Dern.

The story of the waterway goes back to the days when explorers Marquette and Joliet portaging canoes over long stretches in traveling from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi River were struck by the possibility of such a water route.

An engineering feat comparable almost to that of the Panama Canal was necessary to make their vision come true. Four powerful locks comprise the machinery which lifts or lowers the barges over the 139 feet of difference in altitude between the upper and lower ends of the waterway.

A map of the waterway shows 60 miles of it, at least 10 feet deep and 200 feet wide throughout, was made entirely by man—from Chicago to Lockport, Ill., near Joliet, bargers will float on the Chicago drainage canal into the Chicago River.

From Lockport to the Mississippi the channel follows the Illinois River, which has also been prepared for its part in the transportation plan by man's hand.

Down the waterway in the future, supporters of the project proclaim, will annually float millions of tons of grain grown in Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska; manufactured goods from Chicago and other industrial areas; steel from the blast furnaces of Gary and Hammond, Ind.

Lewis in Hospital; Almon Is Stricken

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, entered Garfield Hospital last night to undergo treatment for an intestinal disorder, from which he has been suffering for some time. He will not undergo an operation.

Representative Edward B. Almon, of Alabama, who has been confined to his hotel room for several days, suffered a severe heart attack yesterday, and his condition was described as critical. Attendants said the attending physician had advised them that his recovery was "problematical."

Senators Borah, of Idaho, and George, of Georgia, were reported much improved yesterday.

Senator Borah has been ordered to remain in bed at his apartment for several days, or until he has regained a complete rest and recovered from a slight stomach disorder. Senator George is resting in Naval Hospital. Both senators were described as victims of overwork during the closing days of Congress.

Closed-Bank Chief Indicted in Illinois

Springfield, Ill., June 20 (A.P.).—Millard F. Dunlap, 75, a former treasurer of the Democratic national committee, was indicted today by a Federal grand jury in connection with the collapse of the Ayers National Bank at Jacksonville, Ill.

The indictments, accusing Dunlap and two other former officers of the bank of false entries, misapplication of funds and conspiracy, were announced shortly after Dunlap and William G. Goebel, also named in the bills, were acquitted in a State court at Jacksonville of embezzlement and larceny by bailee. The other named in the Federal indictment was Andrew Russell, former State treasurer and auditor and a prominent Republican leader.

In the case at Jacksonville Dunlap and Goebel were charged with appropriating more than $100,000 in bonds owned by Illinois College and using them as collateral for loans before the bank failed last fall.

Bulkley Predicts New Bank Faith

(Associated Press.)

New public confidence in America's banks as a result of passage of the Glass-Steagall banking reform act was predicted last night by Senator Robert J. Bulkley (Democrat), Ohio.

Bulkley said in an address that separation of commercial and investment banking and insuring of deposits, together with other of the measure's provisions, marked it as "the greatest forward step since the Federal Reserve act."

"As a result of the improved supervision and sound restriction on bank operations, provided by this act," he said, "the banks will actually deserve a greater measure of public confidence hereafter, while at the same time the provision for the insurance of deposits will tend to remove the fear which has caused wholesale withdrawals of funds for hoarding."

SANDERS TO CONFER WITH G. O. P. HEADS

Move Interpreted as Start of Preparation for 1934 Congress Contests.

(Associated Press.)

In a move interpreted here as the public launching of Republican preparation for the 1934 congressional campaigns, Chairman Sanders of the Republican national committee, announced last night he will confer with leaders in New York tonight.

The Republican chairman said he would continue on for a conference with party chieftains from Massachusetts, Maine, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Vermont in Boston on tomorrow evening.

At the New York parley, leaders not only from that State but from New Jersey and Pennsylvania as well will be present. Sanders talked privately here Monday with Republicans from Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina. Other conferences, he said, would be arranged later for various parts of the country.

Purposes Not Disclosed.

Sanders refrained from saying in his announcement what the purposes of his meetings were. Observers recalled, however, that at the gathering the executive committee of the Republican national committee here just before President Hoover left office the plans announced had pointed directly to the 1934 congressional elections.

At the conclusion of his announcement, the committee chairman said:

"I have been exceedingly encouraged by the great enthusiasm and intense party interest displayed by those attending the meeting held in the national committee's headquarters in Washington yesterday. My information forecasts like enthusiasm and success for the New York and Boston meetings."

The series of meetings have been seen, also, as designed to straighten out questions of leadership and prepare the Republican machine, badly overturned in the 1932 elections, for the campaigns still some distance ahead.

Sander's move is expected to bring together for the first time in months some of the leaders of the party in New York State, where rumors of dissatisfaction with the State chairmanship of W. Kingsland Macy have been heard in some quarters.

Although some party members in Washington have given time to cloakroom discussion of a change in State leadership, no definite move toward this has been made evident. Among the names mentioned as possible successors to Macy in the event of an overthrow was that of Philip J. Eltinge, Ulster County chairman and collector of the court of New York under recent Republican administrations.

In the New York State's group are three figures prominent in the national organization—former Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, Representative Bertrand H. Snell, minority leader of the House, and James W. Wadsworth, now a representative and formerly United States Senator.

HAMM HUNTS HOUSE AS KIDNAPERS' LAIR

Brewer Helps Police in Search for Place Where He Was Held Captive.

St. Paul, Minn., June 20 (A.P.).—Pursuit of the kidnapers of William Hamm focused on northern Minnesota tonight as the millionaire brewer set out to search for the house in which he was held prisoner almost four days before his release yesterday.

Hamm, accompanied by Charles Tierney, inspector of detectives, and Detective Thomas A. Brown, drove north in an effort to locate the dwelling in which his five or six abductors detained him for $100,000 ransom, not all of which was paid them before he was freed.

Meanwhile, Duluth, Minn., police sought two men, one of whom resembled description of Verne Sankey, indicted for other kidnapings here and in Denver, Colo., and M. F. Kinkead, Ramsey County attorney, offered immunity to any of the gang who would inform on his confederates.

The two, Duluth authorities said, were known to have stayed at a hotel there about the same length of time that W. W. Dunn, close friend of the millionaire brewer, and negotiator for his release, made his headquarters there while awaiting word from the abductors.

Superior, Wis., and adjacent territory, was a "good possibility," Chief of Police Thomas Dahill said, as location of the kidnap house in which Hamm was confined in a second floor room, windows of which were boarded.

ROOSEVELT FROWNS ON MORE RAIL CUTS

No Time for Wage Dispute, Sponsors of 22.5 Slash Are Told Here.

(Associated Press.)

The administration has informed the management of American railroads and representatives of their employes that it feels the present is no time for a wage dispute.

A postponement of the fight threatened as a result of the decision of the carriers to cut wages 22½ per cent was asked. The carriers, through the conference committee of railroad managers, served notice on the 21 railroad labor unions last week that the present reduction of 10 per cent, which expires November 1, and an additional 12½ per cent would be imposed November 1.

Acting quickly, and apparently at the request of President Roosevelt, Joseph B. Eastman, Federal railroad coordinator, called the managers' committee and the Railway Labor Executives Association to Washington for conferences. He conferred yesterday morning with the managers and yesterday afternoon with the labor leaders. Other meetings will be held.

Position of Both Parties.

Eastman declined to discuss the situation, but elsewhere it was said that he told both the managers and employes' representatives that the administration feels the status of rail wages should be undisurbed for the present. This, it is felt, would allow time to determine whether the moves being made looking to business recovery will be effective.

Eastman said yesterday's conferences were primarily to ascertain the position of both parties in the controversy. He heard both sides and today probably will make further efforts to bring them together in some sort of an understanding.

The coordinator, who also is a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, is devoting his entire time to the effort to compose the railroad wage situation. He has no authority over wages and made it plain in a brief statement Monday that he was acting unofficially and not in his capacity as coordinator. He has been described, however, as the administration spokesman on railroad questions.

"Not an Auspicious Time."

Although Eastman declined to comment in detail on the conferences, other sources thoroughly acquainted with the situation outlined the administration attitude as follows:

"In view of the present conditions and the upturn in business, this is not an auspicious time to try out the question of a wage cut.

"It is felt that the present status should be permitted to continue until such time—certainly, until next fall—as it is possible to ascertain whether the moves being made for business recovery work out."

The attitude of the railroad managements has been that railway employes have not suffered as heavily from wage cuts as have industrial workers. They negotiated a 10 per cent reduction for one year, about 18 months ago, and this was extended until November 1, 1933.

Labor Leaders Adamant.

The carriers were described as feeling that a continuation of the 10 per cent cut, plus an additional 12½ per cent, would bring railroad wages down to a figure comparable with living costs and with wages in other lines of industry.

The labor union chiefs, on receiving notice of the new cut flatly asserted they would consent to no further wage cuts nor any extension of the present reduction.

They expressed the view that railroad employment had greatly decreased and that those still on the pay rolls were there only part of the time, thus greatly reducing their income.

They also pointed to rising prices and the plan of the administration to push them still higher as additional reasons why wages should not be cut.

Mr. Carr was long active with the Board of Trade, which he served as secretary for four years and as a director for six years. He was a past master of the Myron M. Mrs. Willebrandt Wins Point in Suit

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former Assistant U. S. Attorney General, won a point today in the trial of the $200,000 libel action brought against her by Gus O. Nations, former chief of prohibition enforcement in St. Louis, Mo.

Federal Judge Robert P. Paterson granted a motion by defense counsel to dismiss a portion of the complaint, which charged that Mrs. Willebrandt defamed Nations in an article, August 14, 1929.

Nations cited in his complaint an advance notice of the article which he claimed libeled him. Judge Patterson held that Mrs. Willebrandt did not write the advance notice and could not be held responsible for it. The court, however, denied a motion to dismiss the entire complaint, made after the prosecution had rested.

RECOVERY HEAD ASKS SPEED IN AGREEMENTS

Treasury securities from which a balance of nearly $800,000,000 was left after maturing debts and other expenses had been paid. Another portion of the fund came from income taxes which returned $104,281,178 for the month, only $14,000,000 less than the same month a year ago.

No Acceptable Code Delayed.

Johnson in his formal bulletin said "it is not the function of the national recovery administration to prescribe what shall be in the codes * * * or to compel the organization of either industry or labor."

"While acceptable proposals of no trade group will be delayed," Johnson added, "it is my hope that the ten major industries which control the bulk of industrial employment can submit their simple basic codes at once and that the country can look forward to the month of July as the beginning of our great national movement back to work."

Johnson declined to name the ten industries, asserting there is too much difference of opinion as to which they are. He said, however, that if there were any "slackers" in forming the agreement he had not detected them and that virtually every industry now was preparing codes of fair competition for presentation to him.

While asserting that the emergency phase of his job was to get several million persons back to work soon, Johnson said he could promise nothing.

"There has been too much promising and too little action throughout this depression," he added.

Newspapers Included.

He said the plan was that eventually all industries, including newspapers, should come under the scope of the act, adding:

"If anybody gets around this, it will be my fault, but I am not going to begin thinking any one is trying to get around it."

Public hearings on all the codes are planned, with all parties of interest getting a chance to speak.

"We are going to have to do this job in a goldfish bowl," the administrator said.

Referring to the possibility of the minimum wage fixed by a code becoming the maximum wage, a contingency which he said would be fought against, Johnson asserted "there was a minimum wheat price during the war that became the maximum and the farmers haven't gotten over that yet."

In response to another query he said the recovery administration is "not going to be used as a machine for unionizing any industry," even though the law permits "collective bargaining."

"The men can organize, but I am neither going to organize industry or labor," the administrator said. "My business is to pass upon these agreements as they are presented. The law gives the authorization to bargain collectively. I have a law to execute and I am going to do it."

COMMITTEE GIVES DINNER FOR WITTS

Board of Trade Group Honors Chairman of Annual Shad Bake.

W. Crosdale Witts was the guest of honor of the membership committee of the Washington Board of Trade at a dinner at the Manor Club last night in recognition of his position as chairman of the 1933 shad bake of the organization, held a month ago.

Many of the entertainment features of the shad bake were presented at last night's celebration. Henry C. Nestor, the singing policeman, of Washington, won a rousing ovation with the rendition of "Old Man River," "On the Road to Mandalay" and other songs. Four pretty girls, under the direction of Helen Curney, billed as "The Hod Carriers," offered several lively dances.

Members of the committee gave an interpretation of what took place on the eve of the shad bake when the event was being planned in the late hours of the night. A moving picture of the shad bake concluded the entertainment program. Music was furnished by Thelma Schilling and her "Caddettes."

Tribute was paid to Mr. Witts by George W. Offutt, John Saul, and Fred Smith, who presided at the dinner, and several others. A number of gifts, including an electric clock, were presented to Mr. Witts. Announcement was made that Granville Gude would be the chairman of the next midwinter dinner.

Honor guests included Maj. Ernest Brown, chief of police; Melvin Hazen, District surveyor, and Inspector Thad Bean, of the Police Department.

The dinner was opened with an impressive tribute to Arthur Carr, who died yesterday morning. All those present joined in the singing of "Nearer, My God, to Thee," after several moments of silent prayer.

The other boys, frightened, were reported to have taken the body to the river bank, hiding it in debris there, but later returning and pushing it into the water.

They returned home and said nothing of the accident until the body was found today. Then they related the story to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Iverson, investigators said. No action has been taken in the case.

REPEAL VOTE WINS IN 3 MORE STATES

Even Rural Districts Poll Majority for Wets in Light Ballot.

cut down their ballot to some extent and their dry majorities were not believed sufficient to overcome the decided early wet lead.

Iowans chose a slate of 99 delegates in the election, specially called to vote upon the proposal for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Two slates of candidates were balloted upon only, making the election a virtual referendum on the question.

While Iowa has been regarded as a dry stronghold because of its prompt ratification of the eighteenth amendment and the fact that the State had been dry by statute since 1916, it has voted both ways on the liquor question in previous elections.

In 1917 a proposal for a State constitutional provision for prohibition was defeated in a referendum by a slim margin.

The State has tried modified license, local option and prohibition in dealing with the liquor question at various times during its history.

A leader in the repeal campaign previous to today's election was Gov. Clyde L. Herring, elected in the Democratic landslide last November. The various dry organizations were led by an all-Iowa emergency dry committee, which waged an active fight up to the eve of election.

A last minute move of the drys Monday night urged citizens to remain away from polls unless they were against repeal.

New Hampshire Wet.

Manchester, N. H., June 20 (A.P.).—With a vote of more than 2 to 1, repealists were certain of victory in New Hampshire tonight as the "wet" vote continued to pile up with more than half the State, including most of the largest cities, already reported.

Only a dozen of the smaller communities cast a majority vote in favor of retention of the eighteenth amendment as the ten delegates at large, favoring repeal, received large majorities over their dry opponents.

With 260 towns and city wards reported, the vote was:

For repeal, 64,185.

This gave a wet majority of 37,061.

The town of Deering, home of Daniel A. Poling, national dry leader, voted 46 to 35 in favor of repeal, while the town of Haverhill, home town of Senator Henry W. Keyes, a dry, voted 508 to 290 for repeal. Every one of the large cities turned in a huge majority in favor of repeal, with Manchester, the largest city in the State, voting 16,575 to 2,653.

The State liquor law was enacted in 1917 and two years later the prohibition amendment was ratified by a vote of 19 to 4 in the Senate, 222 to 11 in the House. It was amended recently to permit the sale of 3.2 beer and wine. Another bill, which would legalize 6 per cent beer in the event the eighteenth amendment was repealed, recently passed the legislature.

Gov. John G. Winant said he would call the elected delegates in convention in the near future.

New Haven, Conn., June 20 (A.P.).—Connecticut reemphasized her opposition to prohibition today by voting, 6 to 1, for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, which it never ratified.

Fifty delegates pledged to vote at the State convention for ratification of the twenty-first amendment, which would wipe prohibition off the Federal Constitution, were elected.

The unofficial returns from the State's 169 towns showed:

For repeal, 236,942.

Against repeal, 35,349.

Even before compilation of the vote was completed, Gov. Wilbur L. Cross set July 11 as the date for the convention. The 50 delegates, 15 at large and the others representing the 35 senatorial districts, will gather at the Capitol in Hartford to record Connecticut formally for repeal.

With prohibitionists and antiprohibitionists alike conceding a wet victory days before the election, a very light vote was cast throughout the State. The unofficial total was 272,291 compared to 601,304 votes cast at the last Presidential election.

Vote Overwhelming Majority.

Except for a few scattering towns in the traditionally dry rural districts, cities and towns alike gave overwhelming majorities to the delegates pledged to place Connecticut in the column with the eleven other States which have voted already for repeal.

The big cities particularly swelled the vote against retention of the eighteenth amendment. Hartford, the largest city, voted nearly 12 to 1 for repeal, the vote being 24,576 for and 2,595 against. Bridgeport's vote was even more overwhelming, with 21,000 in favor and 1,542 against, while New Haven, the second largest city, went 28,416 to 2,014 for repeal.

Walter E. Batterson, former Hartford mayor, who directed the State campaign for repeal, termed the results "substantial and satisfactory."

"The voting ratio is, after all, the best statement that we can offer," he said.

Gov. Cross, outspoken foe of prohibition, said:

"The result in Connecticut is what was generally expected. It is gratifying that the vote was so large. It gives emphasis to the decisiveness of the verdict. The outlook for speedy repeal now seems assured."

League Refuses to Pick 6 Dry States for Shouse

(Associated Press.)

The Antisaloon League yesterday replied to Jouett Shouse's challenge that prohibition leaders name six States that would reject repeal with a statement which says: "Naturally, no dry leader will present the wets with a list of States and thereby invite a concentrated wet attack."

Shouse, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, asserted the only hope of the drys was to keep "thirteen States from voting."

"The objections to delay in elections given by the wet leaders is of course deceptive," the Antisaloon League statement said:

"They say they want to get $2,000,000 a day in revenue from liquor, and express concern over the difficulty of enforcing the law during the campaign for repeal.

"However, the two real underlying motives of the wet interests are clearly the desire of the wet politicians to hasten elections in order to take advantage of the abnormal economic situation, and the desire of the liquor interests to quickly harvest the enormous profits from the manufacture and sale of a habit-forming beverage."

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

Here is shown the winning team, Standard Phychems, Federal Bridge League, receiving big cup given by N. F. F. E. last night. Left to right, W. G. Brombacher, S. F. Pickering, captain; R. C. Bowker, J. R. Branham, H. T. Wensel, league president, league champions. The big cup must be won three years to gain permanent possession. Individual small cups are permanently owned by members of the winning team.

THE undersigned is greatly pleased to note that the Federal Diary has decided to hold a piscatorial rodeo next month. May I suggest that the ladies be not only invited but urged to join with us in the sport of all ages and sexes? Have special prizes for them.

I hope the cost will not be prohibitive. I will be one if health and circumstances permit.—Lon A. Schimpf, Federal Trade Commission.

Mr. Schimpf, we looked over the chairman's shoulder yesterday and if the old eyes didn't fool us we noticed your name on the general committee among other good anglers, so you'll probably have a chance to present these fine suggestions. Committeemen with constructive ideas are those who make a success of a real party.

Mr. Barstow, general chairman, last evening went to Tilghman for a conference with the boatmen, so that he can have all groundwork mapped before presenting to the committee to be announced soon.

Injustice to Justice.

Word comes from Justice that "the Attorney General has bottled up the news from this department." If there were less mystery about the Department of Justice and more attempt to humanize its operatives and employes there would be fewer outrages paralleling Saturday's affair in Kansas City and less resistance to a Federal law punishing such atrocities.

"* * * At any rate, the fact remains that the President's secretary is not appealing to the country against the conservation camp bill on the ground that will add $1.25 or $1.50 to the tax roll of every citizen of the United States. The only time when any such appeals are made is when the money is taken out of the veterans or Government employes.

That is when we hear so much about balancing the budget."—Senator Cutting.

And speaking of I. R. B., although the sign says "No More Jobs" 100 an hour continue to fill out blanks. It was observed yesterday that at last the black ink industry is getting a play after the red ink's long and lasting stand. And think of all the penstaffs being used by those 100-an-hour applicants.

You know over at G. A. O., while employes in other departments get their pay on time and occasionally ahead, the G. A. O. pays off late at all times. Suppose the fifteenth is on Saturday and Sunday is followed by a holiday, then pay will be handed out Tuesday.

"Had the budget director's office actually struck a balance?" Mr. Howe was asked by his interviewer, Walter Trumbull.

"Yes, the budget was really balanced," Mr. Howe replied.

(This should have been the time and the place to have the Government employes sing, "You Can Make My Life a Bed of Roses, or Make It Like a Sour Apple Tree," dedicated to the director of the budget.)—Martha, in The National Rural Letter Carrier.

"There is only one way to increase mass purchasing power and that is to place more money in the hands of the people. Mass purchasing power will not be increased by balancing the budget at the expense of the veterans and Government employes. * * *."—Philadelphia Record.

IN vetoing a bill reducing salaries of State employes, Gov. Rolph of California said the bill's "inconsistencies and inequalities oppose the spirit of the law and the well-being of the State." More than 17,000 State employes would have been affected through a scale ranging from 10 to 32 per cent, estimated to "save the State" $5,000,000 biennially.

Undoubtedly the swing is away from the reported hysteria of so-called economy at the expense of Government and State employes called upon to balance Government budgets at the expense of their own budgets and the Nation's buying power.

* * * *

As we look back on the recent congressional power sell-out, we can recall not an iota of legislation aimed for the betterment of the Federal employe as a class, aside from the Sirovich resolution, and you know what happened to that.

* * * *

"Reduction of wages now would do more to hinder recovery than any other thing," says Alexander F. Whitney, president, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. Unless Government employes' pay is restored soon, what with rising costs, even the present pay level will be equal to another salary cut. Even the College of Government Economists will admit that.

A tip to Interdepartmental golf tournament players. Read—and weep with us!

One week ago today the papers announced that the Department of Justice was the winner of the Victory Trophy which usually is awarded to the team having the lowest net score in "Class A," which class, according to custom, must have a handicap of 12 or less in order to compete for this particular trophy.

It seems that by some previous agreement with the official scorekeeper the Department of Agriculture was permitted to enter three "Class B" players with "Class B" handicaps in competition with all "Class A" players.

Had the Department of Agriculture required its men to play with a handicap of 12, the highest in "Class A," the Department of Justice would have still emerged from the tournament with the trophy.

Are you weeping? And are your tears like ours—from laughing out loud! A JUSTICE ENTRY.

HAMILTON FISH GETS AWARD FOR BRAVERY

New York Representative Is Decorated With Silver Star by MacArthur.

For "undaunted courage and utter disregard for his own safety" during an engagement near Sechault, France, September 30, 1918, Representative Hamilton Fish, jr., of the Twenty-sixth New York District, was yesterday decorated with the Silver Star by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, at the War Department.

Maj. Gen. James McKinley, the deputy chief of staff; Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum and other officials of the War Department attended the ceremony.

The citation for Representative Fish's award for bravery reads as follows:

"Lieut. Col. Hamilton Fish, jr., then captain of the 369th Infantry, Ninety-third Division. For gallantry in action near Sechault, France, September 29 and 30, 1918. Although on leave of absence from duty at a staff school, Capt. Fish, upon learning that his regiment was engaged in action in the Meuse Argonne offensive, rejoined his regiment and rendered exceedingly valuable service during the attack upon and capture of Sechault, September 30, 1918.

"Constantly exposed to enemy machine gun and artillery fire, his undaunted courage and utter disregard for his own safety inspired the men of the regiment, encouraging them to determined attacks upon strong enemy forces. Under heavy fire he assisted in rescuing many wounded men and also directed and assisted in the laborious task of carrying rations over shell-swept areas to the exhausted troops."

Representative Fish was born in New York in 1888. He graduated from Harvard with honors in three years and was captain of the Harvard football team. He served throughout the war and came to the House in the Sixty-sixth Congress and has served there since. He has been previously decorated with the Croix de Guerre.

Settle War Debt Issue, Commerce Group Urges

London, June 20 (U.P.).—A demand that the United States delegation to the World Economic Conference settle the war debts issue was presented to Secretary of State Cordell Hull tonight by Chester W. Cuthell, of New York, on behalf of the International Chamber of Commerce.

The resolutions included demand that Hull:

1—Solve the war debt problem.

2—Restore the international monetary standard.

3—Stabilize currency exchanges.

4—Stabilize prices, insofar as affected by monetary conditions.

Secretary Hull read the communication with interest, but made no comment.

PEERY ADVISES BOTH OPPONENTS TO QUIT

Rivals, Unable to Agree, Should Withdraw, He Suggests.

Farmville, Va., June 20 (A.P.).—George C. Peery in a campaign speech here today said that since his two opponents for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination "can not get together as to which should retire" from the race, he suggested that both should retire.

"I am not used to fighting Democrats, but I am used to fighting Republicans," he said, urging all Democratic voters to participate in the Democratic primary August 1.

Mr. Peery reiterated his proposed reductions in the automobile license tax, asserting that his schedule would result in reductions in the cost of operating automobiles for 86 per cent of the automobile owners in Virginia.

He discussed prohibition along the lines of his platform, and referred to a statement attributed to Joseph T. Deal, an opponent, in Staunton, that the superintendent of public instruction had 17,000 teachers under his control, and he could crack the whip and make them vote as he pleased. Mr. Peery emphatically denied this assertion and said it was an unjust statement.

Fireworks

Prove Undoing as Boy Is Cut by Flying Glass After Explosion.

The first casualty of the fireworks season to be reported in Prince Georges County was Alfred Bright, 11, of Bladensburg, Md. Alfred received severe cuts on the head and hand yesterday when a firecracker exploded in a bottle.

According to members of the Bladensburg Rescue Squad, Alfred was playing with two small companions, William Bennett, 5, and Emory Bowan, 7, in the yard of the Bright home.

It was suggested that a 3-inch firecracker be exploded in a bottle. A large vinegar bottle was obtained and the firecracker placed in the neck and lighted by Alfred. There was an explosion that sent glass flying, inflicting severe lacerations on the head and hands of the youth. He was rushed to a local physician by the Bladensburg Rescue Squad.

PUBLIC WORKS POST MAY GO TO SHIRLEY

Prolonged Absence From Highway Job Is Held Chief Obstacle.

(Associated Press.)

Henry G. Shirley appeared yesterday to be the most likely possibility for appointment as public works administrator for Virginia providing Gov. Pollard feels he can be spared from the highway department during the several months it will take to launch the public works program in the State.

The highway commissioner's name is before Senators Glass and Byrd for consideration in connection with the public works office, and it is known they favor appointment of an engineer. Allen J. Saville, Richmond engineer, who also was suggested has been eliminated from consideration, it was understood, because of political objections on the part of the senators and President Roosevelt's insistence that appointees to high office in the public works administration be free from connection with contracting firms. Saville was said in the Virginia delegation to have supported Herbert Hoover for President in 1928. He is the head of a contracting firm.

The name of William E. Carson, State Conservation and Development Commission chairman, is still before the senators for the office.

M'MATH RECOUNTS KIDNAPING DETAILS

Father Tells of Incidents Leading Up to Reunion With Daughter, Peggy.

Barnstable, Mass., June 20 (A.P.).—The harrowing days and nights while his daughter was in the hands of a kidnaper were lived again in Barnstable Superior Court today by the father of Margaret (Peggy) McMath.

The 10-year-old girl was taken from the Harwick Center Grammar School, May 2, kept in a cranberry shack and a cave-like cellar of a vacant house for three nights and finally returned to her parents, May 5, after $60,000 ransom had been paid. The ransom money later was recovered in the home of Kenneth Buck, who with his brother, Cyril, is on trial for the kidnaping.

For nearly four hours and a half, the father, Neil C. McMath, told in detail about the first meeting with a "masked figure," about a midnight conference held in a shuttered cabin of the power cruiser "Bob" in Wychmere Harbor; of a ride in the night when he was kept masked until his daughter was given to him and he was allowed a joyous meeting with her.

Crossley announced at the close of the day's proceedings he had one more witness to put on the stand, Peggy, who will testify tomorrow.

Plot Foiled

As San Marino Police Nip Plan to Assassinate High Officials.

San Marino, Republic on San Marino, June 20 (A.P.).—A plot to assassinate the two captains regent, presiding government officials of San Marino, the smallest republic in the world, seize the government and burn the city of San Marino has been uncovered by police.

Numerous arrests have been made here and in Italy.

The plot was disclosed in documents found on two young Sicilians, who were arrested in San Marino while photographing public buildings.

The documents revealed, police said, that the two were agents of a band which planned to invade the smallest and oldest state in Europe from Italy and start a reign of terror.

Besides the captains regent, several other government officials were slated for death. Thereafter a person, not named by the police, was to come to the republic to take charge.

Police did not learn a motive for the plot and did not reveal the names of the plotters.

Italian police were notified and were reported to have made several arrests in Italy.

Prof. E. O. Ulrich Marries in London

Prof. Edward Oscar Ulrich, 76, prominent geologist of the United States Geological Survey, was married yesterday in London, England, to Miss Lydia Seunhauser, 50, of Zurich, Switzerland, according to the Associated Press.

Prof. Ulrich, who sailed from the United States four weeks ago for London, has been a resident of Washington for over 40 years. He lives at Butternut street and Piney Branch road northwest, Takoma Park.

The couple met several years ago while Mr. Ulrich was traveling in Switzerland. They plan to return to the United States by June 28 and live in Washington. Two friends were present at the ceremony, which took place at the Henrietta Street Registry office in London.

Bids on Pump Buildings Will Be Opened July 6

Bids for the construction of the booster pumping plant buildings for the Washington Aqueduct, which will materially increase the District's water supply, will be opened, July 6 at the United States Engineers' Office, it was announced yesterday.

Other construction work on the project involves the building of a dam and sluice gates and other equipment. The District government is buying special pumps at a cost of $59,000 to provide the pumping power for the new water system.

Sock in Eye

Awaits Everyone Disliked by Jobless Man Made Rich by Legacy.

Pittsburgh, June 20 (A.P.).—Awaiting an inheritance of about $500,000 after being jobless three years, George C. Jones says he's going to "punch everybody I don't like on the nose" after he gets the money.

Jones has been notified that his grandfather died in Wales, leaving him $375,000, a royalty of $10,000 yearly on coal lands and "other securities." A lawyer is on the way to collect the money, he says.

Jones has been receiving aid from the welfare fund for nearly a year.

Surrounded by his wife and two children, Jones, 49, outlined his plans:

"First, I'm going to settle everything I owe. I'm going to pay back the welfare and give them a few thousand dollars extra.

"Then for two weeks I'm going 'round, and everybody I don't like I'm going to punch on the nose."

Funds for Bank Are at Standstill

The general subscription committee, raising funds to open the Hamilton National Bank, yesterday called attention to the need for more prompt response on the part of Washington business men. The committee has but $100,000 in stock yet to be sold. Reorganization of the institution from the seven restricted banks from which it is to be formed will require $1,250,000.

With the completion of reorganization details after the total amount of stock has been sold, approximately 50 per cent of the deposits in the restricted banks will be released to the depositors.

Roger J. Whiteford, prominent in legal circles in Washington, has been appointed counsel for the organization committee of the new institution, it was announced yesterday.

Brown Denies Report He Is About to Retire

Maj. Ernest W. Brown does not contemplate making application for retirement from the Police Department, he said yesterday, following published reports that he is giving consideration to the subject.

Maj. Brown was given a vote of confidence last night by the Washington Police Association. Hope was also expressed that the reports concerning the contemplated retirement of Maj. Brown were unfounded.

Kaiser Narrowly Escapes Accident

Amsterdam, June 20 (A.P.).—The former German Kaiser had a narrow escape from death while motoring recently in Holland, it was revealed today.

His automobile was crossing railroad tracks between Amsterdam and Haarlem when the bars were let down automatically at the moment when Wilhelm's motorcar was on the tracks.

One of the heavy bars hit the machine, damaging it considerably. The chauffeur was able to move the car from the tracks only a few seconds before a train hurtled past. The former Kaiser, unhurt, continued the drive.

LOOKING COLDLY AT A HEART-WARMING SUBJECT

Strip all the sentiment, all the pleasure and satisfaction from its ownership, and the home still represents an investment of unequaled worth.

The certainty of a home investment—the 100% value received for every dollar paid—can not be duplicated. When you convert your dollars into an enduring home you set a value on them comparable to gold . . . intrinsic value.

We will not speak of the happiness, the sense of security, the usable character of a home investment. This is a consideration of money dividends alone. So be it.

The family that buys a home today takes advantage of a money-making opportunity. Prices are still low; choice locations are still available; yet there is every indication of a rising market. You know what that means. Now if ever is the time to fulfill your desire for a home—and show a profit, too.

MR. BARUCH TAKES A HAND.

The return of Bernard M. Baruch to public affairs in a semi-official capacity is interesting and significant. The public is reassured when Americans of this caliber are ready to co-operate for the public welfare. One of the most devoted of the followers of President Wilson, Mr. Baruch never lost interest in national and international questions during the twelve years of Republican administration, and frequently was called into council by the Democratic minority when difficult problems arose.

In the stress of war preparations practical skill and varied business knowledge were imperatively demanded. Unprecedented problems arose in connection with the development of America's war energies and their co-ordination with the efforts of the nations fighting on the same side. By a process of natural selection Mr. Baruch found himself in charge of the manifold activities of the War Industries Board—a national agency possessing enormous powers and responsibilities. He encountered difficulties of statecraft and diplomacy as well as industrial obstacles, and by incessant labor contributed greatly to the solution of these problems to the advantage of the United States and the allied nations. America's stupendous concentration of forces for prosecution of the war was accomplished with a minimum of derangement of the daily life of the people.

It may help the New Deal to have some of the old dealers take a hand.

HONORS TO AL SMITH.

Harvard University has conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws upon Alfred E. Smith, former Governor of New York. He had already received similar honors from Dublin and Columbia universities.

In recognizing the statesmanship of Gov. Smith these institutions of learning honor themselves. They rightly appraise statesmanship for what it is—the practical and successful application of experience and common sense to problems of statecraft. Neither experience nor native judgment can be taught in schools. Integrity, too, is not in the curriculum. When a self-taught man makes his way through the currents of this world with constant increase of skill in dealing with men and measures, and steadily gains in public confidence, so that he becomes competent to administer a State, he is in fact a doctor of laws, and more—he is a statesman. Such men are all too rare in every country.

The happy combination of qualities with which Al Smith is endowed makes him in many respects a representative American. The country is delighted to see academic honors conferred upon him, because he has earned even higher honors in the "University of Hard Knocks."

EXPLORING THE ATOM.

No activity of science is more fascinating than the exploration of the atom. Within this minute unit of energy may be contained the secrets of all power. Out of the atom may come forces that can be harnessed for the benefit of mankind. Scientists are not yet certain that it can be done, but each year brings them nearer to the goal. The atom is yielding to the steady, persistent probing and battering of many laboratories.

It is quite appropriate that the latest report on the results of this conquest should emanate from the most extensive meeting of scientists ever held—the gathering of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at the Century of Progress Exposition. Prof. Ernest O. Lawrence outlined what many scientists consider a century of progress in this field, although it has been accomplished in a comparatively few years. Every one admits, however, that only a beginning has been made.

The attack upon the atom is stimulated by two motives. Science wishes to find out exactly how it is constructed, and to explore its possibilities as a source of power. Both purposes require a breaking down of the atom. To accomplish this science has perfected the "deuton," which is a kind of a bullet hurled at the atom with terrific force. One of the most powerful magnets in the world is used to whirl the deuton particles at a high speed and "fire" them at atoms of lithium.

Inaccurate marksmanship seems to be the greatest handicap in this experiment. Only one in about 1,000,000 of these atomic bullets hits the mark, but when the lithium atom is struck one of its many protecting walls is broken down and it releases alpha particles, or helium nuclei. The electric charge from the broken atom is nearly ten times as great as the charge that is required to break it down. It is this fact which encourages scientists to dream of producing limitless power from the atom.

Much more powerful magnets are being constructed with a view to breaking down the inner portions of the atom, where, science believes, still greater potential power will be found. "What it (the present experiment) shows," says Prof. Lawrence, "is that the nucleus of atoms holds imprisoned within itself, in great 'cosmic cupboards,' unthinkable reservoirs of energy. The deuton is a new key to one of the smaller doors. Other and more subtle keys will have to be designed for the 'cupboards within the cupboards.'"

A few years ago science gave nearly all of its attention to the world as a globe in the universe. Now it is striking at the nucleus of the substance of which the universe is made. Within a few years the wonders of science today may be commonplace compared with the marvels extracted from the heart of the atom.

UNCLE SAM'S ADVANTAGE.

The Washington correspondent of the London Times takes a novel view of the United States in attempting to account for the policies of the American delegation at the World Economic Conference. Instead of regarding this country as a Union of 48 States, he suggests that it is more realistic to think of America as a coalition of eight great economic regions—New England, the Middle Atlantic States, the Southeast, the Southwest, the Middle West, the Great Plains, the Mountain States and the Pacific Coast.

It would be going too far to say that legislation enacted by Congress is in the nature of treaties peacefully concluded between these regions. Nevertheless, this conception of the United States should help Europeans to understand the differences between political and economic problems on the two continents. Europe is a strange mosaic of national and racial lines. Each country is more or less a compact unit in which the population is largely of one race. But not a single nation of Europe is self-sufficient. Most of them must carry on considerable foreign trade to satisfy the wants of their people, and this trade is greatly impeded by tariff barriers.

The United States is more comparable to Europe as a whole than to any single country on that continent. Its resources are as extensive and varied as those of all the European countries combined. Yet where Europe is criss-crossed with tariff barriers, the 48 States, or the eight economic regions, as they are regarded by the Times correspondent, enjoy complete freedom of trade among themselves. The United States has a vast agricultural area; it has various mining regions; manufacturing thrives principally in the East, but industrial centers are scattered throughout the country; it has timber lands and prairies, semi-tropical regions and desert wastes. From the European economist's viewpoint it is more correct to view the United States as an empire than as a nation.

Each section has its regional interests, but it also has national interests. The needs and wants of the Middle West complement those of the East. The lumber of the Northwest can be exchanged for the cotton of the South, and so forth. Trade and commerce circulate freely through every region. The United States is the richest and greatest economic unit in the world.

Many European statesmen have been keenly aware of this great advantage which the United States has over Europe. While nature has divided this country into rather distinct economic regions, the absence of racial, traditional, linguistic or commercial barriers gives modern economic development free play in the United States. These advantages are not always realized by the American people, but wherever the nations of the world meet to discuss economic problems the unique position of the United States stands out in bold relief.

THE AIRSHIP MACON.

The airship Macon has been officially accepted by the Navy Department and will be commissioned on June 23 at Akron, Ohio, with Commander Alger H. Dresel in command. The Macon will proceed to the airship base at Sunnyvale, Calif., not later than October 20.

The late Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, was the prime mover in bringing about the construction of the Akron and Macon. The latter is much larger than the Akron, and commercial plans have been made for airships even twice as large as the Macon. It is proposed to build air vessels capable of transporting mail and passengers at express speed between Honolulu and the mainland, with ultimate extension of the itinerary to the Philippines. For the present, however, the Navy contents itself with the Macon, which in the future may be rated as a comparatively small ship. Admiral Moffett concurred with the contractors in the opinion that airships twice as large as the Macon would be found to be more efficient, economical and safe, proportionately, than smaller vessels.

American naval policy contemplates the use of airships as permanent components of national defense, principally for reconnoissance and intelligence purposes, but ultimately also for carrying airplanes. Congress seems to be disposed to develop airships in spite of the Akron disaster.

THOMAS CIRCLE.

Opposition to the plan of mutilating Thomas Circle has come from many sources, but it remained for the Fine Arts Commission to deliver what may be the fatal blow to this project. The commission regards the plan as the first step toward elimination of the distinctive circles which add so much to the beauty of Washington. From that viewpoint the plan is condemned without hesitation.

Traffic becomes congested at Thomas Circle during the rush hours because streams of automobiles pour into the circle from eight different angles. The plan disapproved by the Fine Arts Commission would run a street car line and one line of motor traffic through the present circle, on either side of the statue. It is rather difficult to understand how general traffic at the circle would be facilitated by this method. At any rate, the commission thinks that the plan is entirely experimental, and suggests another method of relieving the congestion.

There is no reason for maintenance of a nine-foot sidewalk around the circle. It is almost free from pedestrian traffic. A walk one-third that wide would serve the purpose. The Fine Arts Commission is not opposed to changes of this kind. It also suggests that the outer curb lines of the circle be pushed back in various places to facilitate the flow of traffic. If these changes are made, traffic might flow even more freely than with the circle altered to favor one street.

Every plan to sacrifice the beauty of the National Capital arouses opposition among the citizens. They feel that, if one circle should be mutilated, not one of the others would be safe, and soon the distinctive beauty of Washington would disappear. The District Commissioners will doubtless give due consideration to this aspect of the Fine Arts Commission's report. They are not merely called upon to decide an issue in which Thomas Circle is involved, but to formulate a policy that may carry over into the future growth and development of the National Capital.

Adjournment of the London economic conference is suggested as a means of making progress. It works that way with Congress.

Kentucky's high court holds that 3.2 beer is a soft drink, but it doesn't tell how it reached its conclusion.

It's a mighty small creek nowadays that isn't a candidate for an appropriation for flood control.

Homer Cummings reserves one barrel of his sawed-off shotgun for gold hoarders.

No five-hour day or four-day week for industrial recovery co-ordinators!

The course of world conferences never did run smooth.

RED FOR DANGER ONLY?

By WILLIAM ULLMAN.

Traffic, it must be granted, is an important phenomenon. Quite important! There are limits to the predominance it should be given over other considerations, however.

One of the most profound of these is that which has to do with the use of red. There are some few persons who think that red, having come to be used so universally as a symbol of traffic danger, should be limited entirely to this purpose to increase its effectiveness.

How ill-considered is such a proposal! How thoughtless are those who would impose a restraint on the use of red that would take away that simple, lovely vision, the little girl with the big red bow of ribbon in her hair! What would the countryside be without its big red barns and little red schoolhouses? What would the world's children think of a Santa Claus garbed in another color than red? Shall the spirit of giving as represented in the person of Saint Nicholas be symbolized by another color after all these years that traffic might have its danger signs unmodified by any other consideration?

And Nature! She would never, never agree, nor would any one want her to do so. Oblivious of traffic, she will go on producing red roses, tulips, geraniums. She will paint the countryside in the gloriously contrasting shades of red that appear only in the coloring of autumn leaves. Nature is fond of red. Would she cease to create her inspiring, exalting red sunrises and sunsets merely to relinquish their flaming tint to another and less cosmic purpose?

Perhaps there are some uses of red that the world willingly would surrender. Red ink, for instance. There are some who would give up Red Russia. Many gladly would see the end of the reddening effect of intoxicants upon noses, and of tears upon eyes.

These are some of the unlovely things, but red stands for too many that are lovely and joyously meaningful to see it limited to the sole purpose of identifying danger—inspiring fear!

INVENTORS' HARDSHIPS

From the Los Angeles Times.

Occasionally Congress does something worth while in the last moments' rush of business.

At midnight, in 1843, just before the close of the session, it appropriated $30,000 to build an experimental telegraph line from Washington to Baltimore. Whether it was half asleep or had a flash of genius is still a mystery.

Da Vinci, the painter, invented the wheelbarrow. S. B. F. Morse, the artist, receiving the gold medal of the Adelphi Society of Arts for his first work, "Dying Hercules," invented the electric telegraph.

The first model of his instrument was made on shipboard as he was returning to America in 1832—a trifle over 100 years ago. But it took eleven long years to beat down public prejudice and get it through Congress. It took thirteen heartbreaking years to interest alert business heads in his idea. For the first American telegraph company was formed to operate between Washington and New York in 1845.

Rebuffed in his homeland, he tried to sell his patent to England and failed. He offered it to Russia, with the same result. France adopted it and then absorbed it. However, he lived to see the child of his brain accepted by many European countries. He was ultimately honored with an international prize of $80,000—and a bronze statue in New York.

When he sent that first message, "What hath God wrought?" from Washington to Baltimore on May 24, 1844, he must have referred to the miracle of getting blind humanity to see one of the greatest benefactions of all times.

The way of the inventor is hard.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

LOSER AND VICTOR.

He was beaten from the start,
Beaten by his doubting heart,
And he had a ready ear
For the busy tongue of fear,
And he had a timid mind
Unto fretfulness inclined,
Filled with many reasons why
It was vain for him to try.

Given a task he'd shake his head,
"Can't do that!" he often said,
"Times are hard and none will stay,
Listening to the words I say,
It is futile now to try.
People simply will not buy!"
Thus he walked the streets of trade,
Both discouraged and afraid.

But another kind of man
Thought this way: Perhaps I can!
If I will supply the pluck,
Fortune may provide the luck.
If I have the grit to try,
There are people who may buy;
Anyhow, I'll not submit
To defeat before I'm hit."

One was beaten from the start,
Beaten by his doubting heart,
Beaten when he gave his ear
To the busy tongue of fear.
But another with his chance
Seized the moment to advance,
And came happy home at night
Just because he dared to fight.

The Lion in the Arena Spared He Who Once Drew a Thorn From His Paw

By ROBERT QUILLEN

ONE of society's most costly mistakes is its failure to make a friend of the former convict.

Imagine yourself standing outside the gates of a prison, facing a new life with no equipment except a shoddy suit of clothes and five dollars in cash.

You are not a professional enemy of the law. You are a normal, ordinary man who surrendered to temptation and was caught.

In prison you were a partizan of your fellow convicts and your guards seemed enemies. But no bond of sympathy united you with those who planned a return to crime. They gave you the names of underworld characters who would befriend you, but you had other plans. You meant to go straight.

Now you stand outside the prison—free—with five dollars in your pocket. You are hungry for your favorite foods, for the society of women, for countless things that cost money.

You have no job and five dollars will pay for no more than three meals and a night's lodging. You can't travel far in search of a job—not if you pay fare.

Nobody will employ you if your record is known. You are branded. If you change your name and try to blot out the past, somebody will recognize you and give you away.

You can't go back home to shame your relatives. They have nothing to give you—or they are unwilling to give. And you have no friends who are loyal after a lapse of five years.

You are an outcast. All peace officers regard you as a criminal still. Given the slightest excuse, they will arrest you or warn you out of town. The world is afraid of you.

These are your thoughts as you stand there in front of the prison. And your joy in freedom turns to the bitterness of despair. You are broke; you have no job; there is no honest thing you can do except beg. And you will be arrested for that.

What will you do? Imagine yourself standing there and try to think what you would do.

What would you do—standing there with cold fear gripping your heart and your spirit heavy with desperation and bitterness—if some stranger approached and called you Pal and offered to advance any reasonable sum of money against the day when you would earn it as a member of the gang?

The underworld has a place for former convicts who can find no place in lawful society.

Why doesn't society provide a place for them? It could save millions of dollars every year by doing it.

The State could take charge of every released prisoner, give him a job and shield him until his morale is mended. That isn't maudlin sentimentality. It is sound business. It is cheaper to feed a dog than to replace the sheep he will kill if you don't feed him.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Preserving Europe's Peace.

Kansas City Star.

Although the United States is not a party to the four-power peace pact which has just been initiated by the representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany, an agreement designed to preserve the peace of Europe for the next ten years naturally is an achievement of great importance to this country. Originally proposed by Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy, the pact plainly is intended to remove two specific threats to European peace, which, as the last war proved, also may mean world peace—Germany's demand for equality in armaments and the possibility that she might attempt to revise the Treaty of Versailles by force.

Clearing the Way.

Chicago Tribune.

Without repeal the country goes from bad to worse. With repeal it can hope to profit from experience, its own and that of other countries, and put the sale of intoxicants under such control as each State may decide to adopt. There is the Canadian system, as an example, and there are well proved systems in Europe. What will not work is the American scheme of absolute national prohibition. Nothing can be done about it for the better until the eighteenth amendment is out of the way.

Heroic Lads.

Detroit News.

A fine lot of upstanding young patriots, the reforestation army. To date not a single application has been filed for a pension on grounds of poison ivy.

Gold Edict Enforced.

Los Angeles Times.

Of the $600,000,000 in gold and gold certificates estimated as remaining in the hands of hoarders in New York, New Jersey and New England on May 15, despite the fact that this is our newest felony, about $100,000,000 was reported to have been held in New York City, though this amount has been considerably reduced in the last few weeks. Hoarders have been hounded by agents of the Department of Justice in a way to fill them full of apprehension, and even the most recalcitrant are said to be coming to time.

Barley Is Lagging.

Morris (Minn.) Tribune.

Of course, beer was going to make such a demand for barley that the price would go up, and this would afford a substantial measure of farm relief, according to the advance notices on which we were fed not so long ago. But what happened? Barley isn't performing according to the prospectus. Wheat is 10 cents over last year's price, rye 10 cents over, oats the same, flax 9 cents over, corn 7 cents over, but barley the beer maker is lagging 6 cents behind last year's price.

Both Are Defaulters.

Shakopee (Minn.) Argus-Tribune.

The fellow who rides around in a new 12-cylinder car and fails to pay his honest debts, gets little public sympathy. And he doesn't deserve any. How about the nation which sports a high-priced standing army and other extravagant war equipment and then defaults on its duly contracted obligations?

FINLAND.

(Finland Pays Debt Installment in Full."—Headline.)

Oh, France a major power is,
Quite rich and big and strong;
It is the land of champagne fizz
And women, wine and song.
The Finns are not like that at all,
And France would call them dull,
For when the bill collectors call,
The Finns they pay in full!

II

A mighty land is Italy—
No more a hollow shell;
She has a splendid history—
Her macaroni's swell.
The Finns do not compare with her—
(They're on the second crew);
All debts the little Finns incur
They pay when they are due.

III

Ah, Finland, it is just as clear
As nose upon a face
You're what we call a little queer—
A most peculiar race;
A very minor power, you
Will be devoid of pull;
You never ask a debt's review
And pay them off in full!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

National Neglect in Former Wars Impaired Health of Soldiers.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: When our present board of economic inquisitors calls on all war veterans of 30 years ago or more (Cuban, Philippine, Boxer) "to stand and deliver" irrefutable proofs that pensions received were earned in due harmony with such "orthodox" tests as Above Board has seen fit to demand, any student of those wars can only too easily discern in this attitude as much of governmental whitewash as of immediate economy.

While the veteran is thus held up as a "suspicious" character, meriting the keenest investigation under Washington's microscope, we are asked to overlook the fact that in the inefficiency of the War Department of that date and in the attitude of the Congress of 1898, which plunged into war without provision for the welfare of their own soldiers, these soldiers had far greater menaces to both health and life than in the bullets and bayonets of the enemy. Untrained, undisciplined, poorly armed, unsuitably clothed and fed, men were rushed into tropical fields where new diseases and unnecessary hardships promptly exacted their ghastly toll.

Nor was this indifference to the health of our soldiers limited to the brief campaign in Cuba. History and the testimony of participants show a similar carelessness in the conduct of our war in the Philippines. Even in the Boxer War our Government, by its "economy" in transport, food, clothing and medical care, received many uncomplimentary tributes from outside critics.

If any man ran the gantlet of his own Nation's "economies" in those days without impairment of health it was because he had an iron constitution.

PACKERS OFFER HOG MARKETING SCHEME

Basic Principles Are Thought Acceptable to Farm Act Directors.

(Associated Press.)

Through their trade organization, the American Institute of Meat Packers, a majority of the meat packing industry has presented the fundamentals for a proposed trade agreement covering the marketing of swine for approval by administrators of the farm act.

Some provisions were described yesterday as unacceptable to administrators of the act, but they were prepared to proceed toward drafting an agreement through which they hope to provide aid for both hog and corn growers by increasing long-range prices for swine.

Any trade agreement finally approved by Secretary Wallace would be free from antitrust law prohibitions which long have been opposed by many of the major packing concerns. Wallace has authority to enforce any agreement by refusing operating licenses to packers who refuse to abide by its provisions.

Packers Express Willingness.

The packers were reported to have expressed a willingness to abide by a system of fixed prices being considered for swine, to allocate distribution territory in the interest of lowering distribution costs.

They urged that any agreement be so drawn as to assure them of an adequate daily supply of hogs and to provide a fair return to them on their investment.

Administrators of the farm act are proceeding with two main principles in mind in addressing themselves to the problem of hog and corn overproduction. Corn is used chiefly as feed for swine.

They hope through a trade agreement to reduce the spread between prices paid producers of hogs and the scale of prices for hog products. They also are anxious to reduce the aggregate tonnage of swine by providing a system of premiums for medium weight hogs brought to packing plants.

Processing Tax Considered.

Consideration is being given a proposal to levy some processing tax on swine and to use some of the proceeds to pay benefits to farmers who agree to reduce their corn acreage.

All of the plans present difficult administrative questions and an effort to work these out quickly is being made under the direction of George N. Peek, chief administrator.

Meanwhile, other administrators took steps toward presentation of the wheat and cotton programs to the farmer.

Thousands of contract forms are being printed to be sent into cotton States to be distributed among farmers in putting Secretary Wallace's cotton acreage reduction plans into execution.

The program calls for removing from production up to 10,000,000 acres now growing and to levy maximum processing taxes beginning August 1 of about 4 cents a pound to finance the acreage reduction drive.

Wheat Belt Meetings.

The contract forms will be distributed to give farmers an opportunity to indicate whether they are willing to destroy part of their growing crop. As a consideration for retiring part of their acreage, Wallace is offering two methods of payment, a cash rental benefit based on the average production of the area retired and a lower cash rental with options on Government-owned cotton at 6 cents a pound or about 3 cents below the current market price.

A series of meetings in the wheat belt is being arranged by administrators of the wheat program which calls for paying cash benefits to farmers agreeing to reduce their acreage for 1934 and 1935.

The first meetings are planned for the two States producing the most wheat, Kansas and North Dakota, with other conferences through the wheat-growing regions to follow soon afterward.

These conferences will be preliminary to the setting up of county organizations of wheat growers through which the agreements to reduce output in the next two years will be solicited and through which the benefit payments will be made.

RECLAMATION PLAN COMPLETION ASKED

Ickes and Public Works Unit to Advise Use of Funds to Finish Projects.

(Associated Press.)

Stabilization of Far Western agriculture through completion of a Federal reclamation program financed with funds available under the public works act is to be sought of Secretary Ickes and the board controlling these funds.

A delegation from the National Reclamation Association paved the way for the request in a conference yesterday with Commissioner Elwood Mead of the Reclamation Bureau.

Headed by Marshall N. Dana, Associate editor of the Portland (Oreg.) Journal, the group told Mead it was opposed to new projects at this time, but felt a share of the public works funds should be used to repair and complete the existing Federal reclamation program.

It has been estimated that completion of the Federal program would cost nearly $25,000,000, but officials said yesterday the figures were tentative and that nothing definite had been worked out.

"The work we are asking," Dana said, "is necessary to stabilize Western agriculture. We are opposed to building new projects at this time but we want to clean up the Federal reclamation program."

He said one basic objective was to strengthen the existing system by providing adequate water facilities, lateral canals and other distributive sections so that production costs would be lowered on the irrigated acreage and self-subsisting farming provided to take care of "the many hundreds who, like pioneers, are coming back to the land."

The next meeting of the delegation will be with Secretary Ickes and Donald H. Sawyer, temporary administrator of public works. Later a conference is expected with the public works board of Cabinet officers, of which Ickes is chairman.

Mechanics Council Opens Conference

Richmond, Va., June 20 (A.P.).—A secretary's report of the Junior Order United American Mechanics national council in biennial session here today showed the fraternity has a membership of 270,000.

The report was submitted by James L. Wilmeth, of Philadelphia, national secretary, after a series of morning conferences in which was discussed legislation further restricting alien immigration in America and restricting alien labor on public works projects.

The report showed that the fraternity has paid out $74,500,000 in benefits during its 78 years of existence, and that 1,400 children, all orphans of deceased members, are being cared for in the order's two homes at Tiffin, Ohio, and Lexington, N. C.

The report was heard by more than 400 delegates, representing 43 States, attending the convention.

The meeting was opened formally today with addresses of welcome by Gov. Pollard, Mayor J. Fulmer Bright and reply by Judge George H. Ethridge, of the Supreme Court of Mississippi. A program of entertainment was planned for tonight.

Maryland to Name Repeal Delegates

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., June 20.—First steps looking to recording Maryland's sentiment for or against repeal of the national prohibition amendment will be taken here tomorrow when the nominating committee designated in an act of the last General Assembly, will meet to select delegates to a special election to be held September 12. The committee will meet in the Statehouse and its members will be luncheon guests of Gov. Albert C. Ritchie at the executive mansion.

The nominating committee is composed of 29, with 6 members from Baltimore City, and one from each of the 23 counties. The group will organize by the selection of a chairman and secretary, and its sole business will be the naming of 72 candidates for the balloting September 12. It was indicated today that this task may be accomplished with such dispatch that only one meeting of the committee will be necessary. Under the law the committee has until August 1 to complete the list. Montgomery County is represented on the committee by J. Bond Smith, of Takoma Park, and Prince Georges County by George N. Palmer, of Seat Pleasant.

2 Boys Sentenced For Burying Auto

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., June 20.—A case involving the burying of a stolen automobile came up in people's court today, the first of its kind known in local police circles. The machine, belonging to Arthur J. Weber, planing mill proprietor, was stolen on November 16, 1931. There had been no trace until hunters in the vicinity of Oldtown, noticing a peculiar mound, investigated and found the principal parts of a new car buried several feet.

A number on the machine led to the identification of the owner. In connection with the theft, Wayne C. and Dale C. Stevens, Oldtown youths, were sentenced to 30 days in jail today.

They said their older brother, Ira, had driven the machine home and persuaded them to help dispose of it. On account of their youth their sentence was made light, while no charge will be pressed against Ira, who is reported dying of tuberculosis.

The Meanderer

Finds Skin Cream That Men Are Using—Black Nail Polish—Fall Fashion Forecasts.

A bald-headed man fished hatless in the sun for five hours and did not burn his exposed scalp because it was protected with a special sunburn cream at least two Washington shops are selling to many customers. This large bottle of white sunburn cream sells for $1 this season, and is the same cream that had a price of $2 last year. If the fisherman, or the swimmer, or the tennis player wants to get a summer tan, he may use this cream lightly and will get his tan without suffering. A heavy layer of the cream prevents either tanning or burning. Important it is to know that this cream is not greasy or sticky. It penetrates the skin and is not at all discernible. Women vacationers will like to know that make-up may be applied over the sunburn cream.

Eight beauty preparations in a blue, tweed-like leather case, intended for week-end convenience, are selling now for $3.25 instead of $5, its price earlier in the summer. The package contains cleansing, astringent and hand creams, skin and hand finishing lotions, cream rouge and cleansing tissues.

Blonde, beautiful, smartly dressed in a black linen evening gown with tailored touches of white, was a young woman who attracted much attention at a dance held at a club frequented by Capital society. Her beauty and dashing gown were sufficient to have attracted attention, but her fingernails, "done" with black nail polish, made her "perfectly fascinating," as one young woman guest at the dance expressed it. The Meanderer hunted the black nail polish for those who want to emulate the allure of this much-admired person. It sells for $1, and is listed as onyx. Other interesting shades of nail polish include platinum, jade green, tomato and Chinese red, in addition, of course, to the much-eclipsed colorless, natural, and rose tints that still have adherents despite the almost generally adopted highly colored polishes.

A fragile, trailing evening gown of mousseline de soie in autumn colorings, will be modeled today at a fashion show especially staged by a local specialty shop for wives of Rotarians at the ladies' day meeting at the Willard Hotel. The fashion shop will follow the weekly luncheon. An interesting daytime suit of white cotton mesh worn with a laced jacket of red cotton mesh, a model by the much-favored American designer, Alice Smith, will also be shown. Among the models will be Mrs. Thomas E. Thrasher, Mrs. Katherine Marriot, Mrs. Peyton Clark, Miss Josephine Parks and Miss Helene Fortescue.

With today marking only the beginning of summer—the summer solstice, by the calendar—a lively newspaper on women's wear talks of clothes for the autumn. Woolens and fur are to cost more than they did last winter, according to one of the most important of the forecasts for fall. The silhouette for fall is to be trimmer this year, the style paper states. It is to be slim, slightly shaped through the waistline and wraps well over to one side. Design interest is to continue to be focused above the waist, chiefly around the shoulders and in the upper part of the sleeves. Black seems to have been voted a 50 per cent leadership for fall, with oxford gray, taupe, beige, olive green and cranberry red considered important.

Well-made nightgowns of floral prints, many with net bindings and net puffed sleeves, are priced at $1 in a shop selling dainty underthings in an F street speciality store.

Change of Venue Is Asked by Brill

Moorefield, W. Va., June 20.—Omar Brill, 21, pleaded not guilty in circuit court here this afternoon to the slaying of Miss Esther Burch, 17, and asked a change of venue for trial.

Judge G. K. Kump said he would pass on the change of venue motion Thursday and directed the defense in the meantime to submit affidavits in support of their plea. Trial Monday if no change is granted, was indicated by Judge Kump.

Brill had been indicted earlier yesterday afternoon for the slaying of Miss Burch and her mother, Mrs. C. L. Burch. He was arraigned and pleaded only to the indictment of the young woman.

Culbertson on Bridge

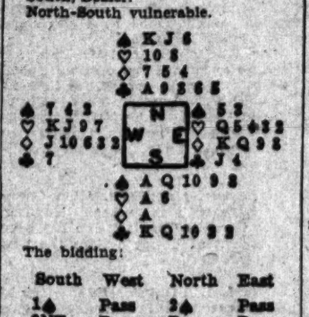
By ELY CULBERTSON

WHEN TO FORCE AND WHY

I FIND it difficult to determine which is the greater offense against the principles of sound Contract, the use of Forcing bids on hands of inadequate strength or the failure to use Forcing bids when the hands justify them. I am, however, inclined to think that the latter is the more costly, because the impression made on partner by a minimum bid on a hand which justifies an Opening Force is very difficult indeed to correct in later rounds of the bidding.

Mr. Max Seib of Summit, N. J., submitted to me the hand below and asked for my comment on the bidding.

South, Dealer.
North-South vulnerable.



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	2♠	Pass
3NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

In my opinion both North and South erred in their choice of bids. South has a hand of beautiful distribution, containing two five-card suits, a singleton and a doubleton. It is not only extremely strong in distributional values, but is fortified with 5 honor-tricks, which practically assure a game at the best declaration in the combined hands. North's hand does not suggest anything particularly thrilling, after an Opening bid of one, in the way of a final contract. It presents the choice of responding with either two clubs or two spades, and North cannot be greatly blamed no matter which choice he makes. However, the general principle that if you can give only a single Raise in your partner's bid suit it is advisable, if possible, to show another suit, should cause him to bid two clubs rather than merely raising his partner's bid once.

The proper bidding of the hand is: (Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

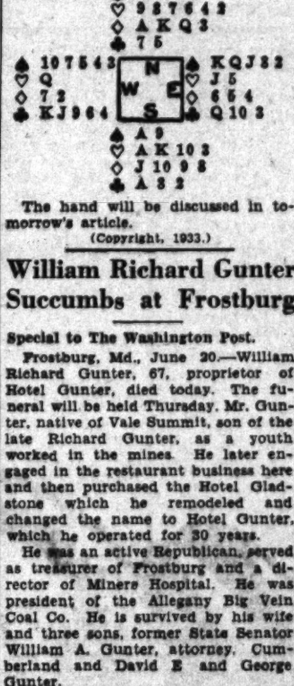
South	West	North	East
2♠	Pass	3♣(1)	Pass
5NT(2)	Pass	6♣(3)	Pass
7♣(4)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—North's hand contains 2 honor-tricks, a biddable suit and adequate support for spades.
2—South now knows, after his partner's bid of clubs, that the latter must hold the club Ace. Therefore a Slam, in view of his own distribution, appears practically inevitable. If North now responds with six clubs South should let well enough alone.
3—As a matter of fact, North's hand is too strong for him to sign-off with a bid of six clubs. He now discloses the fact that he has adequate support for his partner's first suit by bidding six spades.
4—South correctly reasons that the Grand Slam in clubs is much more certain than it could possibly be in spades in view of the fact that his length in spades must offer a chance to discard losers in the North hand. The fact that North has bid six spades rather than six clubs practically assures the solidity of the spade suit and hence the certainty of finding a place for needed discards of North's losers.

TOMORROW'S HAND

If North and South have to play the hand below at a Grand Slam, what should be the calls made by each in reaching that end?

North, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

"CANCER."

IF June 21 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a. m. to 9:30 a. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:15 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 12 noon to 1:45 p. m. and from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m.

The child born on this June 21 will probably be a difficult one to teach good habits to. He will be inclined to be slovenly in his dress and careless in taking care of his books, toys and other property. Neatness will not be one of his good points. Discipline and careful watching may result in improvement along these lines.

If June 21 is the date of your birth, you are probably a restless person. This restlessness is not the result of a desire for change, so much as it is a desire for advancement to bigger and better things. You are no doubt one who enjoys his own freedom and does all he can to keep out of any arrangements or alliances that would curtail his liberty in any way. You should strive to get into business for yourself. It is more than possible that you have "been on your own" from the time you were quite young.

Born on June 21, you have a strong feeling for family. Family ties mean much to you, and you would make many sacrifices, even of health and finances, in order to keep your family intact. To be "let down" by one of your family would be to you almost the cruelest blow. Your children will probably not have any great feeling of obligation or responsibility to you. You enjoy life and you live it to the fullest.

Successful people born on June 21: Horatio King, statesman.

Morris K. Jesup, merchant and philanthropist.

OPTIMIST MEMBERS WILL ELECT TONIGHT

Dinner-Meeting to Precede Three-Day 15th Annual International Parley.

The annual dinner-meeting of the Washington-Baltimore-Richmond Optimist district will be held today at the Hamilton Hotel. The meeting will precede the three-day fifteenth annual convention of Optimist International which will open tomorrow at the Mayflower Hotel.

One of the features of tonight's meeting will be the annual election of officers. District Governor Herbert B. Nevius, of Washington, will preside. Guests of the meeting will include a number of Optimists and their wives from distant parts of the country, who will be here for the international convention.

It is estimated that more than 700 delegates and members of clubs of 115 cities of the United States and Canada will attend the meeting. Following registration today at the Mayflower a dance will be held for the incoming delegates at the hotel.

Preparations for the convention were made several months ago by committees composed of members of the Washington, Baltimore and Richmond Clubs, working under the general direction of Henry Schaffert, convention chairman.

Members of the Boys' Club of Washington will have an exhibit of art, woodwork, handcraft and printing in the Junior Optimist display. Charles M. Fyfe, director of the Boys' Club, is chairman of the committee on boys' relations for the convention.

REPORT SHOWS NEED OF D.C. RELIEF FUNDS

Private Moneys Supported 67 Per Cent of Cases in Capital, Data Says.

The extreme need for municipal funds for outdoor relief which existed in Washington prior to the action of Congress this year, is shown in a report from the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor just issued, which shows the increase in demands for help during 1932 as compared to 1931. This report shows that Washington's private funds were supporting 67 per cent of the relief needs of the city in 1932, the largest percentage of any large city in the United States.

According to the report, Washington spent $528,474 for relief in 1931 and $1,378,736 for relief in 1932, an increase of 160.9 per cent over the previous year. In this year, according to the report, public funds took care of only 33 per cent of the relief needs of the city, while the median for 120 cities in the United States showed 87 per cent of the relief needs cared for by public funds as compared to 13 per cent of the needs for which private funds were used.

Action of Congress in permitting the expenditure of an increased amount of municipal funds for relief needs here, as well as making it possible for the Capital to obtain a certain amount of Federal relief, is expected to make considerable change in the figures for this year, but the fact remains, it is pointed out, that Washington's private contributions to relief have been much higher in proportion to the amount of public relief expended than those of any other large city.

West Virginia Factories To Add to Repeal Vote

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., June 20.—Factory workers of West Virginia will help materially in rolling up a big vote for repeal of the eighteenth amendment at the special election next Tuesday, D. E. McNicol, jr., member of one of the largest pottery firms of the State, said today.

Straw votes taken in the leading industrial establishments of the Clarksburg district, McNicol stated, disclosed that more than 90 per cent of the workers are in favor of repeal.

JOHNSON EXPLAINS HOW CODE OPERATES

Effect on Cotton Textile Operator Is Outlined by Administrator.

(Associated Press.)

This is an illustration of the way in which the new cotton textile code would affect John Doe, an average cotton textile worker, and James Roe, his employer, if put into effect:

John, as an average employe, would find his wages raised by 30 per cent and his hours of work reduced by 20 per cent.

He would work no more than 40 hours a week.

The least he would receive would be $10 a week if he worked in Southern mills, or $11 a week if he worked in Northern mills. This would be his lowest wage as an unskilled employe.

If he were an apprentice, cleaner or outside employe, however, he would not be affected by the agreement.

Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, has said, also, that the rate of pay might be higher after business picks up.

Textile Case Has Possibilities.

For James Roe, the textile operator, the case presents varying possibilities.

Textile operators who control two-thirds of the cotton spindles in the United States have agreed to accept the new agreement. If James is among these, he already is pledged to abide by the code after it becomes operative.

If he is not among these, he will have an opportunity to present his views, opposition or otherwise, at the hearing to be held here June 27, in the Commerce Department Building.

With him may come, also, consumers or workers who may be dissatisfied with the proposed agreement.

After the hearing, Johnson, acting upon the advice of his coordinators and the advisory board, will either approve the proposed code or ask for alterations. Then he will present the final draft of the code to President Roosevelt and if accepted by the Chief Executive it becomes legal and binding upon the industry.

Law Compulsory on Operator.

Whether or not James Roe approves of the code, he is required by law to put its provisions into effect in his plant.

If he does not he may be fined $500 for every day that it is not effective in his plant after the date it is put in force for the industry.

Should it become necessary, the case might be presented to the President to determine whether a license should be issued to Jams Roe to operate his plant.

If the case reaches this stage, James would be subject to a fine of $500 for every day that he operated without a license, or six months in prison, or both.

3.2 Beer Held Soft Drink and Taxless

Frankfort, Ky., June 20 (A.P.).—The Court of Appeals today held that 3.2 beer is a soft drink under Kentucky laws and can not be taxed under the act of 1906 levying a retail license tax on malt liquor.

The Commonwealth of Kentucky had between $150,000 and $200,000 of revenue at stake in the case. The money, which has been collected from retailers and wholesalers of 3.2 beer, has been impounded by the State pending a decision of the Court of Appeals. Between $120,000 and $130,000 has been collected.

The circuit court held the State Rash-Gullion act of 1922 repealed the 1906 measure, which levied the tax on malt liquor.

Agriculture Association Sought by Commission

Applications for positions as emergency agricultural assistant—paying $2,000 to $2,600 a year, subject to the various economy reductions—are being received at the United States Civil Service Commission, it was announced yesterday at that agency.

District of Columbia residents are excluded from the positions, which are open to those living in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina and Pennsylvania. Duties of the position are in connection with carrying out the agricultural adjustment act by contracting with farmers and farmers' groups.

GUARDSMEN ARREST SHERIFF IN GEORGIA

to Georgia by July 1 the $10,000,000 for roads under the public works program unless differences between the governor and the highway board are settled by that time. Washington officials said the martial law situation raised the question whether Federal agencies should deal with the governor or what Barnett claims is the present highway board.

Gov. Talmadge did not comment on this report.

The arrest of the deputy sheriff, Sidney Wooten, was made first by the governor himself, and later by Adjt. Gen. Lindley W. Camp. Wooten, arriving at the governor's office late today, was told by the governor that he was under arrest. Gen. Camp was called and took Wooten, under arrest, back to the courthouse. He advised the sheriff's office that "if any more officers are sent to serve papers on the governor we will arrest them and keep them in custody."

The paper was a notice of an injunction suit filed by Barnett and Vereen, naming the governor as a party, and temporarily restraining State Treasurer George B. Hamilton and Comptroller General W. B. Harrison from diverting highway funds.

Williams Plans Round-Trip America-to-Rome Flight

Will Survey Airlines Along Northern and Southern Ocean Routes.

Chicago, June 20 (A.P.).—Roger Q. Williams, who flew in 1929 to Spain in an attempted nonstop flight from Old Orchard, Me., to Rome, today announced plans for a round-trip crossing of the Atlantic to survey airlines to Europe.

Williams plans to take off July 24 from Municipal Airport, Chicago, for the Italian capital in a specially built plane now under construction at Newcastle, Del.

A copilot and a radioman, yet to be selected, will complete Williams' crew. The flight contemplates use of the southern route via Bermuda and the Azores on the trip across and the northern route on the return.

The plane—dubbed "the Flying Southpaw," after Williams, who is left-handed—will have a top speed of 165 miles an hour and a cruising speed of 120 miles an hour when loaded at its capacity of 16,000 pounds.

The ship will be equipped, Williams said, with blind flying instruments of the latest type, a short-wave radio transmitter and receiver, and instruments to record weather conditions along the routes.

"By traversing both the southern and northern routes within a short period of time," Williams said, "a comparison of weather data will give an accurate check on conditions in the North and South Atlantic at the same time of the year."

"To attempt to establish an airline across the ocean, the safest and most direct route must be selected for all weather."

Williams said he hoped the trip would be a trail blazer for 30-hour express and mail shipments across the ocean by planes. The Flying Southpaw will carry mail and express on the proposed flight, he said.

SWEATSHOP CHARGE HURLED BY FECHNER

Seeks to Have Conditions in Delaware Factory Made Better.

(Associated Press.)

Robert A. Fechner, director of the Civilian Conservation Corps, said last night he had made a complaint to the Secretary of Labor that the National Synthetic Wood Co., of Wilmington, Del., was using "sweat shop practices" in manufacturing cots for the corps.

"I have made a complaint that sweat shop practices are being used in the manufacture of these cots by the National Synthetic Wood Co., he said.

He said the complaint was made on the basis of information coming to him from Wilmington, but did not reveal its source.

His purpose in making the complaint, Fechner said, was to have the conditions remedied.

"We have no legal right to cancel the contract on this account," he said. "But I am trying to bring pressure to have conditions changed. The matter is now in the hands of the Labor Department."

Fechner said he had not been informed of any action by the department yet, but believed Labor Department officials would confer shortly with officials of the company.

He said he had no data available last night on the size of the order given the National Synthetic Wood Co., except that it was "very large."

More Fuel Is Used In Alcohol Blends

Completing exhaustive tests of motor fuels, the American Automobile Association announced last night that a fuel containing 10 per cent alcohol indicated blending of gas and alcohol produced 5 per cent less motor efficiency than regular gasoline.

The tests also developed, said the announcement, that heavier fuel consumption developed when the blended fluid was used and that it also required a richer flow for acceleration. The experiments, said the announcement, were conducted by the association and by the Bureau of Standards.

The road tests were made on the Mount Vernon highway on June 9 and subsequent laboratory work developed the findings.

Robinson Denies Experiment Slash

(Associated Press.)

Assurances that budget officials would not curtail agricultural experiment work by 25 per cent were given yesterday by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader.

Senator McNary, of Oregon, the Republican leader, protested to Robinson that Secretary Wallace and Budget Director Douglas planned to go through with the reduction despite a gentleman's agrement between party leaders just before Congress adjourned that this would be held up until after the opening of the next session.

The Senate adopted a resolution calling for postponement of the agricultural experiment and extension reduction, but this did not pass the House. However, Senator Robinson told Republican leaders this part of the order would not be made operative now and McNary said he was reassured to this effect yesterday.

Teachers' Check Wrangle Over

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., June 20.—Peace again reigns among the 30 teachers of Annapolis High School who a few days ago balked and refused to accept their pay checks for June, the final month of the school year when they were found to be more than 12 per cent short of their normal salaries.

They were so taken aback over the situation that they demanded a more detailed explanation, which was given today at a conference with George Fox, county superintendent of schools, and all hands went away happy.

In other words the teachers were told that the amounts deducted would be made good as soon as sufficient funds were available. Superintendent Fox explained that when the checks were made out for teachers throughout the county, funds available were short by $7,000 due to certain monies being tied up in the banks and an expected allotment from the State had not been forthcoming.

Policeman Is Shot Visiting in Virginia

William A. Fish, 29, colored, 302 M street northwest, private in the police department assigned to Fourth Precinct, was accidentally shot and fatally injured late yesterday while visiting in the home of Edward R. Moorman, colored, Carroll avenue extended, Lyon Park, Va. He was shot over the heart with his service revolver, the bullet emerging from his back. He died almost instantly.

After an investigation by both the Arlington County and Washington police, Coroner B. H. Swain, of Arlington County, issued a certificate of accidental death. Natalie Moorman, with whom Fish was visiting, told police that the gun fired when he attempted to adjust the safety catch on the front porch of the home.

The bullet passed through the man's body and embedded in a wall.

ROSE P. STOKES DIES IN GERMAN HOSPITAL

Former Radical and Social Worker Here Succumbs to Heart Disease.

Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, June 20 (A.P.).—Rose Pastor Stokes, whose radical activities in the United States brought her several terms in prison and a millionaire husband, died of heart disease today in the Frankfort Municipal Hospital. She was 54.

The body will be cremated and the ashes sent back to New York, where in the early years of the century her social work made her known as the "rose of the ghetto."

Mrs. Stokes, who was divorced in 1925 from James Graham Phelps Stokes and later married Isaac Romaine, a labor leader, entered the hospital here on April 15, and was operated on for cancer by Prof. Vito Schmieden. A heart ailment was given as the immediate cause of death.

Was Born in Russia.

Rose Pastor Stokes was born in 1879 at Augustova, Suwalk, Russia, and in her early years came with her family to London, whence they emigrated to the United States. They went first to Ohio and then settled in New York, where the young girl went to work in a cigar factory.

She became a celebrated figure in the East Side, writing for a Jewish newspaper, and met Mr. Stokes, millionaire Socialist, when he engaged in settlement work.

They were married in 1905. Her husband stoutly defended Mrs. Stokes the many times she was arrested in connection with radical activities.

Convicted of Espionage.

In 1918 she was convicted of espionage because in a letter to the Kansas City Star she made this statement:

"No government which is for the profiteers can also be for the people. I am for the people, while the Government is for the profiteers."

She received a ten-year sentence, but higher courts set the sentence aside and the case was eventually dropped.

In another case she was sentenced to ten years in Leavenworth Penitentiary for obstructing the draft. President Wilson commuted the term. She was indicted in Chicago with 85 Communists on charges of violating the Illinois antisedition law.

Her marriage to Isaac Romaine took place four years after the divorce from Mr. Stokes, and she was Romaine's wife at the time of her death.

CHILD STUDY UNITS REACH RECORD HIGH

More Than 500 Women in Attendance at Course of University of Maryland.

"There never has been a time when so many parents were organized into groups for studying the care of children, as at present," Dr. Valeria H. Parker, director of community organization of the American Hygiene Association, yesterday told the delegates to the sixth annual short course, held at the University of Maryland.

"A large percentage of the children who most need advice," Dr. Parker continued, "are the product of homes that have been broken by divorce. There are many subjects now taught in schools which can be arranged to give valuable information on the family relation."

Other speakers at the general session, held in the morning and attended by more than 500 women, were Miss Gertrude Warren, 4-H Club specialist of the Department of Agriculture, and Dr. Thomas B. Symons, director of the Maryland Extension Service.

Dr. Samuel H. DeVault, head of the department of economics of the University of Maryland, explained the relative importance of various forms of taxation and the sources from which the State and counties derive their revenue for public purposes.

Approximately 100 women, who complete their fourth year at the short course, will receive certificates at the special convocation, to be held Friday.

MITCHELL TAX CASE GOES TO JURY TODAY

Medalie Labels Sacrificing Story of Banker as "Rubbish."

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—Charles E. Mitchell's story of sacrificing his own fortune to aid the National City Co. was labelled "sanctimonious rubbish" today by United States Attorney George Z. Medalie in summarizing the Government's charges of income tax evasion against the former banker.

A Federal court jury which has been hearing evidence since May 11 will receive the case tomorrow after receiving instructions from Judge Henry W. Goddard.

"It was a terrific hoax!" shouted Medalie after he attacked the defense contention that Mitchell had stepped in to help the National City Bank and the National City Co. on October 29, 1929.

"Since they have brought in this sanctity, it is incumbent upon me to remove it from the case in order that you may not go to your deliberations thinking he is the public benefactor he would have you believe."

Answering the contention of Max D. Steuer, Mitchell's attorney, in his closing arguments yesterday that the former banker might have been singled out for trial, Medalie said:

"The people have as much right to expect that such men shall be prosecuted if they betray their trust as a fraudulent merchant or little bank teller."

BROWN SEEN CHOICE FOR DELEGATE POST

Arlington County Republicans to Name Candidate at Caucus Tomorrow.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

With the announcement made Monday from county Republican headquarters that there is strong indication that William Mosley Brown would be the party's candidate for the House of Delegates from Arlington County, John Locke Green, the independent candidate, who is in a receptive mood for the nomination, gave out the following statement yesterday as to his stand:

"As far as I am concerned, this is a campaign of issues and principles. Throughout the remaining period before the 7th day of November I will try to be as definite as possible concerning these issues, which are of great concern to the people of Arlington County and the State as a whole.

People's Fight Seen.

"This is a fight of the people against confiscatory taxation and utility rates. It is perfectly natural for me to be opposed by certain groups and elements, whose interests are contrary to the things which I am advocating. However, I am not asking for support among these groups. It is to the people that I am taking this fight, and whatever their wish is in the matter I will abide by it.

Would Accept Nomination.

"It is generally known that I have been a Republican. That I don't deny, nor do I offer any apologies for having supported Republican candidates, but at this time this is not a party fight as I see it. Something greater is involved, a clean-cut fight against some of the vested interests, who have a strangle hold on the State of Virginia." I have said that if the Republican party chose to nominate me for the House of Delegates I would accept the nomination."

The county convention will be held tomorrow night in the Lyon Park Community House when the candidates will be chosen together with delegates to the State convention which meets in Lynchburg July 3 to 6 inclusive, at which time candidates for governor will be selected.

G. O. P. Picks Delegates June 30.

Delegates and alternates to the State Republican convention to be held in Lynchburg July 3 and 4 next will be selected at a meeting June 30. Candidates for local offices also will be named at this meeting.

Bad Weather Over Alps Again Delays Ocean Hop

Orbetello, Italy (Wednesday), June 21 (A.P.).—Weather conditions over the Alps, it was said early today, would not yet permit the departure of a squadron of 24 Italian seaplanes, under the command of Air Minister Balbo, which plans to fly to the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago by stages.

Gen. Balbo said he would no longer await the arrival of a supply ship in Cartwright Bay, Labrador, before leaving.

MacDonald's Chum Refuses to Testify

Flint, Mich., June 20 (A.P.).—William Terwilliger, 16, companion of Balfe MacDonald on his flight from Flint on the day his mother, Grace B. MacDonald, was slain, today took the witness stand in Balfe's Justice Court hearing on a charge of murder, and refused to answer the questions put to him by Prosecutor Andrew J. Transue.

On the advice of counsel, Terwilliger answered every query of the prosecutor, no matter how simple, with "I refuse to answer," or "I won't answer." Prosecutor Transue sought to have the youth held in contempt of court by Justice Frank Cain, but the court declined to grant the request.

Prosecutor Transue said he would attempt to introduce Balfe's unsigned confession into the court records. Both boys have refused to sign transcriptions of statements police said they made, in which Terwilliger was quoted as saying Balfe admitted to him striking his mother, and in which Balfe, police said, admitted striking his mother repeatedly with the heavy petrified wood book ends.

Since 1924 Frau Zetkin spent most of her time in Russia, although repeatedly elected to the Reichstag. She made a trip to Berlin last year to preside, as its oldest member, over the opening session.

She died in her sleep at the sanatorium in Archangelskoye, near Moscow, where she had made her home since June, 1932.

26th Hindu Is Slain In California Feud

Sacramento, Calif., June 20 (A.P.).—Hindu slayings in California during recent years were brought to 26 today by the fatal shooting of Durham Singh on Ryer Island, in the Sacramento River, 65 miles from here.

Officers arrested Lackman Singh, described as a former Hindu priest, and held him for questioning.

Federal authorities in San Francisco recently charged, in connection with a deportation case, that a number of the slayings were instigated by an organization which aided in smuggling Hindus into the United States.

Farmers Will Get Better Milk Price

Chicago, June 20 (A.P.).—Farmers will get better prices for milk, and competitive abuses will be eliminated, Dr. Frank E. Rice predicted today, when the evaporated milk industry's "marketing agreement," formulated under the agricultural adjustment act, is made effective. Its terms were made public here today.

Framed by the Evaporated Milk Association, the agreement will be submitted to the Secretary of Agriculture at a public hearing June 29. Power is vested in the Secretary to enforce its provisions.

Prices for raw milk at evaporating plants will be paid according to a formula which takes butter and cheese values into account, as those products utilize 39 per cent of the raw milk supply, Dr. Rice said. The formula will vary from one dairying section to another because of special conditions.

with the President was to advise him in detail of developments transpiring at the economic conference in London since the President left Washington last Friday.

"At the conclusion of his report to the President, Secretary Moley was given final instructions."

The Assistant Secretary will be accompanied by Herbert Bayard Swope, formerly editor of the New York World, who will be his special adviser.

Roosevelt at Gloucester.

Gloucester, Mass., June 20 (A.P.). The yawl Amberjack II, skippered by President Roosevelt and bearing his son and a party as crew, entered the outer harbor at 10:50 p. m. (E. S. T.).

The presidential party weighed anchor from Nantucket this morning, and had intended putting into Provincetown on the tip of Cape Cod, but the favorable sailing weather caused "Capt." Roosevelt to sail on across Massachusetts Bay in the hope of making up time lost during heavy weather yesterday.

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—Prof. Raymond Moley, Assistant Secretary of State, arrived in New York late today after conferring with President Roosevelt aboard the Amberjack II about the world economic conference.

Moley will sail for London tomorrow to present to the American delegation additional instructions from the President. He flew here in a seaplane, alighting at Floyd Bennett Field.

Meanwhile Bernard Bargeh, who has been in Washington as a liaison officer between administration officials and the delegation, came to New York and said he expected to see Moley tomorrow morning before he sails.

ADJOURNMENT IS PARIS AIM AT LONDON AS DOLLAR SAGS

to quiet protests by other delegations that the Americans have no program.

The Nevada senator announced early in the day that his proposal "was entirely satisfactory to our delegation and has the approval of the President of the United States."

Restoration of Price Levels.

Both Mr. Pittman and James P. Warburg, American financial expert, made it clear, however, on the floor of the subcommittee of the monetary commission that the United States was not yet ready to go back to a fixed monetary standard until it was sure that preparatory work, such as restoration of the price levels, has been completed.

French efforts to interpret the Pittman resolution as committing the American Government to immediate return to the gold standard were thus squelched.

Lord Hailsham, British war minister, speaking for his country which also is not yet ready to return to gold, presented an amendment to the American resolution leaving the time and the parity at which the nations will return to the former standard to the determination of each government, and this was accepted.

Belgium and Poland Balk.

The French continued at odds with the American proposals at various points but ran into unexpected opposition from some of her own political allies when Belgium and Poland attacked the quota system for admitting imports which France invented and has vigorously applied.

Only to the most general aspects of the Pittman plan did the French adhere, saying that others were "so novel" that they must receive study.

In the economic commission the delegate of France clearly indicated that his country will resist the efforts of great wheat producing countries to get European states to import more wheat in face of their own high-priced, protected product.

The American program on tariffs and trade agreements remained officially unclarified today after the delegation's disclaimer of suggestions presented for the agenda by the American experts, including a general 10 per cent tariff cut.

Authoritative quarters expected, however, that the American representatives would seek a continuation of the tariff truce to combat the embargo and quota systems and would urge conclusion of trade agreements between countries where these would be advantageous.

Under this program the United States might negotiate various agreements similar to the Anglo-Argentine pact.

The British took a prominent part in today's proceedings, pressing for credit expansion, which is also an important part of the American program.

Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, introduced a resolution calling upon central banks to pursue a vigorous, open market policy. The resolution said in part:

"The fundamental monetary conditions of recovery of prices are that deflation should cease, that cheap and plentiful credit should be made available and that its circulation should be actively encouraged."

Both the Pittman and the Chamberlain resolutions appeared to have strong support in the conference, with several important quarters expecting their adoption.

Conference work was continued in public meetings of committees today, but preparations were made for a breakdown into smaller groups.

Senator Pittman was chosen to head a small group to consider the silver angles of his resolution. This subcommittee will hold a private meeting tomorrow.

Another small group to consider the central banking aspects of the Pittman resolution is yet to be appointed.

Chicago, June 20 (A.P.).—Mrs. Bessie Opas, 36 years old, blonde, and the mother of two children, was formerly charged tonight with conspiracy to murder her husband, Marion, 37, owner of an automobile sales company. The charge was filed after attorneys sought to obtain her release on a writ of habeas corpus. She sat calmly in her cell and denied that she had confessed hiring four youths to kill her husband to obtain $30,000 insurance and a $10,000 bank account.

Police said the four youths, ranging in age from 17 to 21, had admitted agreeing to kill Opas to receive $50 "in advance." The youths are Dominick Zullo, 19; John de Salvo, 17; Angelo Masso, 21, and Harry Leahman, 18.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

RADIO was one of the marvels at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904, when Dr. Lee DeForest and other pioneers made the wireless spark crash across the gaps to astound the visitors. It is a vastly different radio now unfolding its magic at the Century of Progress.

Gone is the romantic spark. The silent electron tube called "the symbol of the age" is the main actor at the Chicago show, just as it is in all branches of radio science throughout the world today. In fact, this part of the Century of Progress exhibition is heralded as "largely an electronic affair."

"Radio Hall" occupies 10,200 square feet. The display features a color organ, a replica of Radio City, an electrical map of the broadcasting networks and pictures of radio's progress since 1900.

Fannie Brice, who disagrees with George M. Cohan's injunction, "Always leave them laughing when you say good-by," has been doing some really serious bits on her programs with George Olsen, in addition to the "Mrs. Cohen" comedy skits.

George will play a new one tonight from manuscript, "The Duke Is on a Bat." (WRC, 7 o'clock).

Dave Rubinoff, on tour with his orchestra, estimates that during the spring he was asked to look at 250 alleged Stradivarius violins. Practically all were spurious.

THE All Star After Dinner Club will offer another ethereal feast tonight (WJSV, 9:30 o'clock). At your service will be Strickland Gillilan, Marguerite Cromwell, James Wilkinson and the Do Re Mi Trio.

Homer Saint-Gaudens, director of the department of fine arts of Carnegie Institute and son of the great American sculptor, August Saint-Gaudens, will be heard over the WEAF network this afternoon at 4:15 p. m. (but not WRC), if he arrives home from Europe in time.

Homer Saint-Gaudens was stage director for Maude Adams when the late Ralph A. Graves, former dramatic editor of The Post, and later with the National Geographic, was the personal representative of Miss Adams. They were associated with the famous actress at the time of her greatest success.

THERE is now talk that if the series continues Will Rogers may be persuaded to return to the Sunday night programs. If he is he should remember the song his old friends, Montgomery and Stone, used to sing, "Quit While the Goin' Is Good."

Thus far Will Rogers has been smarter than the rest of them by not giving the etheral audiences enough to tire them of him.

Walter C. Kelly, "the Virginia Judge," will share the time with Arthur Brisbane next Sunday night in the old Rogers period. The Brisbane contract is for six weeks.

Irvin S. Cobb (WJSV, 8 p. m.), for one, is all in favor of caricaturists.

"As far as I'm concerned," he confided to the radio audience on a recent broadcast, "the greater the caricature, the greater the likeness. A comic artist once made a caricature of me and it looks so much like me that I use it to shave by."

RUTH BRYAN OWEN, United States Minister to Denmark, and T. A. Stauning, prime minister of that country, will speak to thousands of Danish-Americans assembled for Danish day at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago (WMAL, 2 p. m.).

Gov. Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota will speak when the Minnesota Exhibits Building at the Century of Progress is dedicated with a jug of water brought from the source of the Mississippi (WMAL, 5 p. m.).

Several new groups of entertainers, including a harmonica ensemble which has been trained by George Haab, champion harmonica player of Virginia, will be heard during the meeting of the Corn Cob Pipe Club over WRC at 9 p. m. The Possum Hunters, a fiddling aggregation from the Shenandoah Valley, will fill a return engagement.

Katherine Tucker, general director of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing, will answer the question, "Will Health Outlast the Depression?" on the Woman's Radio Review at 2:30 p. m. over WRC.

COMMISSIONER HAROLD A. LAFOUNT, of the Fifth Radio Zone, which comprises the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast States, plans to spend the period from July 5 to August 5 visiting broadcasting, police, radio communication, in fact, all classes of radio stations in 30 cities in those States.

It isn't generally known that Jack and Loretta Clemens, young song-and-piano team heard regularly, are related to the late Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens). They really are brother and sister.

In answer to numerous requests, a special presentation of "The Monkey's Paw," a weird mystery play by W. W. Jacobs and Louis N. Parker, will be broadcast over WMAL at 9 p. .

"Jeux d'Eau" (The Fountain), a sparkling descriptive composition by the French modernist, Maurice Ravel, is outstanding on the program Mischa Levitsky, celebrated young American pianist, will play over the WEAF network, but not WRC, at 9:30 p. m. "Valse Humoresque in D Major," by Sigismund Stojowski; Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 13;" "Staccato Etude," by Rubinstein; Brahms' "Rhapsody in B Minor" and the "Valse Brillante in A Flat Major," by Chopin, will complete Levitski's recital.

JUST thirteen years ago Florenz Ziegfeld produced one of his most tuneful and successful musical shows, "Sally," which catapulted Marilyn Miller to stardom. Tonight, at 7:15 p. m., over WJSV, Mark Warnow will present his tabloid version of "Sally," with Rhoda Arnold, soprano, and Charles Carlisle, tenor, in the singing roles.

A New Yorker at Large

By MARK BARRON.

NEW YORK—Jimmy Mattern is no novice at crack-ups. It was more than several months ago when I first met him, and he related the tale of a parade of them he had just experienced.

He received a telegram in Chicago one night inviting him to be a judge at some air races in Florida. Borrowing a plane that had seen its best days, he started south, but crashed into an Indiana corn field.

No Odyssey.

He borrowed another one and started out again, this time coming to grief amid the Georgia sand hills. With the aid of a pair of aviator pals going in the same direction, he hitch-hiked his way via the clouds on to Florida, arriving the night before the races.

A friend of his was just going out on a yachting party and Jimmie joined him. The yacht broke down at sea and didn't get back in until two days later, too late for the air races.

A Short Shortage.

A midget famine has suddenly struck New York. One could stroll through the theatrical section of the West Forties practically any moment and encounter two or three dozen of the little men and women. But it is rare indeed that you see one there now.

The secret is that they've all gone to Chicago. They have a midget village there. In the meantime the few that remain here are finding jobs plentiful.

Midgets have an extraordinary sensitiveness and are displeased if you call attention to their short stature. A well-meaning restaurant proprietor on Eighth avenue discovered this to his sorrow.

A dozen of the little fellows had been eating at his place regularly for many months. To show his appreciation he had a number of tall chairs built especially for their convenience. The whole group walked out and never went back.

Up From the Track.

For several years Buck and Bubbles have been rated among Hollywood's favorite dance teams, and you have to be good indeed to win attention in that neighborhood where every one seems to be an expert dancer.

Under their original names of Ford Lee Washington and John Sublett, they first met seventeen years ago when both were booting 'em home on Kentucky race tracks.

A fortunate session back of the stables with what they call the gallopin' dominoes gave them an unexpected capital and they headed north. Finding few horses to ride, they started a song and dance act.

The Aquarium is closed every Monday morning while it is given its weekly bath.

RAILWAY EQUIPMENT PLANTS GET ORDERS

Upturn in Business Gives Roads New Courage; Repairs Speeded.

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—The recent upturn in railway traffic coupled with the increasingly large amount of bad-order equipment on hand, has brought hope to the equipment manufacturing industry.

A belief that better times are coming is also based on the provision of the national industrial recovery act which would empower the President to aid in the financing of such railroad maintenance and equipment as may be approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The locomotive division obviously has had the toughest trip of any of the equipment sections throughout the depression. Last year the railroads ordered no steam units for domestic use from the country's locomotive builders.

During the period 1922 to 1926 the railroads purchased an average of 1,662 engines annually.

The percentage of locomotives in need of classified repairs has reached the highest total for the past decade. It is estimated that only about 17 per cent of the locomotives now owned by American railroads are strictly modern, while approximately 50 per cent are said to be more or less obsolete.

The substantial number of bad-order freight cars also indicates that rolling stock will have to be replenished as soon as conditions permit. It is estimated that approximately half of the 2,000,000 freight cars owned by the steam carriers are more than 20 years old.

Cotton Textile Plants In $4,000,000 Merger

Charlotte, N. C., June 20 (A.P.).—Merger of the cotton textile manufacturing plants of the Springs interests in South Carolina, operating 350,000 spindles, was announced here today by Capt. Elliott White Springs, president. The plants have an aggregate capitalization of more than $4,000,000.

The merger was perfected by directors of the Lancaster Cotton Mills, of Lancaster, S. C., and the Kershaw Cotton Mills, of Kershaw, S. C. A new corporation is being formed, the name of which will be announced later. Southeastern Cottons, Inc., of which Howard E. Coffin is chairman, will be the sole selling agents of the new corporation.

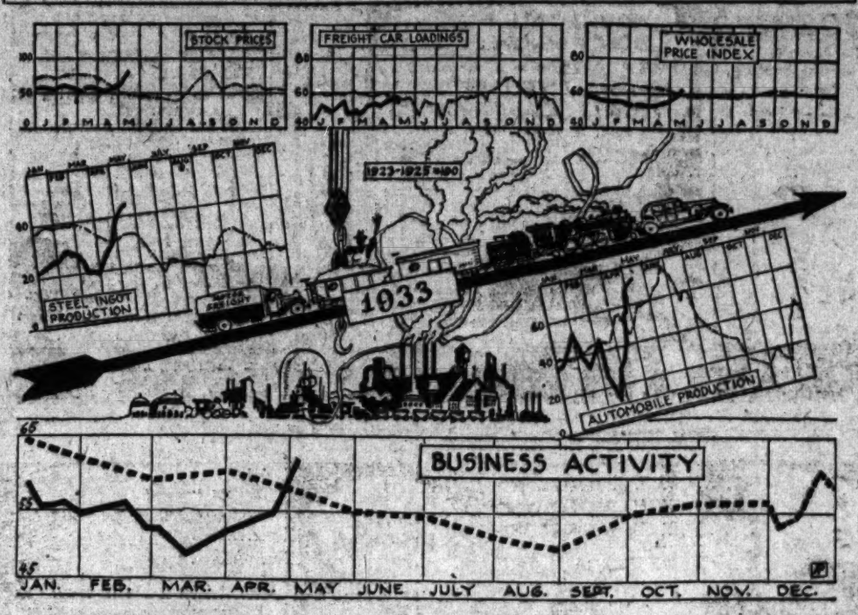
IS BUSINESS HEADING BACK TO PROSPERITY?



New York, June 20 (A.P.).—The heavy downward lines of 1932 on the charts showing business conditions of 1933—the first time that so many major statistical indicators have been able to exceed the previous year since the depression began.

Statisticians smile as they point to the fact that the heavy industries, such as steel and automobile production, finally are improving after an almost continuous slide since 1929.

Commodity Prices Improve.

Basic hope that present business recovery will carry through to normality lies in the improvement of commodity prices all along the line, and the prospect that the tremendously important construction industry will receive the needed stimulus from proposed government public works projects.

By the middle of May commodity prices reached a high for this year, and are higher than a year ago at this time.

Railroad carloadings, while not quite to the mark of last year in the same period, approached very near it. Electric power production, indicating increased use on the part of industry, slightly exceeded last year.

Steel Production Greater.

Steel ingot production, definite indicator of the heavy industries exceeded last year by a considerable margin. Automobile production also has exceeded expectations.

These statistics, plus almost every other indicator, have moved upward enough so that the general curve of business activity, combining many statistics, has now surmounted that of last year.

Statisticians also point with some degree of confidence to the extremely low rate of decline in recent months, as indication that a bottom resistance level has been established. Few are making definite predictions that the turn has been reached, but the majority are more hopeful than in many months.

Wheat, 4,000 bushels against 4,000; barley, 469,000 against 152,000; corn, 125,000 against 40,000; oats, 18,000 against 33,000; rye, 5,000 against 3,000.

Canadian grains exported last week from United States ports amounted to 330,000 bushels against 395,000 bushels the previous week, while exports of North American wheat flour were 55,000 barrels against 83,000 barrels.

Wall St. Briefs

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—It is currently estimated, on the basis of figures of individual roads already published, that freight carloadings for the week ended June 17 will show the largest percentage of the 15-year average since April, 1932, and the fifth consecutive weekly gain over the previous year.

The board of governors of the New York Cocoa Exchange, in response to a petition from members, has reversed its previous ruling and ordered the exchange closed on Saturdays during July, August and September, with the exception of Saturday, July 1.

World consumption of petroleum in 1932 is estimated at 1,317,000,000 barrels, of which gasoline represents 40 per cent, according to an analysis by V. R. Garfias and R. V. Whetsel of the foreign oil department of Henry L. Doherty & Co. Total consumption was only 56,000,000 barrels or approximately 4 per cent below that of 1931, it was figured.

Commodity Exchange, Inc., on which several staples are traded in New York, will be closed on Monday, July 3.

The machinery industry is wondering how the industrial recovery act may affect its business, says American Machinist. The publication adds: It is obvious that while a drive is on to get men back at work in industry, efforts to sell labor-saving equipment will face many obstacles. When industry hits its stride again there will be plenty of opportunity for machinery sales because reduced hours and old equipment will combine to restrict production below demand. Until then, however, equipment builders and distributors do not expect very active business."

The New York Curb Exchange has increased salaries of its 634 employes 10 per cent. There had been several reductions during the depression, the latest taking place in 1932.

Stocks of refined lead in the United States on May 31 totaled 197,109 short tons as compared with 196,827 on April 30 and 174,452 at the end of May, 1932, reports the American Bureau of Metal Statistics. May production was 28,488 tons, against 27,950 in the previous month and 29,679 a year ago.

U. S. Dollar Drops To New Low Level

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—The American dollar tumbled to further low levels today in foreign exchange markets as Europe apparently concluded that Washington would have nothing to do with currency stabilization proposals at this time.

The British pound sterling was the feature of trading with a jump of 4½ cents to $4.19¼ for cables, the highest rate for this currency since England shelved the gold standard in 1931. The pound eased at the end of the day, however, to $4.18¼.

French francs, like sterling, relinquished some of their earlier gains, but finished at 4.83½ cents, for a net advance of .02 of a cent. Dutch guilders were up 1-5 of a cent to 49.40 cents and Belgian belgas and Swiss francs gained around 1-10 of a cent each. Canadian dollars retained a gain of 5-16 of a cent at 90 cents.

Silver Price Unchanged.

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—Presentation of the Pittman currency plan to the monetary committee of the Economic Conference was followed by comparatively light activity in the market for that metal here today. Bar silver was unchanged at 36 cents an ounce, while futures showed small gains in rather light trading.

GOODS MARKET.

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—Cotton goods were in sharp demand today for spot delivery. Few contracts were being accepted pending the operation of the industrial recovery act. Wool goods were firm and buying light. Rayon was firm and sales light. Burlaps were somewhat easier and sales small.

COTTON PRICES CUT ON SELLING DRIVES

July Sells at 9.12, With the General Market Down 9 to 12 Points.

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—A further advance of some 11 to 13 points in cotton in the early trading was followed by reactions under realizing and scattered selling, which appeared to be influenced by the easier ruling of the grain and stock markets.

October contracts, after selling up to 9.61 on the early demand, declined to 9.37 and closed at 9.38, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 9 to 12 points.

The opening was 6 to 8 points higher on a renewal of yesterday's buying movement, which seemed to find some additional encouragement in the early firmness of sterling exchange and relatively steady Liverpool cables.

The early bulge encountered considerable realizing and some Southern selling and the market eased off during the afternoon when demand was less active and reactionary sentiment was promoted by less favorable action of the stock market.

July sold off to 9.12 and December to 9.54 or about 22 to 24 points from the high prices of the morning and the close was within a point or two of the lowest.

Bonds Climb Again In Spite of Selling

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—Speculative operations lost some of their fervor in the bond market today, but prices, as a whole, displayed strong resistance to a large volume of profit-taking.

Trading was quite active throughout, with leading issues up substantially in early trading. While the dollar again weakened in foreign exchange markets, and business news continued optimistic, secondary loan groups apparently were unable to withstand the sagging movement in stocks and commodities.

Most of the favorites, however, closed with their heads above water and the average for 60 domestic corporate bonds advanced .3 of a point. Sales totaled $17,579,000, par value.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—The buoyancy in Wall street caused cheerfulness and a general improvement on the Stock Exchange today. Commodity shares and transatlantic issues were especially firm, being assisted by the weakness in the dollar. Kaffirs, rubber and oil shares were freshly supported, but giltedged securities and foreign issues were dull. The closing was steady.

Paris—Wall street's optimism only mildly stimulated the market here, which is still cautious over the world economic conference difficulties. Royal Dutch and De Beers shares were favorites. The closing was firm.

Berlin—Trading was dull and prices closed lower on the bourse today.

Spirited Stock Rise Is Lost In Sustained Profit-Taking

Some Issues Gain in Spite of List's Drop; Sales, 5,463,020 Shares.

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—Profit taking leveled off the stock and commodity markets today.

Shares had a steaming advance in the early trading, but gains of fractions to around 3 points were enough to bring out stock and prices tended to drift lower during the balance of the day. Offerings became a little more aggressive toward the close as "stop-loss" orders were uncovered and the net result was an assortment of 1 to 3 point declines.

A few shares finished higher. Volume, which assumed huge proportions in the first hour, tapered off as prices eased. The day's business came to 5,463,020 shares.

U. S. Steel Down.

At the close, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Allied Chemical, General Motors, International Telephone, Montgomery Ward, Case, Harvester, North American, New York Central, Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Southern Railway were down a point or more. American Telephone, which more than made up its $2.25 dividend at the opening, yielded 2 net. American Tobacco "B," Du Pont, Western Union and National Distillers sagged 2 to 3. American Can, United Fruit and American Sugar displayed marked firmness.

Markets were still deeply interested in currency problems and prospects, especially in a reiteration of the Government's view that stabilization is not to be expected for the present. The level to which Washington wants domestic prices restored before it will consider settling the dollar is seemingly being left open, meanwhile, the country is witnessing a revitalization of business which, while influenced by inflationary forces, does not appear, in the opinion of some observers, to be due entirely to those factors, at least at this stage.

Further Trade Rise.

There was further evidence of this improvement in today's reports. Several Western railroads disclosed a good rise in car loadings for last week as compared with a year ago, and statisticians figured that total freight traffic, on the basis of available returns, would show another large percentage gain over 1932. One computation put the probable loadings handled by the carriers at around 64 per cent of the average for the past 15 years.

Wage increases, being announced with increasing frequency by manufacturing companies, are helpful to the general cause of recovery. Many of these restorations represent only part of total deductions during the past three years or so, but the trend appears to have turned in favor of the earner and is expected, of course, to make further progress as industry gears itself to the new national program.

The steel industry is expected to present its code at Washington in the near future. Buyers of steel products are specifying as freely as possible against contracts and are endeavoring to protect themselves against possible price increases. Thus production is rising and will probably continue to advance, says American Metal Market, into next month. "How much lull will follow," adds this review, "depends largely on what price advances Washington will sanction. There are increasing indications that advances will not be large at the outset."

TRADE TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

Industrial alcohol—Trade reports say that moderate quantities of the solvent grade are moving into consuming channels. Other grades are quiet.

Dried fruits—Reports from the Pacific Coast indicate that some packers are withholding quotations on new crop apricots in anticipation of a further general lift in commodity values. Other items are firm.

Linseed oil—Prices continue to show an upward trend. Demand is reported moderate.

Zinc—The market has firmed to 4.35 cents a pound East St. Louis, compared with 4.25@4.30 cents at the start of the week.

Stocks.

Profit taking defeated a spirited rally and stocks closed 1.3 points down. Some issues finished higher. The turnover was 5,463,020 shares.

Bonds.

Speculative operations lost fervor, but loans closed higher in spite of profit selling. The average gain was three-tenths of a point. Sales totaled $17,579,000.

Curb.

Prices closed irregularly lower. There were rallies, but they met defeat in profit taking. Sales volume increased to 893,000 shares.

Wheat.

Indications of a break in the Northwest's heat wave caused a sinking spell in wheat values. There was also aggressive profit taking. Corn and oats joined the decline. July wheat sold at 75⅝ to 75¾ cents.

Cotton.

A further advance of 11 to 12 points was lost in realizing and selling and the general market closed 9 to 12 points lower. July sold at 9.12; October, 9.28.

Curb Rally Yields To Loss at Close

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—The curb market closed irregularly lower today after early firmness had given way to profit taking. Utility shares were particularly heavy at the finish, while early strength in petroleum issues was largely lost. In the industrial category gains of around a point were shown.

Mining shares were generally lower, Newmont losing a point while Lake Shore mines dipped fractionally. Bunker Hill & Sullivan firmed on a small transfer.

Sales approximated 893,000 shares compared with 770,000 yesterday.

Higher Prices for Products Add Millions to Farm Crops

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—Tending to correct the disparity which for years has troubled the farmer, prices of farm products have moved upward about 28 per cent, while prices in allied lines have made excellent gains since the record lows of February.

Official estimates of what these gains have meant in dollars and cents are lacking, but they are believed to have added hundreds of millions of dollar value to farm crops, increasing farm purchasing power, lessening the burden of farm debt and otherwise curing price maladjustments.

Farm products, meaning raw materials such as grains and farm animals, made the 28 per cent gain. In lines closely allied, such as food, including flour, butter, cheese and so on, the gain is 12.3 per cent; in hides and leathers, 16.7 per cent and in textiles, 10.8.

Southwest Begins Upturn in Trade

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—The downward trend of business in the Southwest has been replaced by "a definite upward swing," said M. H. Cahill, president of Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines, today. Traffic of that road is currently running ahead of last year.

Figures for the first half of June, he asserted, show the improvement well sustained and represents substantial gains over the same period of last year.

U. S. TREASURY RECEIPTS.

(Associated Press.)

Treasury receipts for June 17 were $36,036,210.96; expenditures, $26,467,472.05; balance, $1,008,099,817.44. Customs duties for 17 days of June were $12,968,127.03.

Great Eastern Stages Order Wage Increase

An 11 per cent wage increase has been announced by the Great Eastern Stages, Inc., nationally operated motor bus service, for all drivers employed on its system covering 600,000 miles a month.

The bus company indicated that on July 1 all other employes would receive a 5 per cent boost in their wages. The local terminal of the company is at the Annapolis Hotel.

WHEAT VALUES SINK ON WEATHER REPORT

Break in Northwest's Heat Wave Cuts Price; Oats and Corn Down.

Chicago, June 20 (A.P.).—Indications that the heat wave Northwest had been broken tumbled grain values down about 2 cents a bushel today as compared with earlier top figures.

Upturns before the tumble took place had carried wheat to within a fraction of the season's high-price record, with corn, oats and rye all excelling the record. Contributing to the transient strength of cereals was the fact that New York quoted British exchange at the highest point since suspension of the gold standard.

Wheat closed unsettled near the day's bottom level, ⅝ to 1⅛ under yesterday's finish; corn, also ⅝ to 1⅛ down; oats, unchanged to ⅛ lower, and provisions varying from 20 cents decline to a rise of 30 cents.

Aggressive Profit Sales.

Aggressive profit-taking sales developed in wheat, especially during the final quarter hour. Numerous crop damage reports from American and Canadian spring-wheat territory were current at this stage, but were virtually ignored, traders focusing attention on predictions of widespread cooler weather and showers.

Enlarged selling was unchecked also by reports that in the past 20 days, only 20 per cent of normal moisture had been received in the 15 corn and wheat belt States.

Many traders put a bearish construction on reports of the day's developments at the World Economic Conference, but business in wheat had ceased before word came of likelihood that France tomorrow would propose an adjournment of the conference. A handicap to friends of higher prices was heavy receipts of wheat at domestic primary centers. Total primary arrivals today were 914,000 bushels, against 655,000 a week ago and 411,000 at this time last year.

Corn and oats swayed with wheat. Provisions averaged higher, responsive to hog market upturns.

FORESTRY VETERANS GO TO NEW ENGLAND

Moving of 11 Bonus Companies to Woods Work Camps Ordered.

Baltimore, June 20 (A.P.).—The movement of 11 companies of bonus veterans now enrolled in the Civilian Conservation Corps and in training at Langley Field and Fort Humphreys, Va., to forest work camps in New England, was ordered today at Third Corps Area headquarters here.

Three companies are scheduled to go to Maine, one to Vermont and seven to Massachusetts.

The movement is as follows:

June 25—Company 371, from Fort Humphreys to Charlemont, Mass.; Company 372, from Humphreys to Lee, Mass.; Company 393, from Langley Field to Fall River, Mass.; Company 394, from Langley Field to Hyde Park, Mass.; Company 397, from Langley Field to Wrentham, Mass.

Companies to Maine.

June 26—Company 389, from Fort Humphreys to Gardiner, Me.; Company 390, from Humphreys to Cherryfield, Me.; Company 393, from Langley to Spencer, Mass.; Company 1351, from Langley to Chicopee Falls, Mass.

June 27—Company 391, from Humphreys to Dineo Station, Me.; Company 392, from Humphreys to Rutland, Vt.

About 49,000 men have been moved from conditioning camps to reforestation work camps since last Saturday, according to reports received by the Civilian Conservation Corps yesterday. On Saturday there were 101,000 men in work camps, while the number yesterday was reported at 150,000.

Land to Be Purchased.

The corps also announced yesterday that forestry lands in Virginia and West Virginia were slated for purchase out of the $20,000,000 allotted to the corps by the President for the expansion of national forests. No further data on the location of the land to be purchased could be given, but it is likely that all purchases will be made in the vicinity of existing national forests.

The daily movement of about 15,000 men from conditioning to work camps will have to be maintained from now to the end of the month if present plans to have all men at work by July 1 are carried out. Virtually all the urban contingents of the forestry army have been recruited and are either at work or in conditioning camps. Local foresters to provide additional men are being enrolled as the camps are established.

Quiet Is Reported From Strike Scene

Richmond, Va., June 20 (A.P.).—Reports from Bristol reaching the State capitol today indicated there was no disturbance in the Big Jack Overall Co. strike area today.

T. K. Sexton, superintendent of State police, on duty with 30 State officers in the western city, telephoned that "all was quiet today."

Several hundred employes of the plant are involved in the strike which resulted in minor disorders yesterday.

The governor sent Brig. Gen. Samuel Gardner Waller, the adjutant general, to the scene late yesterday as his personal representative. The detachment of State police was ordered to the scene of the strike by Gov. Pollard at the request of local authorities last week.

Bond of $25,000 Fixed for McGee

Roanoke, Va., June 20 (A.P.).—Bond for George Leigh McGee, held as a participant in the McElroy kidnaping, was fixed at $25,000 at a hearing before United States Commissioner Charles D. Fox, jr., this morning.

The prisoner commented, "cheap at half price," and was taken back to his detention cell at the Roanoke city jail, pending the return of an order of removal signed by John Paul, Harrisonburg, judge of the United States Court for the Western District.

Kansas City, Mo., Detectives W. E. Simpson and John W. Lothridge left at noon to accompany R. C. Johnson, Roanoke identification bureau chief, to Lynchburg, where Howard E. Wilson is held. If the Department of Justice approvee, the detectives will take McGee back to Kansas City tomorrow provided the order of removal is returned tonight.

Counterfeit Plan Fails to Succeed

St. Louis, June 20 (A.P.).—The plan of Richard Matthews, 60, unemployed repair man, to turn counterfeiter and thus go to prison and "earn an honest living" met with only partial success today.

Police took him into custody when he exhibited a mold and 36 counterfeit silver dollars and explained his intentions.

Tonight Richard M. Crooks, assistant United States district attorney, said if Matthews' story was found to be true, Federal authorities will try and find him both a home and employment. Crooks explained he did not think any charges would be preferred against the prisoner, now enjoying a diet of bread and sausage in the city holdover. His wife also is participating in his imprisonment.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

IT is about time for that fascinating young importation known as Miss Lilian Harvey to begin to achieve a personal renown through other agencies than the reflected glory of the famous males who seem to gravitate to the lure of her talents and the magnetism of her personal charms. She should step out and do something on her own—a possibility that now seems not too remote.

Lilian Harvey.

Miss Harvey, you will recall, has been widely celebrated by reason of the constant attention danced upon her, at least for a time, by that glib and prognathous young boulevardier, Mons. Maurice Chevalier. Furthermore, she has been considerably heralded as an irresistible adornment of many of Hollywood's most exclusive and recherche parties. She has not as yet, however, become known to the proletariat and the hinterland by virtue of any personal performance upon the screen since "Congress Dances," the only one of her foreign-made films to win any widspread distribution in this country.

Now all that may be different. Among the patient postman's recent burdens was an envelope from the West Coast bearing the glad advices that Lew Ayres, whose fame will always be more or less tied up in the public mind with memories of that epochal war film, "All Quiet on the Western Front"—and Herr Kramer, who reversed his name into Erich Remarque, hasn't been heard from much since then, either—has signed a long-term contract with Fox, under which his first assignment will be as costar with Miss Harvey in "My Weakness." Following this, he will be teamed with Janet Gaynor in a film based on Paul Green's Pulitzer prize winner, "The House of Connelly," in which Franchot Tone won wide acclaim on the stage.

But reverting to Miss Harvey, "My Weakness" will be her second American production. Her first, "My Lips Betray," with John Boles, will be released shortly. For her next, the music and lyrics were written by Richard Whiting and Leo Robbin. David Butler will direct.

Lilian Harvey, by the way, created some furore—even in a town where furores rate no more than a dime a dozen—by arriving in Hollywood some months ago with one costume designer, one maid, one chauffeur, one racing car, one 15-carat diamond and 47 gowns that had never been worn as part of her entourage and luggage.

Most of her pictures were made in Germany by UFA, and it was with her that Henry Garat, recently seen with Janet Gaynor in "Adorable," first came to the attention of American audiences and producers.

Miss Harvey is English, but was reared in Germany and Switzerland, not necessarily in the order named. Her German residence, according to all account, was largely unintentional on the part of her parents. She was taken there, at the age of 3, four weeks before the outbreak of the Great War. Owing to the peculiar prejudices of the military authorities, the visit lasted much longer than was planned, with the result that Miss Harvey in many quarters is looked upon as a native German—much as many have similarly confused, and for identical reasons, the nationality of the charming young Sari Maritza.

When RKO-Keith's falls in line with the procession of musical films that has been parading through Washington these past few weeks, by presenting "Melody Cruise," beginning this Friday, there will be offered as a specal added screen attraction a genuine novelty that has occasioned no end of enthusiastic comment in other cities where it has been shown.

This is "Krakatoa"—pronounced "Krakatoa"—which, to quote the modest brochure that sets forth its manifold superiorities, is "the thrilling drama of human eagles whose wings were singed in the fiendish fires that spring from the bottom of the sea." Hot diggety!

In slightly modified tone, however, one learns that this example of "Nature in the raw" concerns itself with the latest activities of a volcano that first gained world notice by a catastrophic eruption in 1883, which is by way of being an even half-century ago. It is a submarine volcano located in the Sunda Strait between Sumatra and Java in the Indian Ocean.

What happens when this freak of nature goes into violent action is vividly pictured in "Krakatoa" and no less vividly described by that emotionally excitable commentator, Mr. Graham McNamee, NBC's crackerjack announcer who is familiarly referred to as "Graham cracker," for short.

It is authoritatively reported that Doris Warner, daughter of Harry M. Warner, president of Warner Brothers, formerly a student of National Park Seminary, out at Forest Glen, Md.—Doris, not Harry—is California bound to become the bride of Mervyn LeRoy, one of the youngest and most successful of the film directors, who not so long ago, it seems to me, was the husband of Edna Murphy. Or aren't you interested?

On Friday of this week, a Washington visitor will be Roger Wolfe Kahn, son of Otto H. Kahn, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who will be in the Capital on an seronautical errand that may run over into Monday.

Mr. Kahn will not have his band with him. In fact, it is the understanding that his band, for the time being, has been dissolved. Another persistent rumor is that it is about to be reassembled.

However that may be, it is being bruited about that the junior Mr. Kahn may be seen as an impromptu guest conductor at some one performance in one of the downtown cinema palaces.

That is, if he happens to go to one of the downtown cinema palaces and can be induced to be an impromptu guest conductor at some one of the performances!

Eddie Gilmore, formerly director of advertising and publicity for the Loew interests in Washington, has resigned from the managership of Loew's Grand Theater in Atlanta, Ga., and plans to return to his first love, the newspaper profession in this city. Mr. Gilmore was formerly associated with the Atlanta Journal, the paper owned and published by former Senator Cohen. He and Mrs. Gilmore will make their permanent home in the Capital, which will come as pleasant news to a wide circle of friends both in and out of the theater.

Since reference has been made to the procession of musical films already on the march, your store of knowledge assuredly should embrace the information that within a few days Universal studios will set in motion the production of its first musical picture since Paul Whiteman's "The King of Jazz," recently revived at the Rialto.

"Lilies of Broadway" is the title of the new opus about to go before the cameras and June Knight, whose name you may have seen linked with that of Master Baer, the beezer buster, recently flew from Broadway to Universal City to assume the featured role, under the direction of E. A. DuPont, working from a script by William Hurlbut.

Sally O'Neil and Dorothy Burgess are the latest recruits for a cast that also will include Mary Carlisle, making a stunning impression with Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie, et al., in "College Humor," at the Palace; Edmund Breese, the Chinese scientist of "International Bouse;" Richard Carle and Oscar Apfel. Nell Hamilton has the leading male role opposite Miss Knight—no doubt much to the discomfiture of both the fisticuffing Mr. Baer and the less belligerent Jimmie Dunn—and songs have been composed for their use by Lynn Cowan.

Another item from Universal is to the effect that Claude Rains, that sterling Theater Guild actor who succeeded Earle Larimore opposite Mme. Alla Nazimova in Mrs. Pearl S. Buck's "The Good Earth" at the National last October, has been articled for a long-term and arrived in Hollywood last Sunday to prepare for his first screen role, that of the 90 per cent unseen protagonist in H. G. Wells' "The Invisible Man."

James Whale will direct and Chester Morris, Dudley Digges, Henry Travers, Una O'Connor and Billy Bevan will have featured cast assignments in the imaginative screen tale. This, you will observe, makes it a strictly British line-up for Mr. Wells' fable, save for Chester Morris, who was born in New York, and an undetermined leading woman to be selected next week.

Beginning at the Earle on Friday, June 30, the Warner executives plan the inauguration of what is to be known as a "July Frolic." This, I am led to believe, will take the form of a 75-minute stage entertainment of magnificent proportions and imposing content. So far, among the personnel I am sure only of Johnny Perkins and a group of Gertrude Hoffman dancers. It was Gertrude Hoffman's son, Max Hoffman, jr., who married the poo-poo-pa-doop girl during her last engagement at the Earle, if you pay any attention to such things.

So, since it is to be that sort of occasion, why not raise Kane for the week?

League for Peace Gives 3-Act Play

"The Shadow Woman," a three-act play, by Hall Hopper, was presented last night at Pierce Hall, Sixteenth and Harvard streets, by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

The play was put on under direction of the author. The league plans to present a series of such dramas during the coming winter.

The players were John Sheilie, Helen Shields, Hall Hopper, Donald A. Bolton, Esther Bell, Edward Finayson, Clare Sargent, Ted Tenley, Frances Storrs, Virginia Weeks and Sally Thornley.

Baptists Reelect Charles P. Ryland

Special to The Washington Post.

Hamilton, Va., June 20.—The Rev. Charles P. Ryland, of Manassas, was reelected president of the Potomac Baptist Sunday School Association at the annual convention held in the Hamilton Baptist Church today. The Rev. Fletcher Ford, of Upperville, was elected secretary-treasurer.

There was a good attendance at the meeting today, churches from the counties in Arlington, Culpeper, Fairfax, Fauquier, Loudoun, Prince William and Stafford, which are included in the association, being represented at the meeting.

The next Sunday school convention of the association will be held in the Leesburg Baptist Church May 24, 1934. Among those who spoke on the program today, which was an inspirational meeting, were the Rev. C. Wirt Trainum, of Marshall; the Rev. Fletcher Ford, the Rev. C. T. Taylor, of Hamilton; the Rev. John S. Sowers, of Del Ray; the Rev. O. P. Lloyd, of McLean, and James H. Rollons.

D. C. Commissioners Cut Eight Highway Positions

Eight vacant positions in the District highway department were abolished yesterday by the District Commissioners upon recommendation of Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, director of highways. The vacancies were created by six retirements, one resignation and one death.

By abolishing the positions before the end of the fiscal year, the Commissioners make available approximately $17,000 for application on the highway department pay roll in the new fiscal year.

'Song in the Night' Will Open Friday

Final plans for presentation of "A Song in the Night," musical play, were completed last night by Miss Edna Buckler, author and star of the show. The play will open at 8 p. m. Friday in the Wardman Park Theater, she announced.

Headlining the attraction will be a "mystery dancer." Miss Buckler declined to reveal the dancer's name, but said she is pretty and widely known in Washington society circles.

Nearly the entire cast is composed of Washingtonians with former professional stage experience here. A portion of the proceeds will be devoted to charity. A radio broadcast of songs in the production will be made tonight.

YANKS POUND 7 RUNS IN 6TH TO ROUT CHISOX, 15-8

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Chicago, June 20.

Mr. William Harridge,
President, American League,
Chicago, Ill.

My Dear Mr. Harridge:

I wish to bring to your attention a little matter that has been disturbing me and a lot of other fellows I have talked to lately. I don't know how brief I am going to be yet, but I will come to the point immediately.

How come your American League public isn't voting for Ossie Bluege for that third-base job in the All-star game between the best players of the two big leagues at the World Fair July 6?

How come a thoroughbred third baseman like Bluege isn't getting half the votes they're giving Jimmy Dykes, of the White Sox, and Frank Higgins, of the Athletics, a couple of selling platers compared to Bluege? Answer me those, please.

Ossie Hitting This Year, Too.

It's outrageous, if you ask me. There isn't a third baseman in the league fit to be mentioned in the same breath with Bluege as a fielder, and, if you'll take a slant at the batting averages, you'll discover that our Mr. Bluege is no slouch of a hitter this season. In fact, the best hitter among all the third basemen.

Now, Mr. Harridge, I'm addressing this letter to you, because, as president of the American League, you have the right by sovereign domain, or something, to see justice done, and make up the final selection of your league's team against the National Leaguers. You can draft Bluege to play third base on July 6, despite the voting, and square yourself with me and a lot of other people I know.

Foxx, Dykes Not in Class Of Bluege.

I know they're voting for Jimmy Foxx for third base, too, and that he ranks second to Dykes in the balloting, and I can't take much away from Foxx's hitting, but measuring him up with Bluege in all-around third-base ability, how are you gonna justify Foxx's selection?

Yeah, I know, too, that the American League wants Foxx in there on account of his home-run hitting and the advertisement it will be for your league, and I can't blame you for that, but did you ever stop to consider that your league also has the opportunity to show the World Fair fans the greatest fielding third baseman who

Dunlap Wins In British Amateur

Somerville Is Survivor After Third Round of Tourney.

Thunderstorm Fails to Stop N. American Entries.

HOYLAKE, England, June 20 (A.P.).—While a thunderstorm lashed the Royal Liverpool Links and sent all but the hardiest onlookers scurrying for cover, C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville and George T. Dunlap, jr., leading North American threats to English golf supremacy, today scored brilliant victories in the third round of the British amateur championship.

Somerville, Canadian holder of the United States amateur title, and Dunlap, slim, young Princeton graduate, who once held the United States intercollegiate title, led a parade of the favorites into the fourth round, including the main British hopes, Cyril Tolley, Jack McLean and Roger Wethered.

A subpar exhibition by Somerville under the worst possible conditions sent his stock soaring as he defeated W. H. Sharpe, a British amateur, 8 and 7. The Canadian displayed a medal card, 1 under even 4s, for the 11 holes played.

Dunlap Ahead From Start.

Dunlap was not far behind him with a 3 and 2 victory over A. W. Whyte, of Western Gailes. The slim young American won the first hole and kept command throughout.

The two invaders, playing without the usual waterproof upholstery most Britishers carry with them as a matter of course, were soaked to the skin but laughed at the weather.

The English defenders will not have long to worry about both of them, however, as they are not far apart in the upper half of the draw and their paths are converging sharply toward a head-on collision.

Tolley, playing early in the morning, escaped the rain and had little difficulty winning his first match from R. H. Oppenheimer, the former Oxford captain, 3 and 2.

McLean, 22-year-old Scotsman, also played brilliantly to defeat the former Walker Cup player, John Beck, 7 and 6. Wethered had a tussle on his hands but finally defeated the well-known Irish internationalist, Dr. J. MacCormack, 1 up.

Three other American players advanced with Dunlap and only one met defeat. Three of the five Canadians were eliminated.

Loughran-Hamas To Battle Tonight

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—Almost overlooked in the crush of June's major heavyweight battles, Tommy Loughran, once a title contender, and Young Steve Hamas, a grand fighting prospect a couple of years ago, square off for ten rounds in the Yankee Stadium tomorrow night for the fourth time.

Loughran, former champion of the light heavyweights, and a foe of Jack Sharkey one disastrous night in the stadium, first tangled with Hamas in Madison Square Garden a year ago last January. The former Penn State football star turned in one of the biggest upsets of the season, knocking out Loughran in two rounds.

The Federal A. C. nine will practice today at 5 o'clock on the Fairlawn Field in preparation for their Sabbath contests with Dor-A in the Capital City League.

Cubs Beat Giants, 5-3; Grimes Stars

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—The Cubs hit steadily against the pitching of Herman Bell and Glenn Spencer today and avenged two straight shutouts by defeating the Giants, 5 to 3. The loss cut a full game off New York's National League lead, leaving the Giants only a half game ahead of St. Louis.

Bell yielded three runs, one a homer by Woody English, before he kicked himself out of the game in the fifth inning in an argument with Umpire Magerkurth.

Bud Tinning limited the Giants to two blows in the first six innings but weakened in the seventh and was nicked for four straight blows before Burleigh Grimes relieved him.

Yale Nine Triumphs Over Harvard, 5 to 3

New Haven, Conn., June 20 (A. P.).—George Parker pitched tight ball in the pinches to give Yale a 5-to-3 victory over Harvard, its diamond rival since 1868, as these "big three" nines opened their home and home baseball series today before a gay commencement crowd of 6,000.

The victory gave the Elis undisputed possession of second place in the Eastern Intercollegiate League.

RISKO OUTPOINTED.

Cleveland, June 20 (A.P.).—Patsy Perroni, young Cleveland heavyweight, outpointed Johnny Risko, one of the country's most rugged scrappers, in a 10-round match tonight. Perroni weighed 182 and Risko 198.

Stewart's 73 Tops Field in Invitation

Pitt Stroke Back in First Day's Play at Congressional.

Leader's 1 Over Par Is New Amateur Course Mark.

By DAVE HERMAN.

BREEZING home with the finest exhibition of shot-making ever produced by an amateur on the revamped Congressional Country Club course, Luther Steward, jr., 25-year-old star of the home club, gave a field of close to 500 golfers in the invitation tournament something to shoot at yesterday by pounding out a brilliant 73, one above par, to hang up a new course record and nose out Harry Pitt, Big Moose from Manor, by a single stroke for the opening day's leadership in the two-day qualifying round.

Battling a slight breeze over a sun-scorched layout and with conditions such that subpar scoring was not expected, young Steward, a former University of North Carolina golf luminary, shot the first nine in 36, one below par, a remarkable finish after a ragged start.

Steward Off to Bad Start.

Steward was 3 over par for the first three holes, being 1 over on each, but, from that point, he reeled off a par 4, a birdie 4, birdie 3, par 4, eagle 3 and a par 3. He ran down a 15-footer for his 3 on the sixth and on the 466-yard par 5 eighth he smacked his tee shot 270 yards, placed his second 12 feet past the pin, and nailed his putt for what was reported as the only eagle of the day.

Playing with Steward during his eventful journey was none other than Pitt, who also stuck pretty close to par but lacked the putting touch that the Congressional star possessed. Pitt went to the turn after using up 38 strokes, rallying on the back 9 to wind up with a 36, 1 above par, while Steward dropped 2 over par for the incoming side.

There was a lot of drama injected into the play of the two golfers on the homecoming nine. A weak chip shot cost Steward a 4 on the short fourteenth, while Pitt, after snaring a birdie 4 on the thirteenth and going one over on the sixteenth, came to the home hole needing an eagle 2 to tie Steward.

Pitt's Try for Needed Two Fails.

The eighteenth is 265 yards and requires an uphill shot. Here Pitt laced out one of the most spectacular drives ever made from the new tee, his ball landing 12 feet from the hole, and leaving him a putt for his deuce.

Steward overshot the green with his second, finishing in the rough behind the green, was short with his chip and faced an 8-footer for his par.

Pitt's putt ran 6 inches past the hole after a beautiful effort and he canned his birdie 3. Steward needing a 4 for par for the round, stepped up and tapped the ball—the sphere hitting the left-hand side of the cup and almost dropping in.

Steward's 5, however, was good enough to win by a shot and avoid a tie. The pace setter fired his shots with such unerring accuracy during his record-smashing cruise that not once did he strike a trap or have a 3-putt green.

With 227 already having played their medal rounds, approximately 250 will try their fortunes today. Among the sturdy linkmen who will compete are Roger Peacock, of Indian Spring; Maury Nee, of Manor; B. Warren Corkran, of Baltimore C. C., and Parker Nolan, Indian Spring heavyweight. Match play commences tomorrow.

Only two others besides Steward and Pitt broke 80. John M. Downey, local public links star, out in 38, lost his putting touch on the back nine and finished with a 79. Dr. Don Johnson, husky Congressional player, was out in 40 and back in 38, with 6 on the seventeenth denting his score.

Whitehill Due To Face Sox In Opener

Nats to Open Chicago Series Today With Goslin Ready.

Club Aims to Collar Yankees in Stand at Windy City.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH.
(Sports Editor of The Post).

CHICAGO, June 20.—The baseball racket in Chicago will be investigated by the Nats starting tomorrow, when they open a four-game series with the White Sox, who have been getting rough and tough in this American League pennant race of late.

The Chicago Club's most recent escapade was to cut itself a nice 50-50 slice out of the four-game series with the Yankees, which ended today, and the Nats, who fattened themselves on the last-place Browns over the week-end, face tougher pickings out here in ex-Caponeland.

Double Opportunity Offered Nats.

The official American League investigators from Washington can do themselves a double favor if they have any large degree of success here. They will have achieved the two-fold purpose of stamping out the Chicago pennant threat and at the same time keeping themselves in the first place fight with the Yankees, whose victory today, while the Nats were playing an exhibition in Milwaukee, increased their lead over the Washington Club to a full game.

The Nats are still entertaining serious designs on the league lead and the pennant as a result of the developments of the past two weeks, which have seen the Yankees drop 9 of their last 13 games, which shrunk a one-time lead of six games to a mere one game.

The might of the Washington batting attack combined with slightly improved pitching have carried the Nats to seven victories in their last nine games and the opinion is gaining support throughout the league that, if any team is to dislodge the Yankees, the Nats will be that team.

Tempts Fate in Starting Whitehill.

Manager Joe Cronin is flying into the very face of fate in his nomination of Earl Whitehill as the man to oppose the White Sox in the series opener tomorrow in view of the Chisox's known partiality for left-handed pitching. They knocked Whitehill from the box in quick order in his last start against them, but Cronin views his southpaw as a better pitcher at this writing.

Washington's Homers Win Exhibition

Weaver, Harris and Bolton Guilty; Brewers Bow, 14-10.

Special to The Washington Post.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 20.—With one eye on the scoreboard that contained the inning-by-inning results of the Yankee-White Sox game, the Nats went out and took a 14-10 exhibition from the Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association this afternoon.

They spotted the Brewers to a 6-0 lead in the first two innings, or rather Monte Weaver did, and then they started swinging from the end of their bats to clout their way to victory.

Bob Burke held the Brewers tolerably well in the late stages and then the Nats set to work with the funny little class AA park here, where the first baseman can shake hands with the grandstandees without leaving his cushion, and where the third baseman can't see the right fielder if he's playing close to the foul line.

The fences were just to the taste of Cliff Bolton, Dave Harris, and Weaver, himself, all of whom hit homers today. But Harris' clout was Walker, Dickey Also Hit for Circuit in Slugfest Game.

CHICAGO, June 20 (A.P.).—The New York Yankees, their hold on the American League lead again threatened, rose in their might today and clouted their way to a 15-to-8 victory over the White Sox. The triumph, result of nearly three hours of hard labor under a sun that registered 114 degrees on a thermometer on the field, increased the Yanks' lead over the idle Washington Club to a full game.

The Sox twice tied the score in the early innings, but they failed to survive New York's seven-run outbreak in the sixth inning, which was featured by Babe Ruth's fifteenth homer of the season. The Babe's wallop tied him with Jimmie Foxx, of the Athletics, but left him one behind the major league leader, Lou Gehrig.

Two runs were in when Ruth smacked the circuit blow with Joe Sewell on base off the delivery of Sad Sam Jones, and the Yanks went on to paste Milton Gaston for three more hits and took advantage of an error by Charley Berry to score three more runs.

Five Chisox Pitchers Fail.

In all, five Chicago pitchers went to the hill in an effort to halt the Yankee slugging. Fred (Dixie) Walker and Bill Dickey led the attack on them with three hits apiece, including a homer for each. Luke Appling hit a circuit blow for Chicago.

Before the game Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yanks benched Frank Crosetti and Earl Combs because they

SECOND STRAIGHT IS SCORED BY SUN DOT AT LINCOLN FIELDS

Church Racer Scores by Length

Big Brand Second in Feature, With Pancoast Third.

Helianthus Wins in Blanket Finish at Aqueduct.

LINCOLN FIELDS, Ill., June 20 (A. P.).—Sundot, owned by Norman W. Church, of California, today won his second straight victory at Lincoln Fields in accounting for the Dance Ship Handicap, a 6-furlong dash.

Cleverly rated by Georgie Woolf, Sundot always was in a contending position, and assumed the lead as the field went into the stretch. Big Brand finished second a length behind the California horse. Pancoast, which cut out the early pace, tired in the last few strides, but managed to save the short end of the purse.

Sundot, the favorite, paid $4.22, and ran the distance in 1:11 4-5.

Aqueduct Feature Thriller.

Aqueduct Race Track, New York, June 20 (A.P.).—Spectators here this afternoon were treated to the most thrilling finish of the metropolitan racing season to date with the running of the featured Dominant Purse, a test of 1 mile. Helianthus, winner of the last two outings at Belmont, made it three in a row by the narrowest of margins, the Mrs. Dodge Sloan representative barely lasting to win by a nose from J. F. Richardson's Condescend. Another nose away, and so close that some thought he won, came the Wheatley Stable's Blenheim to earn the show.

Only the official numbers decided upon by the judges could clarify the situation. Helianthus was favorite at 6 to 5 and completed the distance in 1:39 flat.

Helianthus was like a bucking bronco at a rodeo show while at the barrier. He broke loose and skipped along nearly a furlong before Frankie Horn could pull him up. When the start came, Helianthus was off fast in second place and Horn sent him into command in a few strides. The veteran had little contention until the stretch, when Condescend and Blenheim came along fast on the outside of the leader. It was nip and tuck to the judges with Helianthus gamely holding on to the end.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL. LINCOLN FIELDS, JUNE 20.

Not so bad and not so good. Three winners, Transcall, Sundot and Tack. Two of those were covered with chalk. However, my horses were battling one another all afternoon, crowding themselves into the money circle. Miscalculate is my special for tomorrow. Was scratched today with that eighth race in view. Tell all your friends and let's get some vacation money. Providing you get a hankering to wager tomorrow, these should serve your purpose.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—LERACK gets in this with a 100-pound feather and shapes up as well as anything the field offers in the way of speed. Failed the last time out, but has turned in a creditable workout since. GOLDEN SUN appears second best with HALLIARD destined for the show end.

SECOND RACE—MOPPET ran a fair sort of a race here and received a creditable play. Meets a promising group of maidens in this, but I believe the filly can turn the trick. INDIAN BLOOD and MOUNT WASHINGTON to battle it out for the place.

THIRD RACE—IREDELL marches postward tomorrow with an even 100 pounds aboard. The clockers like this one and I'm shooting for a good-sized mutuel. ANNAN will draw most of the backing and is the one to beat. MRS. LET for the other award.

FOURTH RACE—DECANTER is one that I spotted in Maryland and jotted down in the future book. This is no Man o' War, but a fair maiden that I caught sliding up on the rail one day. JUDGE JUDY seems ready to take the place. CENTENNIAL for the show.

FIFTH RACE—I can't picture MARIANA losing this race. Possibly I'll see how it is done tomorrow, but until then I'm putting this one on the top of the heap. YTFIN and HIDDEN LORE to complete the money picture.

SIXTH RACE—HIGHER is the logical choice in this 7 furlongs although SKY HAVEN turned in a fine effort here and is dangerous. The big surprise may materialize when PORTCODINE starts to run.

SEVENTH RACE—HELEN BAB looks like a winning favorite. Likes the mile and ¼ sharp now. BLACK NOSE to take the measure of PRESTIGE for the place.

EIGHTH RACE—MISCALCULATE may upset this gang in the final. I've been told to give this one a chance. TRYANDAGAIN and SCIMITAR for the rest.

Cards Beat Robins; Near League Lead

Brookland, June 20 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Cardinals gave an impressive hitting display today as they climbed a game closer to the league-leading Giants with a 15-to-4 victory over Brooklyn. The Cards piled up seventeen hits, including homers by Joe Medwick and Leo Durocher, and bunched them in three big innings. They scored eight runs in the eighth.

legitimate, a terrific drive over the center field fence that constituted a record for the park, despite the dead ball they use out here. Bolton, in addition to his homer, had two doubles and a single.

At the finish, the Nats were represented by Altrock at first base, Berg at shortstop and Myer in the out field, but they were able to make their train.

Oh, yeah, Heinie Manush, who hit safely in 23 consecutive American League games, could not knock a ball out of the infield this afternoon in three appearances. Old Hap Felsch, of Black Sox fame, who is playing semi-pro ball out here, saw the game.

Bucs Beat Braves; Zachary Pounded

Boston, June 20 (A.P.).—The Pittsburgh Pirates hammered Tom Zachary so hard in the third inning today that their right-hander, Bill Swift, was able to coast along for a 6-2 victory. It was the visitors' third successive win over the luckless Braves.

The hard-hitting Pirates totaled eleven hits off four Boston pitchers, knicking the starting Zachary for seven of them. A wild throw by Art Whitney, new Boston third baseman, was a great help to the Piartes in the third inning, when they registered five of their runs.

Rockingham Opens for Racing

28-Meeting to Start Today Under New Turf Law.

By BILL KING.

SALEM, N. H., June 20 (A.P.).—Betting on the horses, once considered a depravity in the prim old Granite State that reared Franklin Pierce and Daniel Webster, will be strictly within the law tomorrow when the famous Rockingham Park throws open its gates for the 28-day race meeting under the pari-mutuel system.

The running horse is no stranger to Rockingham. Twice before since "Bet a Million" Gates built the beautiful plant almost 30 years ago, courageous racing men have attempted to hold meetings, but both times the authorities ruined their hopes by putting a legal clamp on the betting.

Gates and his colorful associates, among whom was John A. Drake, now racing his stable on French turf, were responsible for the initial meeting back in 1906. New England was not so tolerant about such things in those days and it soon became evident that the venture was decidely ill-timed.

Biggest of Turf Bargains.

The day after the sheriffs chased the bookmakers out of the county, the crowd was so slim that Gates was led to remark to Drake: "Six races. One for each spectator. It's the best bargain ever offered on the turf."

Down through the years from 1906, Rockingham housed many different promotions, including a county fair with harness racing, automobile and airplane races and even a marathon run that had Juan Zabala, of Argentina, the 1932 Olympic champion, in the starting field.

But horse racing was not again

Gloves for Canzoneri-Ross Battle Are Locked in Safe

Challenger's Manager Makes Move Against Tony's Habit of Tailor-Made Mitts; Glove Scandal Heard After Berg Knockout.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY.

CHICAGO, June 20 (U.P.).—The gloves to be used in the Tony Canzoneri-Barney Ross lightweight title bout at the Chicago Stadium Friday night have been sealed and locked in a safe by Joseph Triner, chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission.

On the face of it, that's an unimportant piece of information. But when you delve into Canzoneri's boxing history the gloves to be used in Friday night's joust it becomes increasingly important.

Canzoneri has perhaps the smallest pair of fists of any champion. They are almost baby hands—small, weak-looking and fragile. He wears them encased in layers of gauze and adhesive tape, and then has his gloves tailor-made to fit tight as a drum head.

But Canzoneri won't wear his kid gloves against Ross.

Sam Pian, Ross' comanager, saw to that in a very clever way. He did some yelping about the referee, and then ostensibly went before the Illinois commission to discuss the third man in the ring. But when he got there Pian played his trump card, which may play a vital part when fists start flying Friday night.

"Gentlemen, any referee you appoint suits me," Pian said. "But this glove situation needs a lot of looking into. Here are six pairs of boxing gloves manufactured by the two leading concerns. Take any two sets of them, seal them and bring them into the ring the night of the fight.

One pair of the gloves which fit Canzoneri's hands perfectly, Ross couldn't even get his hands into without help. These gloves were tossed out, and the gloves which fit Ross' fists, but are big and roomy on Canzoneri's tiny hands, were selected, sealed and locked away.

The last time Canzoneri risked his title here in April, 1931, he wore specially made gloves and knocked out Jack ("Kid") Berg, of England, in three rounds. Sol Gold, Berg's manager, charged after the bout that not only were Canzoneri's gloves illegal, but that they did not weigh the regulation 6 ounces. It was later found that Berg's gloves were larger and heavier.

Another interesting angle about the Canzoneri-Ross match is that both champion and challenger are training at the same gymnasium. Having trained at the same gym throughout his career, Ross refused to change his quarters and Canzoneri tried to assert the champion's prerogative of first choice in all matters.

Ross not only didn't move, but he stole some of Canzoneri's thunder. Got himself additional ballyhoo and perhaps did a smart thing by going into secret training. He does his calisthentics and bag-punching in public, and then retires to private room for his boxing lessons.

Canzoneri was quoted a 13-10 favorite in Chicago today to retain his crown. Outside Chicago, Canzoneri is reported as high as a 2-1 favorite. The bout is expected to draw around 18,000 persons and gate receipts of more than $80,000.

Eight Trackmen Lost At Hyattsville High

Eight members of the Hyattsville High School track squad, which this year, as usual, won the Prince Georges County championship meet without difficulty, have been lost by graduation. However, a strong nucleus remains for next season.

Those who have been given diplomas include Carlton Baker and William Toole, sprinters; Burdette Cogar, quarter miler; Tom Hayes and George Franklin, half miler, and Donald McDonald, Albert Slinkman and DeVoe Meade, who performed in the field events.

Of those listed to return, six are sprinters. The most prominent of the six is Jack Cain, who won the 100-yard in the senior unlimited class in the county meet, the others being Billy Baldwin, Bernard Baldwin, Robert Bradley, Francis Arnold and Fred Denny.

Roberts and Considine In Semifinals Today

Big Boy Roberts, former Maryland tennis star, and George Considine will play their semifinals match in the Chiselers Club tournament this evening at 5 o'clock at Potomac Park courts.

In the lone doubles match, slated at the same time, Hoffecker and Dreschler will engage Miller and Blanchard.

In yesterday's doubles, Stauffer and Ritzenberg decisioned Abrams and Burns, 7—5, 10—8, while Truehart and Huls beat Bobsy Turney and Roberts, 6—3, 4—6, 6—1.

National Taking Star Game July 6 Seriously

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—The National League today laid plans to marshal its "best minds" as well as its foremost playing talent for the all-star game to be played with the American League at Comiskey Park, Chicago, on July 6.

John Joseph McGraw already has emerged from retirement to manage the National League's picked forces, for a day, and the club owners at a meeting here approved his plan to assign the coaching jobs to a pair of active pilots, Bill McKechnie, of the Boston Braves, and Max Carey, of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

A third manager and one-time protege of McGraw, Bill Terry, of the Giants, will hold down first base for the all-stars and probably serve as field captain for the gray-haired "Little Napoleon," who is injecting a lot of his old enthusiasm into preparations for the much-discussed battle of Chicago.

The seriousness with which the National forces regard the game was manifest by their decision today to take advantage of the regular season player limit, 23, in assembling their talent.

Hutcheson, Memphis, Bought by Dodgers

New York, June 20 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Dodgers today confirmed the purchase of Outfielder Joe Hutcheson, leading home run hitter of the Southern Association, from Memphis for a "considerable" amount of cash and three players.

The Dodgers arranged with the New York Giants to send Henry Lieber, an outfielder now with Jersey City, to Memphis on option, while Toronto agreed to help the Dodgers by releasing outright to the Southern Association club Outfielder Murray Howell. Clyde Sukeforth, Brooklyn second string catcher, also was sent to Memphis on option.

Dave Driscoll, secretary of the Dodgers, denied the club had made any deal with the Giants or Toronto by which they agreed to send Lieber and Howell to the Chicks.

"They merely came to our aid," said Driscoll.

NO HITS, BUT NINE RUNS.

Wheatley School tossers yesterday failed to get a hit off the offerings of Pitcher Lynard, of Park View, yet scored no less than nine runs to win, 9 to 5. Lynard, wild as a March hare, forced most of the Wheatley runs over on bases on balls.

WHITEHILL TO FACE CHISOX IN OPENER

The three big shots of the White Sox batting array, Al Simmons, Luke Appling and Evar Swanson, are all right-handed sluggers, all hitting above .340 and all murderous against left-handed pitching particularly. They have composed a terrible trinity for opposition pitching and they will be awaiting Whitehill tomorrow.

Jackie Hayes and Jimmie Dykes have made the White Sox infield a respectable combination and the way the entire club fought the Yankees earned the respect of the rest of the league. The lowly White Sox are no more. Simmons seems to have made a militant crew out of 'em and any margin that the Nats can show at the end of the four games will be satisfactory.

But the Nats need make no apologies for their own hitting. Team for team and man for man down the line, no other club can muster as great a socking crew as the Nats with Heinie Manush, Joe Cronin, Goose Goslin, Fred Schulte and Ossie Bluege bustin' the ball to all corners of the lot to put the Washington Club far on top in the club batting averages.

Manush, maker of 20 hits in his last 26 times at bat, will be carrying his war club into the game tomorrow in an effort to hit safely in his twenty-fourth consecutive game and the Nats' outfield will be further bolstered by the return of Goose Goslin, whose injured leg has healed. The difference between Goslin in the line-up and Goslin out of the line-up was the difference between a clean sweep and three victories out of four for the Nats at St. Louis.

JAMIESON RELEASED.

Jersey City, N. J., June 20 (A.P.).—The outright release of Charley Jamieson, veteran of 18 years in the major leagues, was announced by the Jersey City International League club today.

Jamieson, who was signed by the Skeeters at the start of the season, proved of little value to the team after suffering an injury to his ankle and was given his release at his own request. Jamieson's departure follows closely on the heels of that of Val Picinich, another major league veteran, who was let out by the Skeeters a few days ago.

CALDWELL TO CHARLOTTE.

Charlotte, N. C., June 20 (A.P.).—Ray Caldwell, former major league pitcher, has been signed by the Charlotte Club of the Piedmont League and is now on his way here from Kansas City, where he has been managing a semipro team.

The course exacted its toll on the would-be par shooters. One of the most disappointing men in the flock was Dave Thomson, Manor golf chairman, who soarded to a 47 on the first nine, only to blaze home in 36, 1 above par. Craig McKee, lanky Indian Spring ace, started with a 9, but rallied to finish with an 83. Young Billy Dettweiler struggled all afternoon to ground out an 82.

Cooper Ties Armour In Illinois Pro Golf

Chicago, June 20 (A.P.).—Shooting a subpar 70 while Tommy Armour skipped to a 75, Harry Cooper, of Chicago, today tied the Scot for first honors in the Illinois professional golfers' tournament at Medinah Country Club.

Armour's 75, with his one-under-par 71 yesterday, gave him a 36-hole total of 146. Cooper needed a 76 yesterday, but blazed in today two strokes under even figures. They will play off for the title and a $250 prize Sunday afternoon.

Louisville, Ky., June 20 (A.P.).—The case of Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires, baseball player who faces a charge of malicious assault as the aftermath of a fight here several weeks ago, was continued today until August 10.

(This is another of a series of personality sketches on members of the United States Ryder Cup golf team.)

By PAUL MICKELSON.

CHICAGO, June 20 (A.P.).—Horton Smith watched the 1931 Ryder Cup matches from the gallery, but he'll be in there swinging against the British this year.

The erstwhile "Joplin Ghost" has come back not only with a victory over par, but a courageous conquest over an injury jinx that threatened to keep him in the ranks of the mediocre shotmakers for years.

Smith's road to golfing fame has been nothing but steep hills. In the winter campaign of 1928-29, he amazed the world of golf with a great sweep of the big money tournaments. Then a lame back victimized him. His game slumped, and he was forced to cheer his Ryder Cup teammates from the gallery at the big international show at Columbus in '31. After that, they said he was "through."

More than a year's treatment by several of the best medical minds of the Nation finally cured Smith's back ailment and he responded by beating

AUTOMOBILE CRASH MAY PROVE FATAL TO CAPITAL MAN

George J. Baur, 18, Taken to Walter Read Hospital After Accident.

George J. Baur, 18, of 511 Sheridan avenue northwest, was probably fatally injured last night when his car was in collision with another automobile at the intersection of Sargeant and Chillum roads, near Hyattsville.

Richard Tydings, 19, 7133 Georgia avenue, said to be a distant relative of Senator Millard E. Tydings, of Maryland, who was riding in the car with Baur, escaped with minor injuries.

According to Prince Georges County police, a car driven by John Mansuy, 19, of 315 Jefferson street northwest, was approaching the intersection from a northerly direction, on Chillum road. At it reached Sargeant road another car, driven by Howard M. Steen, 45, 2621 North Capitol street, suddenly appeared from the southwest.

Both Cars Demolished.

The impact that followed demolished both cars. Bauer was carried to Walter Reed Hospital, suffering from concussion of the brain and severe lacerations of the throat and face. He is not expected to recover. Tydings was treated locally for minor lacerations. Mansuy was arrested and held without bond at the Hyattsville lockup for reckless driving. Steen was released on $200 bond on the same charge.

Baur was seriously injured in another accident on May 5, when the car in which he was returning from the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, Va., struck a tree and overturned at Fifth and Nicholson streets northwest.

Baur Hurt Before.

At that time Baur, and a companion, A. H. Tolson, 3030 Dent place northwest, driver of the car, ware taken to Emergency Hospital where they remained in a serious condition for several weeks, Tolson suffering from injuries to his eyes and Baur for possible fracture of the skull.

It was thought for a while that Tolson might lose the sight of one of his eyes, but it was saved and he was subsequently released from the hospital. Hospital authorities said a later examination revealed that Baur had suffered concussion of the brain and that his skull was not fractured.

Five White House Rooms Air Cooled

To alleviate Washington's summer heat for the President, additional air-cooling facilities are being installed in the White House while President Roosevelt is absent on his cruise up the New England coast.

The new facilities consist of individual cooling systems to be installed in five rooms in the White House proper. The Executive offices are already equipped with air-conditioning machinery, but there has heretofore been no way of cooling the living quarters. Along with the rest of Washington, the Roosevelts have sweltered during the recent heat waves.

The new system will provide separate cooling facilities for each of the five rooms to be equipped. The temperature of each room can be separately fixed by the occupant, and the system will maintain that temperature. The new installation differs from that of the White House offices, which have a central cooling unit with a fixed temperature for all rooms. The new facilities will be installed in the President's room, Mrs. Roosevelt's room, the President's study, Col. Howe's room, and the room used by Mrs. Curtis Dahl when in Washington.

Boys Will Be Rewarded On Church Outing Today

The sanctuary and choir boys of Immaculate Conception Church will hold their annual outing at Seaside Park, Chesapeake Beach, today. The 50 youngsters will be accompanied by 200 or more adults. Prizes will be awarded the boys for their services during the past year and a program of games and athletic contests has been arranged. Foot races, potato races, three-legged contests and swimming in the Seaside Pool are on the program.

Tomorrow the Second Baptist Church, of Washington, and the St. Paul's Episcopal Church, of Prince Frederick County, Md., will hold picnics at Seaside, and on Saturday the Ninth Street Christian Church and the McKendree Methodist Church will hold their annual excursions to the beach.

Glen Echo Park Scene Of 4 Church Outings

The Anacostia M. E. Sunday school will spend its twenty-second yearly outing at Glen Echo Park tomorrow. William H. Benhoff is chairman of arrangements. Other organizations to visit the park the same day include St. Alban's Episcopal, E. M. Weeks, chairman; Marvin M. E. Church South, A. E. O. Pastor, chairman, and Zion Lutheran, Miss Marie Dorsch, chairman.

Townsend Talks Before Washington Civitan Club

Dr. M. L. Townsend, newly elected president of Civitan International, was the principal speaker last night at the dinner meeting of the Washington Civitan Club at the Beaver Dam Country Club. Reports were also heard on the convention in Memphis, Tenn., last week.

A resolution of thanks to Dr. W. R. Beattie, senior horticulturist of the Department of Agriculture, for the work he has done in connection with the club's garden work for boys was adopted by the club.

BEER LICENSE HELD SALABLE AS ASSET

West Says Beverage Act "Seems to Allow" Permit Transfer.

Beer licenses may be transferred along with other business assets under an order adopted yesterday by the District Commissioners upon recommendation of the Beverage Permits Board. Vernon E. West, chairman of the board, stated in his recommendation that the District beverage act "seems to allow it by implication."

The Commissioners also modified its regulations restricting the sale of beer close to churches or schools by basing the measurement of the 200 feet between the entrance of the beverage establishment and the church or school premises "on any public traveled way."

This liberalization does not apply to beer gardens, however, as another amendment states that beer can not be sold "outside the building" so long as the property is within 200 feet of the premises of a school or church.

The first off-sale annual permit was issued yesterday by the Commissioners to Luther A. Butler, 2414 Wisconsin avenue.

Wardman Appeal For Instructions

Receivers for the Wardman Real Estate Properties, Inc., yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court for instructions in connection with a $20,000 deposit in the District National Bank.

The receivers, Col. Julius I. Peyser and Joseph Tumulty, want the court to instruct them as to whether the money should be subscribed in the stock of the proposed Hamilton National Bank or otherwise.

Minority bondholders of the Wardman company opposed the use of the money to purchase the stock. Justice Jesse C. Adkins, before whom the receivers appeared, indicated that he would rule on the question Thursday.

Taxi Firm Sued for $10,000.

Belle Rudman, 2106 F street northwest, yesterday in the District Supreme Court instituted suit against the Independent Taxi Owners Association for $10,000 damages. Through Attorney Edwin C. Dutton, the complainant charged that while she was a passenger in a cab of the company's last June 8, the cab collided with another car at Eighteenth and M streets northwest, she being seriously injured.

Practical Jokers Give Beer Parties in Name of Glass

Mysterious Group Orders Two Truck Loads of Beverage for Senators and Aids; Driver Is Arrested on Second Trip.

"All the senators and their secretaries are having a big beer party, so Senator Glass wants a truckload of beer."

This statement over the telephone excited some suspicion on the part of the Carver Co. when a voice purporting to be that of Rixey Smith, Senator Glass' secretary, gave the order.

No, sir; they weren't going to be fooled. Whereupon they called Mr. Smith and he indignantly denied that any such order had been given.

But a few minutes later the telephone rang in the Carver Co. offices and a voice said: "This is Mr. Smith talking. I'm sorry I was so abrupt, but my wife was listening and you know how it is. She didn't know about the party. I'll send my colored boy for the beer."

So the colored boy arrived with a truck for two cases of the good old golden brew and another keg to boot. The brew was paid for with a check bearing the name of Carter Glass, to whom even 3.2 is anathema.

Off went the colored boy with his cargo of throat oil. This was last Friday. On Monday the colored boy appeared with a note written on a letter head of Representative A. Willis Robertson, also of Virginia. This note said: "Please give the bearer a truckload of beer."

The note also asked a rebate of $18.75 for the keg of beer which was unused by the senators on their big party.

When he arrived Detective Sergt. Van D. Hughes was among those present and placed him under arrest. He gave his name as Jack Watkins, colored, of 1536 Fifth street northwest. He claimed he had been sent to the beer distributor by two colored men.

After the beer was delivered for the senators' party, the Carver company officials again checked with Mr. Smith and he denied that he had ever confirmed the order.

Whoever had devised the ingenious racket had tapped the beer company wires, and when Mr. Smith first denied giving the order, the beer-seekers simply called back and confirmed the order.

Detective Sergt. Hughes is searching for the other colored men.

Robbed Huckster Seeking Revenge

Giddap, "Jenny," the world is good and work is good, was the sole philosophy of William Jenks, 67, as he left the stable which houses both him and the horse which draws his huckster wagon each morning, but yesterday a new purpose came into his life.

Thieves, unable to appreciate the joy of reaping the harvest of their own toil, robbed Jenks of his worldly wealth. For years the old huckster had carried his savings on his person, usually more than $1,000.

Frightened by three assailants last Thursday, Jenks buried all of his money in the earth under the floor of his stable in the rear of 1036 Bladensburg road northeast. He found his hiding place looted yesterday and is now looking for revenge.

LONE BANDIT GETS $10 IN ROBBERY AT TELEGRAPH OFFICE

Holdup of Western Union's Branch Is Second in Three Months.

Striding suddenly into the Western Union Telegraph office at 1729 Connecticut avenue northwest last night, a lone white bandit rifled the cash drawer of $10 after subduing John A. Callahan, branch manager, with a blue steel automatic pistol and the terse order "keep quiet" and "make it snappy."

It was the second time Callahan had been held up within three months, two robbers having previously victimized him at the telegraph office for $68. Police held a theory that the robber of last night may have participated in the robbery of the Maxwell & Tennyson pharmacy, Eighteenth and I streets northwest, Monday night. He was between 35 and 40, wore a straw hat, blue coat and brown pants.

Callahan last night was forced by the bandit to lie on the floor beneath the counter. Ordered to remain there for five minutes, he waited for about half of that time, he said, and then flashed police. A messenger boy, John Evans, 18, sat reading a newspaper in a rear room, oblivious of what was going on.

Whether last night's bandit had an accomplice in a getaway car was problematical. Callahan said the man had evidently carefully watched his office because another male adult employe had left only a few minutes before. Callahan lives at 414 F street northeast.

"Harassed by Enemies," Man Ends Life by Gas

Ben Lamar Minor, 64, yesterday committed suicide by inhaling gas in the room he had rented at 225 Eighth street northeast. He was found by George Scroggins, proprietor of the house, who noticed the odor of gas and broke into Minor's room, finding both jects on a two-burner gas range open.

The dead man, who claimed he was a member of "the aristocratic Lamar family of Georgia," had told the Scroggins family that he was harassed by "enemies." Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald issued a certificate of suicide.

Heat Wave's Return Fells 9 in 95 Reading

Fair Skies and Similar Temperature Outlook for Today.

With summer coming into its official own today, the Capital yesterday was enveloped in the second heat wave of the month that promised to continue through today at least, as Weather Bureau officials promised fair skies and no change in temperature.

A high mark of 95 degrees was registered at 3:45 yesterday afternoon. Nine persons, one in Alexandria, were prostrated by the torrid atmosphere. All received medical treatment, but only one was seriously affected.

Yesterday's high mark, although coming in the wake of an exceedingly cool stretch of weather and causing much discomfort, did not shatter the month's record. One June 9 a high mark of 100 was set.

The Alexandria man stricken by the heat yesterday was Samuel Haslett, who lives in Timber Branch drive. Alexandria Rescue Squad No. 2 responded when Mr. Haslett collapsed near his home as the first heat casualty of the day, and, after treatment, he was said to be recovered.

The Washington persons treated yesterday were:

Bernard Hanson, 39, colored, 3822 Denison place northwest, at Twenty-first and K streets northwest. At Emergency Hospital. Condition said to be serious.

John Practious, 30, colored, 2833 Albin street, Fourteenth and P streets northwest. At Emergency Hospital.

John Morgan, 24, colored, 1621 New Jersey avenue northwest, at home. Treated by Casualty Hospital ambulance.

Willina Baxton, 30, colored, 1714 Rhode Island avenue northwest, at home. Treated by Casualty Hospital ambulance.

Lloyd Tabb, 32, colored, 1638 I street northwest, at home, treated by Casualty ambulance.

Claude Booze, 38, colored, 18 C street southwest, at home. Casualty ambulance.

Good cheer for Washington youngsters as school nears its seasonal end and for other residents was made known yesterday by District officials. They announced that henceforth the municipal swimming pools will be open full time—from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. Playground wading and swimming pools will be open between 9 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Summer Officially Makes Its Bow Today

At 4:12 p. m. today, Eastern standard time, summer takes its cue from the sun and makes its official bow in Washington.

At that time the sun will have traveled to the northern extremity of its orbit and after an apparent infinitesimal hesitation will begin to move southward.

Today is also the longest day in the year. Naval Observatory scientists explained yesterday that while the day's greater length will be hardly perceptible by clock time, that it can be discerned upon a sun dial.

The longest day almost infallibly falls, the experts said, on the day that summer begins nearest to the noon meridian. And that is today.

MUNROES MARRIED FOR HALF CENTURY

Noted Scientist and Wife Celebrate Anniversary at Forest Glen.

Dr. Charles Edward Munroe, internationally known scientist, and Mrs. Munroe yesterday celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their home in Forest Glen, Md. Their five children and twelve grandchildren participated in the celebration.

Dr. Munroe has had a long and notable career in chemical research, and is credited with the development of smokeless powder, invented during his experiments at the Naval Torpedo Station, at Newport, R. I. He served as professor of chemistry at the Naval Academy, dean of faculty of graduate studies, George Washington University; chief chemist of the Bureau of Mines; consulting expert of Geological Survey and a member of various Government boards and commissions.

Dr. and Mrs. Munroe have three daughters, Mrs. Charles H. Mathews, Mrs. Harold W. Dolph and Mrs. Horace D. Rouzarr, and two sons, Treadway B. and Russell B. Munroe.

Commission Gets Rent Complaint

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday received its first rent complaint since being authorized by the Senate to conduct an inquiry of Washington rentals.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman, said that a man complained that he had deposited $5 on an apartment with an agent on the understanding that he would be able to rent it for $36.50 a month. Later the owner insisted that the rent be $40 a month, but agreed subsequently to accept $39. The apartment had been renting for $36.50.

Gen. Patrick told the complainant that the owner could not be forced to cut the rent, but that the man might either repossess his deposit or take the apartment at $39 and file a formal complaint with the commission.

$80 In Gems Taken From Car.

Thieves broke into the automobile of Anna May Robertson, 1716 Massachusetts avenue southeast, while it was parked at Seventeenth and Constitution avenue yesterday and stole jewelry valued at $80. She named a suspect to police.

ATHLETIC FIELD SET FOR ROOSEVELT HIGH

Cinder Track and Stands Will Be Built Before Fall Term.

Roosevelt High School will have an athletic field, a cinder track and a small grand stand before the fall reopening, Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, announced yesterday. Although only $15,000 is available, Maj. Gotwals said he would be able to have the work done with the aid of men assigned by the District committee on employment.

No appropriation has been made for a stadium for the high school, and the $1,400,000 appropriation was under the estimates. Nevertheless, Maj. Gotwals said, he has been able to work out a plan that will provide an adequate field.

The District Commissioners yesterday awarded a contract to the Washington Stair & Ornamental Iron Works, Washington, for furnishing in place certain equipment for the Roosevelt High School rifle range on a low bid of $165,000. The work is to be completed within 40 days.

Two other construction contracts were awarded for projects at the District Reformatory and Workhouse. Frank M. Weaver & Co., Lansdale, Pa., was awarded both jobs of furnishing certain structural metal work on low bids of $2,995 and $1,649.

Action on Thomas Circle Postponed

The District Commissioners will postpone action indefinitely on the proposal to alter the form of Thomas Circle in order to facilitate the movement of traffic, Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, stated yesterday. This decision was reached after the Fine Arts Commission disapproved the proposal.

The plan, which would substitute a small oval flanked by two islands, for the present circle parkway, is not shelved, however. It is expected that the matter will be taken up with the Interior Department after the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks is transferred to that department by executive order.

While the National Capital Park and Planning Commission designed the plan now the center of a controversy, the Commissioners are expected to promote the project later in the year.

PARK SAVINGS BANK GRAND JURY PROBE SLATED TOMORROW

Preliminary Data Hints Six Persons May Be Indicted in Financial Crash.

The District grand jury is expected to begin tomorrow its investigation into the conditions causing the collapse of the Park Savings Bank.

Thus far, the exhaustive investigation made by agents of the Department of Justice has been carefully guarded, but it is known that at least six persons are involved in charges that may result in their indictment.

One of these persons is a former Government official, whose resignation was received by his superiors last month. It is this man who is believed to have been "too friendly" with Robert S. Stuns, former executive, who killed himself.

United States Attorney Leo A. Rover yesterday declared that he did not know yet what course he would pursue in the case. He emphasized the fact that he would have to have time in which to study what charges, if any, the Government might be able to sustain in court.
